ROOSEVELT TAX BOOST CURBED BY HOUSE GROUP

Ways, Means Chief Helps Revolt.

Tables showing the proposed inheritance, gift, and individual income surtaxes proposed by the house ways and means committee will be found on page 6.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—Refusing to go more than a fraction of the way with the President in his design to hit big corporations with heavy taxes, the Democratic members of the house ways and means committee tentatively completed the schedules of the wealth taxation bill today.

Strikes at Inheritances.

Inheritance taxes were approved which, together with the present estate taxes, would take for the government 87 per cent of a fortune of 10 millions or more inherited by a single heir.

The Democratic majority, which is framing the bill behind closed doors with the Republican minority excluded, voted to impose income taxes on corporations graduated from 13¼ per cent to 14¼ per cent, instead of from 10¾ per cent to 16¾ per cent, as proposed by the President.

Chairman Robert L. Doughton [Dem., N. C.] estimated that the aggregate increased tax yield under all schedules of the bill would be 184 million dollars. This increased yield would not go far toward balancing the budget in view of the 3½ billion dollar deficit in the last fiscal year and the prospective 4½ billion deficit in the current period, but Democratic members pointed out that the President is less interested in the revenue to be raised than in the social effect of breaking up large fortunes.

Estimates of Revenue.

	Estimated yield.
1. Inheritance taxes with a $50,000 exemption for relatives and $10,000 for nonrelatives	$ 93,200,000
2. Increased gift taxes at rates three-fourths of inheritance tax rates	25,400,000
3. Increased personal income taxes starting at a 54 per cent surtax above $150,000 and graduating to 75 per cent above 10 million.......	20,400,000
4. Increased corporation income taxes graduated from 13¼ to 14¼ per cent instead of present flat rate of 13¾ per cent.	30,000,000
5. Excess profit tax on a graduated scale beginning at 8 or 10 per cent..............	15,000,000
Total	$184,000,000

The Democratic majority decided not to increase the present 1-10 of 1 per cent on capital stock and rejected the President's recommendation that taxes be imposed on dividends received by corporations in order to prevent evasion of corporation income taxes "through the device of numerous subsidiaries or affiliates each of which might technically qualify as a small concern even though all were in fact operated as a single organization."

Opposes Too Many Taxes.

Questioned on the rejection of this recommendation, Chairman Doughton said he is "not in favor of too many taxes."

The corporation income tax graduated in a range of only 1 per cent, representing a radical modification of the President's proposal, was the result of a compromise among the ways and means Democrats. There was open revolt in the committee majority against Mr. Roosevelt's project to check the development of large corporations by penalizing taxes on bigness.

Chairman Doughton almost lost control of his committee on this proposition. The first count of noses disclosed that a majority of the Democratic members were unwilling to follow the President on this feature of his recommendations. They had been deeply impressed by the testimony in the public hearings that the soaking of big corporations with heavy taxes would soak the little stockholders of such corporations while lightening the tax load of little corporations would play into the hands of the rich owners of many such corporations.

Believe President Mistaken.

They contended that the President was proceeding on the fallacious and unjust principle of graduating corpounjust principle of graduating corpostead of on percentage of profits. For that reason support had shifted away

FIND WRECKAGE OF SHIP IN HUNT FOR LUSITANIA

Seas Balk Effort to Identify Hulk.

ABOARD SALVAGE SHIP ORPHIR, July 25.—The undersea graph in the control room of the salvage vessel Orphir, which is engaged in a search for the wreck of the torpedoed Lusitania, caught the outline of a ship on the ocean floor this afternoon which sent the entire crew into immediate action. Heavy seas tossed the Orphir about as if it were a dory. The crew grabbed for rails, pumps, and door handles as the men made their way to positions on the treacherously bobbing decks.

Over the side went grappling hooks, their handlers guided by the shouts of Capt. Henry Bell Russell as he maneuvered the 500 ton craft to keep the sunken hulk in focus on the chart before him. Through his graph he could vaguely see the mast and dim silhouette of a vessel. All hands waited for the word that would tell them the Lusitania, which was sunk by a German submarine twenty years ago with a loss of more than 1,000 lives, had been sighted.

Menaced by Huge Wave.

Lower went the grappling hooks. Quick sounding indicated a depth of ninety fathoms. The wind rose higher and higher, throwing billowing waves over the low gunwales of the Orphir into the faces of the anxious crew.

Suddenly there was a cry from the lookout high above the deck in the ship's crow's nest. Rushing toward the ship, less than 400 yards away, was a mountainous wave. Unless the Orphir were headed about immediately it would be caught broadside, perhaps carried to the bottom by the tons of water that would pour over its sides.

Full speed ahead was flashed to the engine room. Slowly the ship's bow turned about. Grappling hooks that a moment before had clutched for a hold more than 300 feet below the surface were speedily hauled in. The huge wave beat its way onward toward the ship, lifted the Orphir high in the air and swept it a quarter mile closer to the shore.

Sea Prevents Second Attempt.

It was the closest shave the expedition had encountered so far, and your correspondent, whose nautical experience has been confined to passenger liners of great tonnage, was unnerved by the experience. The giant breaker and those that followed in its wake had carried the ship far from the hulk for which we had been grappling. The angry sea forbade another attempt for the day, but the spot where the hulk was sighted is carefully marked and sighted in the captain's log and we shall try again as soon as the sea becomes calm.

This morning, before Capt. Russell discovered the hulk on the sea bottom, Chief Diver Jim Jarrett demonstrated his diving suit. When the grotesque headpiece had been clamped atop him he looked like a fantastic robot. Jarrett displayed the ability of the artificial hands to function like fingers when he picked up a penny from the deck and went through the motions of carrying a fragile glass without breaking it.

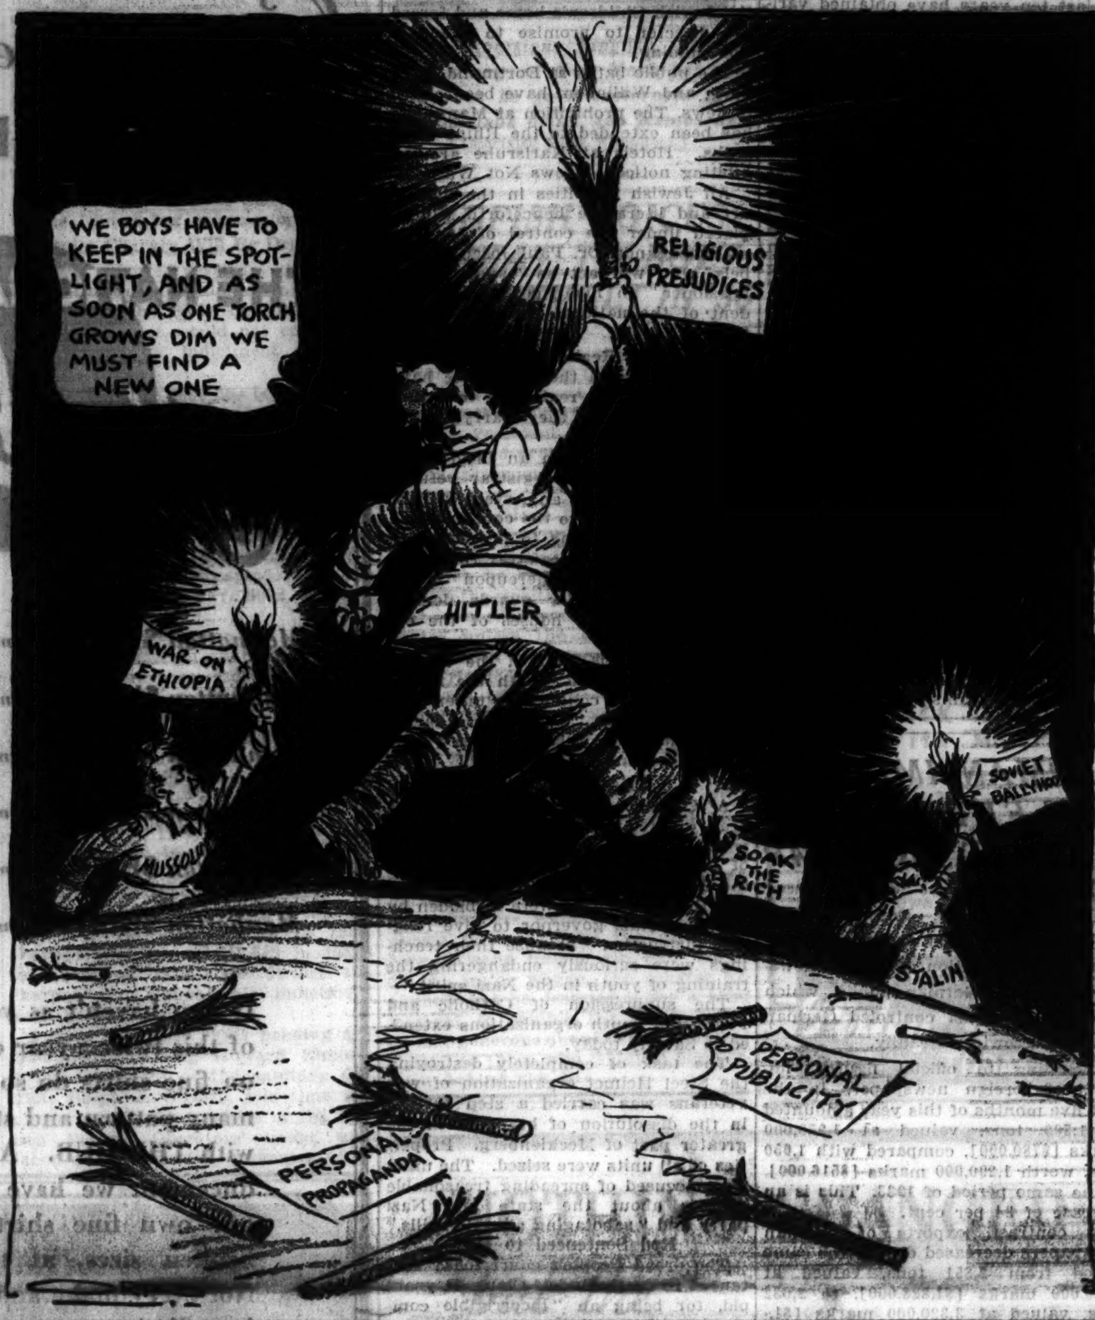
As he operated the huge limbs which bore him upright we maintained conversation with him through two telephones connected with his headpiece. Through these telephones the news of discovery of the Lusitania may be flashed to the world.

Feeds Self Oxygen.

Jarrett remained within the airtight diving suit for more than an hour, feeding himself oxygen from the tank he bore upon his back. The carbon dioxide he exhaled was absorbed by caustic soda into which he breathed. When he emerged he was as fresh as when he entered, save for beads of perspiration which stood out on his brow. Jarrett said his efforts beneath the surface will be even more agile, because the suit is designed to operate under great pressure.

Now, as we draw into the harbor of Swansea, South Wales, to tie up for reprovisioning and coaling at the Prince of Wales dock, I can see hundreds of people swarming over the dock armed with cameras. The crew is being warned that they shall not be allowed ashore, and that their letters home must be censored before they can be posted. Every word of news that leaves the Orphir will be distributed by United Feature syndicate only, exclusively for the readers of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

THE WAY OF THE DICTATOR



Jarecki Acts to Extend Tax Cut of 1931

Owners of single residences and small flat buildings who paid their 1931 taxes before the 15 per cent reduction for that year went into effect, will soon have the benefit of the reduction for that year went into effect County Judge Jarecki.

"I have instructed the Chicago Real Estate board to draw up an order making the reduction available to those who paid their taxes," Judge Jarecki said. "I shall sign the order as soon as it is properly drawn."

Under the order credits will be given to the taxpayers affected and these credits may be applied to reduce tax bills for 1933 that have not already been paid or the 1934 bills, which will be sent out in the fall.

New Law Makes Action Possible.

The judge's action was made possible by a law passed at the recent session of the state legislature to remove the inequality created by the tax reduction.

Under the old procedure two classes of taxpayers benefited by the 15 per cent reduction. One class consisted of those who paid part of their 1931 tax bills and formally protested the remainder. The other class was made up of those who had not paid any of their 1931 bills at the time the cut was ordered by Judge Jarecki.

Those who had paid their bills in full before the reduction were prevented from participating in its benefits by the inability of the county, under the law, to refund tax moneys that have been paid in.

Judge Jarecki emphasized yesterday that the reduction applies only to the taxes on a building and not to taxes on the land on which it stands.

How to Claim Credit.

The taxpayer entitled to the benefits of the new order, when it is signed, may present to the county treasurer his receipt showing that his 1931 taxes have been paid in full. The treasurer then will deduct from his unpaid 1933 or 1934 bill an amount equal to 15 per cent of the taxes on the building. If there is any difficulty Judge Jarecki advised that taxpayers apply to him to straighten it out.

The new order will benefit about 200,000 of the 438,000 owners of single dwellings and two or three flat buildings in Cook county, and will result in tax credits totaling $2,250,000, it was estimated. A similar order affecting 1932 taxes is being held in abeyance while George F. Hagenauer, chief auditor for the county treasurer, works out technicalities that have arisen.

"We're ironing out the kinks in the 1932 tax credit situation," Hagenauer said, "and we will make the credits available as soon as possible."

McCUTCHEON IN PERU

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMA, Peru, July 25.—Highlights of yesterday's flight: Approaching Callao we passed over a 20 mile school of robalo fish, in places almost solidly dense. Then we saw millions of guano island birds, flying in a vast V shaped formation. There are strict laws against flying near enough to disturb these birds, as they constitute a considerable source of national revenue.

Another unusual sight was the shadow of the plane entirely encircled by a brilliant rainbow. Fountain pens overflowed at the 8,000 foot altitude.

The cultivated fields of the Peruvian coast are most beautifully decorative —they must be the work of a master designer. Since leaving Miami we have flown 3,700 miles, all in daylight. Long distance flying is not tiring and one is always glad to resume flight after the frequent stops. The time passes quickly when the scenery is so spectacularly unusual, most of which cannot be seen except aflight. South Americans are more air-minded than the home folk. The excellent service here is accepted as a tremendous convenience.

Lima now has much fog and little sunshine. We arrived at 5:30 o'clock yesterday evening in the midst of a cold drizzle. We were met by Ambassador Fred Morris Dearing, whose wife's sister married Cyrus McCormick Jr. We remain here until Sunday.

Country Club Robbers Hold 14 Captive

Fourteen members of the Rolling Green Country club, on Rand road, west of Kenilworth, were held captive in their clubhouse for more than half an hour last night by a gang of five masked bandits who took an estimated $600 from the members and the club office. This was the fifth country club held up within ten days.

Carrying a sub-machine gun, the leader of the young thieves stepped up to the wives of two members who were seated in an automobile outside and forced them into the clubhouse. Two caddies who were loitering outside were taken with them.

Strip Jewelry from Women.

Three of the robbers went to the basement locker room and brought seven clubmen upstairs to the lounge, where all were forced to lie on the floor. The two women were stripped of their jewelry and the men gave up about $500. From the office the gang took another $100. One employé was slugged when he refused to reveal the location of the safe.

Among those robbed were: A. A. Overbagh, 1040 Michigan avenue, Evanston, vice president of the club; Howell Reece of the Evanston hotel; Edward Stiff, resident of the club; William J. Mauer, 2525 Colfax street, Evanston; his son Donald, 15 years old; Mrs. Orville B. Carlisle, 1134 Farwell avenue, Mauer's sister; C. P. Reynolds, 2720 Park place, Evanston; Cole Clague of the Orrington hotel, Evanston, and Charles Wandas of Oak Park.

Special Detail Assigned.

On Wednesday Capt. Daniel Gilbert of the state's attorney's police appointed a special detail under command of Lieut. Charles Egan to end the depredations of the clubhouse gang which have become increasingly more daring.

On July 16 robbers held up the Nippersink Hotel and Country club in Genoa City, Wis., for the second time this month and took a large amount of money. Bandits obtained $400 from the Midlothian Country club the next night. On July 20 a gang obtained $1,100 in robbing the Woodmar Country club near Hammond, and on Tuesday about $700 was taken from the Twin Orchards Golf club. It was the third robbery of this club in three months.

U. S. to Deport Dillinger Case Woman in Red

An order for the deportation of Mrs. Anna Sage, the "woman in red" who accompanied John Dillinger when he was shot to death in Chicago on July 22, 1934, has been signed by Daniel W. MacCormack, United States commissioner of immigration and naturalization, according to dispatches from Washington last night. Mrs. Sage, who is in Chicago, has been ordered to be in the party of deportees leaving here on Aug. 17.

As Mrs. Sage was born in Rumania, it is expected that she will be returned to that country. During the last few months she has been operating a beauty parlor at 2401 Orchard street. She could not be reached at that address last night.

Silent on Plan of Action.

Fred D. Schlotfeldt, director of immigration and naturalization in the Chicago area, declined to make any comment on whether the order for Mrs. Sage's deportation had been transmitted to him or whether she would be taken into custody pending her departure.

The deportation proceedings were begun about a year before Dillinger's death and were based on Mrs. Sage's operation of disorderly houses in East Chicago and Indiana Harbor.

Mrs. Sage in some quarters is believed to have been the person who betrayed Dillinger to the authorities and pointed him out to agents of the division of investigation of the department of justice, who shot him to death as he was leaving the Biograph theater at 2433 Lincoln avenue. With Dillinger and Mrs. Sage at the time was Mrs. Polly Hamilton Keele, Dillinger's "last sweetheart." Mrs. Keele's whereabouts at present is unknown.

Deny Intercession for Her.

There had been reports that because of Mrs. Sage's alleged aid to the government in running down Dillinger the department of justice was inclined to see that the deportation proceedings were not pressed against her. This was denied by officials of the bureau of immigration and naturalization at Washington, which is a division of the department of labor.

According to the dispatches, the deportation case against Mrs. Sage was submitted by the Chicago office of the bureau of immigration and naturalization and was heard on its merits at Washington. At first Mrs. Sage was ordered to join a deportation party leaving Chicago on July 20, but as this notice was not given her until July 19 she gained a period of grace in which to wind up her affairs.

Her Record in Indiana.

During the period that Mrs. Sage lived in East Chicago and Indiana Harbor she made the acquaintance of Sergt. Martin Zarkovich, East Chicago police detective. According to Indiana authorities, it was Sergt. Zarkovich who obtained the information regarding Dillinger's whereabouts in Chicago and allowed the federal investigators to share in the glory of killing the much hunted desperado without any notification to the Chicago police. Sergt. Zarkovich denied having seen Mrs. Sage at any time between 1928 and the night of Dillinger's death.

Mrs. Sage and Mrs. Keele were spirited from the scene by the federal agents immediately after the slaying of Dillinger. Two days later she was arrested by the Sheffield avenue police. She admitted that her apartment at 2420 North Halsted street had been a rendezvous for Dillinger and Mrs. Keele while the outlaw was being hunted.

Conflict Up to League

GENEVA—Council of league of nations meets next Wednesday, July 31, to consider the Italo-Ethiopian dispute. Both nations sent notes to league, blaming each other for the present difficulties. Italy offers to again submit quarrel to conciliation commission.

LONDON—Great Britain forbids export of arms to Italy and Ethiopia until all efforts at conciliation are exhausted. London permits transit of war materials to pass through her territories to Ethiopia.

ROME, July 25.—(AP)—Rome rocked tonight to the refrain "Ethiopia for Us," shouted from 100,000 Fascist throats as one of the greatest demonstrations in the capital's history gathered at Colonna and Venezia squares to roar approval of Benito Mussolini's African program.

A particularly frenzied shout swept through the enormous crowd when the Fascist secretary for Rome, Orazio Orazi, assured the crowd Italy would "be ready for war against blacks and yellows and, if necessary, blondes."

Reference to Britain.

Previously the demonstrators had shouted their opposition to Ethiopia and her alleged champion, Japan. The crowd took Orazi's mention of "blondes" to refer to Britain, also accused by Italians of interfering in Africa.

Fearing the demonstration would get out of hand, authorities threw heavy guards about the three foreign missions. Almost 1,000 carabinieri and regular troops surrounded the official residence of Negradas Yesus, Ethiopian chargé d'affaires. A dozen carabinieri and plain clothes men stood about the British embassy, while 80 uniformed guards protected the Japanese legation.

Authorities became alarmed when several hundred Fascists, in civilian clothes, passed the British embassy. They offered no insult to Britain, but cried "Down with Negus [the Ethiopian emperor.]" Placards they carried assailed Ethiopia and Japan, one reading: "We will settle all accounts." A friendly demonstration took place at the French embassy.

Cheers for Mussolini.

Roars of "Duce, Duce" greeted Orazi's statement that all Italians were in perfect spiritual alignment with Mussolini's aims in Africa.

Meanwhile, preparations for possible hostilities continued. The steamer Conte Biancamano sailed from Naples with 1,950 soldiers, 150 officers, and 600 workmen for East Africa. She will pick up 570 more troops at Messina tomorrow.

Premier Mussolini was out of the city during the demonstrations. Earlier in the day his two young sons became officers in the East African air force.

Vittorio Mussolini, 19, after a few weeks' training at an army air camp, was designated officially a second lieutenant in the air corps. His brother Bruno, 17, was made a sergeant, but assigned to the bombardment corps.

Foes Send Notes to League.

GENEVA, July 25.—(AP)—Ethiopia and Italy, facing war, sent notes to the league of nations today in which each accused the other of responsibility for their relationship.

Ethiopia made an urgent request for a session of the league of nations council and protested, as she had previously, against Italy's preparation for war in East Africa.

Italy, on the other hand, accused Ethiopia of responsibility for the breakdown recently of the joint conciliation commission which adjourned after failing to agree at a meeting in Scheveningen, the Netherlands.

[Dispatches from Paris last night said the foreign office announced the league council would meet Wednesday, July 31, to consider the dispute.]

Asks Entire Row Be Aired.

The contents of the Ethiopian note were not completely revealed immediately, but it was stated Ethiopia asked that the council discuss the Italo-Ethiopian dispute in its entirety.

Italy pointed out that this was the day the time limit expired for the work of the conciliation commission. It insisted the work at Scheveningen was interrupted "solely owing to the fact that the agent of the Ethiopian government put forth claims to be discussed at Scheveningen on questions excluded by the arbitration agreement."

League officials interpreted this as an allusion to the insistence by the Ethiopian legal expert on the discussion of the ownership of Ualual, the village where a hostile incident, resulting in several deaths, occurred last December. Italy also announced she was no longer opposed to naming a fifth member of the conciliation commission. Rome made clear, however, that his acceptance must be met by the council's promise to limit the commission's duties to arbitration of the skirmish at Ualual, shunning the question of frontiers.

ITALY IS WORRIED

BY WILL BARBER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, July 25.—Worried over Great Britain's opposition to Premier Mussolini's adventure in Africa and the change of the French attitude of friendliness, Italy is making last minute efforts to keep the league of nations' council from examining the Italo-Ethiopian conflict next Wednesday.

The Ethiopian government was informed today that Italy is willing to resurrect the commission of conciliation and resume the sessions which were stopped July 8 at Scheveningen, the Netherlands, by the Fascist government's refusal to let Ethiopia's representatives refer to Ualual [or Walwal], where a clash occurred last December, as lying in Ethiopian territory. The Italians are insisting that the comission does not have the right to discuss the ownership of Ualual or any accords or pacts relating to disputed frontiers.

Italians Ordered to Leave.

Such restrictions are wholly unacceptable to the Ethiopian government which denies ever having promised to refrain from discussing frontiers. The Ethiopians feel that the time has come when the league must act. Emperor Haile Selassie's government is greatly cheered by Great Britain's opposition to a war and France's diminishing support of the Italians.

Premier Mussolini's government today ordered almost all Italians to leave Addis Ababa. The Italian legation arranged to transport 46 nations out of the country. Only the staf of the Italian legation remains behind. Italy also ordered 400 Dodecanesian women and children to depart. The Dodecanesians are natives of the Dodecanese Islands in the Ægean sea over which Italy has sovereignty.

CHICAGO FLYER FOR ETHIOPIA LANDS IN A DUEL

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

CANNES, July 25.—The zeal of Hal Du Berrier, who said he is a Chicago aviator, for the Ethiopian cause has embroiled him in a quarrel with an Italian officer, which is scheduled to be settled by a duel next Monday or Tuesday.

Du Berrier, who has formed a squadron of a dozen aviators, including eight Americans, to fight for Ethiopia, was discussing the Italo-Ethiopian dispute with a friend at a Monte Carlo café on Tuesday. He passed the opinion it was a shame for Premier Mussolini to try to prevent Ethiopia from getting arms with which to fight. The Chicago flyer compared this action to "a big bruiser of a prize fighter picking a quarrel with a harmless cripple."

At the next table sat an Italian captain named Marchetti, who overheard the remark and interrupted the American as follows:

"This dispute of ours is none of your business, but if you want to fight for Ethiopia so badly why wait until you get there?"

"I am game," answered Du Berrier. "We can fix it so that only one of us need go there."

Seconds have been named by both sides. The weapons will be rapiers.

Britain Bans Exports of Arms to Both Italy and Ethiopia

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 25.—Great Britain will allow war material to pass through her territories to Ethiopia, but until all efforts at conciliation are exhausted she will not issue export licenses for British manufacturers to sell guns and ammunition to either Ethiopia or Italy. France is taking the same stand.

This announcement was made in the house of commons today by Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, in reply to an arranged question by George Lansbury, leader of the Labor party.

From official sources it was learned that Britain is keeping the question of munitions for Ethiopia in reserve as an argument with Italy at the league of nations' council meeting, which will be held next Wednesday, July 31.

If Italy remains hard-boiled and refuses to listen to pleas for peace the London government will then take the brakes off and allow British manufacturers to sell Ethiopia all the arms the African kingdom can pay for. If Italy shows signs of being accommodating and expresses a willingness to negotiate a peaceful settlement the embargo against both nations will be kept in force.

Foreign Secretary's Message.

This means, of course, that the embargo is only directed against Ethiopia, as Italy has her own munition factories, and does not need to buy weapons abroad, especially if Ethiopia is barred from the European markets.

The foreign secretary's reply to Lansbury's pre-arranged question was as follows:

"The transit of arms destined for the government of Ethiopia across British territory or British protected territory adjacent to Ethiopia will be permitted in accordance with article 9 of the treaty of 1930. The French government, I understand, will interpret its obligation under the treaty in the same manner.

"As to the issue of export licenses, his majesty's government is doing its best to make possible the peaceful outcome of the present unhappy dispute and would not wish to do anything which might prejudice the situation. The government, therefore, for the present, will not issue licenses for the export of arms from this country either to Italy or Ethiopia."

Ethiopia Wants Cartridges.

Ethiopia chiefly wants cartridges for Mauser rifles. These cartridges are not made in England normally and the orders would not be big enough to justify the construction of a special plant. The Ethiopians can get all they want in Czechoslovakia and under the present arrangement can ship ammunition either through the Sudan or Kenya by mule and camel, or by the French railroad through Djibouti into the African empire.

The Addis Ababa government also is making inquiries for 200,000 Lee-Enfield rifles in London. Payments, it is understood, are to be made through agents of groups who during the last ten years have obtained various concessions in Ethiopia. The African empire also is seeking anti-aircraft guns. These, it is reported, will be paid for with cash up to $2,500,000. Ethiopia recently purchased large quantities of British rifles and field guns from Portugal.

Authoritative sources said that Britain will place no obstacles in the way of Dr. Warquex Martin, special Ethiopian envoy to London, who is trying to raise a loan of $25,000,000 in this country. Dr. Martin is offering mineral and other concessions. If any British banker feels justified in lending money on such security the government will not object.

If an effort is made to float a stock company, that might come under the present restrictions on foreign issues of capital. Nevertheless, that matter is not expected to arise. If Dr. Martin gets any money it will be in the shape of a straight loan from banks or individuals.

Belgium Bans Arms Exports.

BRUSSELS, July 25.—(AP)—Prime Minister Van Zeeland told the foreign affairs committee of the senate today that Belgium had decided to ban the licensing of arms exports to Ethiopia. He said the government's decision was dictated by practical reasons concerning present circumstances.

NORMAN DAVIS CLAIMS LEAGUE WILL HALT ITALY

Washington, D. C., July 25.—(AP)—A prediction was made tonight by Norman Davis, United States ambassador at large, that the league of nations would bring Italy and Ethiopia to a peaceful settlement of their threatened war. Davis had just come from a meeting of members of the senate foreign relations committee and state department officials at which neutrality legislation had been discussed.

"It appears to me," Davis said, "that France is not going to break with the league and with England at the same time just to support Italy in its present position. The league was not called into session just for a pleasant gathering."

Chairman Pittman [Dem., Nev.] of the foreign relations committee said a meeting of the full committee will be held early next week with state department officials and Senator Clark [Dem., Mo.] and Nye [Rep., N. D.] to discuss the neutrality legislation.

JAPAN BARS ALL NEWS ON ITALIAN, ETHIOPIAN ROW

TOKIO, July 26 [Friday].—(AP)—The communications ministry today prohibited a scheduled radio broadcasting of the Italian and Ethiopian national anthems, as well as any news pertaining to the Italo-Ethiopian controversy. At the same time it was announced by a foreign office spokesman Japan retains the right to export arms to Ethiopia or any other country, but the Italian embassy was not informed, the spokesman said, that Japan reserves the right especially in the case of Ethiopia.

POLICE REVIVE GAS VICTIM.

Police yesterday revived Mrs. Mary Phillips, 35 years old, 2030 Larrabee street, after she had inhaled gas in her home. She was taken to the County hospital and is expected to recover. Her husband, Martin, said she had been worrying about his unemployment.

GERMAN IMPORTS OF FREE PRESS TAKE BIG JUMP

BERLIN, July 25.—Despite all prohibitions and foreign exchange handicaps, the importation of foreign newspapers by the German public, which distrusts the Nazi controled German press is growing steadily.

According to official figures, imports of foreign newspapers in the first five months of this year amounted to 1,500 tons, valued at 1,950,000 marks [$780,000], compared with 1,050 tons, worth 1,290,000 marks [$516,000], in the same period of 1933. This is an increase of 34 per cent.

In contrast, exports of German newspapers decreased during the same period from 2,851 tons, valued at 4,570,000 marks [$1,828,000], to 2,032 tons, valued at 3,320,000 marks [$1,328,000], a drop of 29 per cent.

CALCUTTA, India, July 25.—(AP)—Fire resulting from an explosion in which 33 Indians were killed and 43 injured in the Joktiabad pit at Giridih was extinguished today. The explosion was believed caused by liquid oxygen used for blasting.

JEWS ARE DRIVEN OUT OF BALTIC RESORT BY NAZIS

Visitors Are Compelled to Flee Town.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 25.—All Jewish holliday makers were driven from Misdroy, a Baltic seaside resort, tonight. The population engaged in hostile demonstrations. Residents paraded, sang anti-Semitic songs and gave the Jews twenty-four hours to leave town. The demonstrators also appeared before the Jewish Children's home and forced the director to promise to evacuate the building.

The public baths at Dortmund, Freiburg, and Willingem have been closed to Jews. The prohibition at Mannheim has been extended to the Rhine river baths. Hotels at Karlsruhe are exhibiting notices, "Jews Not Wanted!"

All Jewish activities in the field of art and literature henceforth will be placed under the control of Minister of Propaganda Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, who will act as "special commissioner" in his capacity as president of the national chamber of culture.

Marriage Registrars Warned.

Nazi leaders in the Palatinate have warned marriage registrars that they will be dismissed if they marry Aryans and Jews.

This is a sequel to an incident at Landau where the registrar refused to marry a Jew to an Aryan woman. The Jew appealed to the courts, which ordered the registrar to proceed with the marriage. The registrar then published the banns. Thereupon Storm Troopers and Hitler guards demonstrated before the houses of the engaged couple.

Although it is claimed the demonstrations passed off "with the fullest discipline," the couple was taken into protective arrest. The Nazi leader of the Palatinate then overruled the court's decision.

Priest Is Ousted.

A Catholic priest at Bucholz has been ordered by the G. S. P. [secret police] to leave East Prussia "because of his attitude toward the state and the Nazi party." Two priests in Laer and Recklinghausen were forbidden by the local Nazi governor to give religious instruction "because their teachings were seriously endangering the training of youth in the Nazi spirit."

The task of completely destroying the Steel Helmet organization of war veterans was carried a step further in the dissolution of branches in the greater part of Mecklenberg. Properties of all units were seized. The units were accused of spreading treasonable rumors about the state and Nazi party and "sabotaging air raid drills."

Red Sentenced to Die.

The dread People's court today sentenced to death Rudolf Claus, 41 years old, for being an "incorrigible communist criminal."

Together with Max Hoelz, "Red dictator" of Saxony, Claus organized the Red putsch in Saxony in 1920 and was sentenced to prison for life, later receiving amnesty. Several years ago he was sentenced to eight years in prison for robbery. Hoelz, in the meantime, escaped to Russia.

"Claus has proved himself an incorrigible criminal," the court ruled. "He acted from conviction, but this is no longer ground for clemency, communism must be stamped out."

The court at the same time passed sentences ranging from 4 to 13 years in prison on four communist couriers. One of them, Eva Lippold, 26 years od, was sentenced to 9 years in prison.

Foreign Press Attacked.

BERLIN, July 25.—(AP)—Nazism's sweeping offensive against "reactionaries" struck today the Catholic press and foreign journalism.

Catholic editors found cause for concern in the fact that the three months given them to bring their newspapers into accord with "the national Socialist limit" expired today. They wondered how soon Max Amann, president of the Reich press chamber and boss of the German publishing business, would act on the decree he issued April 15 ordering the newspapers to show they agreed with Nazi party principles or suffer suspension.

JAPAN TO SPEND 261 MILLION FOR LAND, AIR FORCES

TOKIO, July 26 [Friday].—(AP)—A five year plan, costing 900,000,000 yen [about 261 million dollars], for modernization, improvement, and enlargement of military land and air forces has been drafted by the war office general staf and submitted to the cabinet for inclusion in the budget, it was learned today.

The plan, calling for an annual expenditure of $52,000,000, would require an appropriation in addition to the amount of the regular military funds.

It was pointed out in official circles the plan was made necessary by the fact Japan's air force is inferior to that of other nations of comparable size, although Japan is extremely vulnerable from the air.

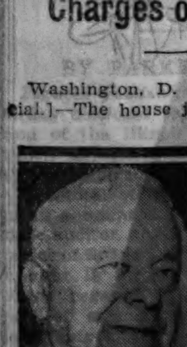
ALSCHULER WINS VINDICATION VOTE OF HOUSE GROUP

Cleared on Impeachment Charges of Dirksen.

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—The house judiciary committee today cleared Samuel Alschuler of the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals of impeachment charges made against him by Represenstative Everett M. Dirksen [Rep., Ill.].



JUDGE ALSCHULER.

The Illinois legislator had charged in a speech on the floor of the house some months ago, that Judge Alschuler was guilty of impeachable favoritism in patent litigation involving the Pullman company of Chicago and Thomas Marshall of the Marshall Electric company of Elkhart, Ind.

Report Will be Made.

It was announced that a subcommittee would be appointed immediately to draft a report in the house in which it would set forth that there was nothing to substantiate Representative Dirksen's statements against the jurist.

Representative Dirksen said that he had not received official notice of the judiciary committee's action, taken in executive session. He added that there was nothing he intended to do about it anyway.

"I made the charges," he said. "I had the evidence to back them up. I even had Marshall here in Washington twelve days to testify, but the committee wouldn't let him talk in anything but an executive session. He wouldn't talk under such conditions. That closes my part of the case."

Charges Follow Decision.

The Illinois representative's charges against the Chicago judge grew out of the latter's decision in reversing the ruling of Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward which upheld the Marshall company's claims. Judge Alschuler was sitting with Judges Will M. Sparks and Louis FitzHenry. Judge Sparks wrote the Appellate court decision.

Thomas Marshall, well known Chicago lawyer, asked the United States Supreme court for a writ of certiorari, but it was denied and the attorney was cited to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for his statement concerning Judge Alschuler.

Marshall had said that the jurist should not have taken part in the case because he is president of the Edward F. Dunne Portrait association and a very close friend of former Gov. Dunne, whose son, Edward F. Dunne Jr., was of counsel in the case.

Attorney Marshall was found guilty of contempt and fined $250 despite an answer in which he apologized for charges made against Judge Alschuler.

THREE IN FAMILY INJURED AS TWO AUTOS COLLIDE

Steve Kohanzo, 50 years old, 7315 Clayton court, and his wife, Minna, 45 years old, and son, Kenneth, 16 years old, were seriously injured last night when their car collided with another machine on Touhy avenue near Crawford avenue in Tessville. They were taken to the St. Francis hospital in Evanston. Paul Harper, 50 years old, 6310 North Leavitt street, driver of the other car, was charged with reckless driving by Tessville police.

Francis Koled, 13 years old, 444 West 43d street, incurred a skull fracture and internal injuries last night when he ran into the side of a moving automobile at 45th street and Stewart avenue. Nathan Eason, colored, 229 East 48th street, the driver, was held by Stockyards police. The injured boy was taken to the county hospital.

With no deaths reported yesterday the 1935 trafic toll in Cook county was 521. Until 4 p. m. yesterday 413 persons had been killed in automobile accidents within the Chicago city limits and 9,029 injured.

IGOE ORDERS 11 OLD INCOME TAX CASES SETTLED

Includes Two Resulting from Whoopee Era.

A cleanup of income tax cases in the federal District court was ordered yesterday by United States District Attorney Michael L. Igoe. Of the twenty-seven cases that were pending Sept. 1, 1934, only eleven remain for disposition.

Of the eleven, three are of major importance. One names George L. Chamberlain, head of the U. S. A. company, an electrical contracting concern which had large contracts with the sanitary district during the whoopee era of 1927 and 1928. Another indictment names Thomas P., Raymond R., and John J. Dowdle, nephews of Pat Nash, Democratic political leader. The Dowdle brothers' company did general contracting for the sanitary district. A third indictment names William H. Malone, former Republican leader who at one time was chairman of the Illinois tax commission.

Denies Charges Will Be Dropped.

It was reported yesterday that a settlement of the tax claim against Chamberlin had been made, but the district attorney's office would not confirm a report that the indictment will be dropped.

Chamberlain's case has been pending since December, 1929. He, as head of the U. S. A. company, was charged with the evasion of $213,000 in taxes for the years 1926, 1927, and 1928. Defense attorneys offered a compromise settlement of $175,000 two years ago. At that time certain conditions were imposed by the federal government before the offer would be accepted. It is understood that these have been complied with.

The Dowdle brothers were indicted in October, 1930, on charges of trying to evade more than $200,000 in taxes for the whoopee era years. Their concern received more than $4,000,000 worth of contracts from the district, and was charged with concealing more than $1,000,000 in income by padding pay rolls.

Malone Living in Germany.

Malone now is reported to be in Germany. For the last year he has been living in that country, where he has business interests, and in Palma, Mallorca. He was indicted in 1933, charged with owing $59,580 in taxes for 1929 and 1930. He denied the charges and claimed his indictment was the result of politics.

HUEY'S TREAT

KINGFISH VOICES THREAT TO BOLT ROOSEVELT IN '36

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana announced here today that he would bolt President Roosevelt and the Democratic national convention in 1936 unless the President drops his New Deal program and proceeds at once to carry out a program for redistribution of wealth.

The President "is no good" and "hasn't a sincere bone in his body," Senator Long said in a press interview in which he explained once more his "share-the-wealth plan," and predicted that revolution would sweep the United States unless the economic wrongs from which the people are suffering were righted.

"I am opposed to revolution, and don't think it's necessary, but I'd rather see 200,000 persons killed than have 40,000,000 people starving," the senator declared.

Senator Long's interview was given in his apartment at the Hotel New Yorker, where he is staying with his family, after he had staged a one man circus in the Circular bar demonstrating to an audience of newspapermen, photographers, waiters, bartenders and guests how to make the celebrated New Orleans Ramos gin fizz. He is on the water wagon, the senator explained, but he deserted it for a brief moment to sample the drink before he had generous quantities of it passed around to those who watched him perform behind the bar.

COST OF RELIEF FOR AUGUST TO BE $250,000 LESS

Allocations of $10,750,000 in relief funds for August will be announced today at a meeting of the Illinois emergency relief commission. The amount will be approximately $250,000 less than in July and nearly $600,000 less than the June relief commitments in the state.

Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the commission, explained that relief costs are going down because of reductions in work relief projects, case loads, and administrative personnel.

The IERC is stopping work relief projects in forty-three of the "most rural" counties of the state at present and by Oct. 1 all projects under the commission are to be closed. This is to make way for the new Federal Works Progress administration.

Mr. Reynolds' figures showed an estimated decrease in the number of resident family relief cases from 284,500 for July to 277,700 for August.

Joliet Police Question Diver on Tuscola Double Murder

William Laughlin, 35 years old, a diver working on the waterway near Joliet, was questioned by police there last night about the double murder of Edward Burmeister, 35 years old, a garage employé of Tuscola, Ill., and his brother, John, 56 years old. They were slain during a robbery July 13 outside Tuscola. Laughlin is the owner of a front wheel drive automobile, the same type of car used by the killer. He said he had never been near Tuscola.

2 COMMITTEES VIE FOR NOTICE IN LOBBY QUEST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Members of a senate committee probed a "mysterious cigar box incident." But the box, given to a Texas congressman by a utility official, contained nothing more sinister than cigars, according to evidence.

A house committee had promised shocking revelations about "a mysterious lobbyist who lavishly entertained congressmen," according to a committee statement. This individual was revealed as a Chicago broker who admitted lobbying against the utility bill but who pleasantly but firmly denied that he had ever spent a dollar upon the entertainment of a senator or representative.

The two committees, each provided with a $50,000 appropriation, will oppose each other again tomorrow in this unique double barreled inquiry into the same subject.

Senators Hear Carpenter.

The main witness at the senate inquiry was John W. Carpenter, president of a Texas utility company. On the previous day he had been unable to recall that Representative Nat Patton, Texas Democrat, had visited his hotel suite and taken out a package wrapped in newspapers.

He told the senators today that his son, John Jr., had informed him that he had given Patton a box of cigars which Patton had taken out of the Carpenter hotel suite. Or the package might have been a couple of department of agriculture manuals on horse and cattle raising, Carpenter said. Patton had taken these publications to the hotel suite and had carried them away.

Bernard B. Robinson, president of the investment securities company bearing his name at 39 South La Salle street, Chicago, was the principal witness at the house committee hearing. He testified that he came to Washington last Feb. 18 as a representative of the Associated Gas and Electric corporation to campaign against the utility control bill.

The committee members were interested in Robinson's expenses during his stay in Washington at a fashionable hotel. The inference given by Chairman John J. O'Connor was that Robinson had entertained congressmen in his hotel suite and plied them with both refreshments and arguments about the utility bill.

Robinson, a smartly garbed man with an assured manner and an easy smile, testified that his expenses during the period from Feb. 18 to the end of June had been $7,285. Of this amount, he said, $6,400 was paid by the Associated Gas corporation.

"I was not paid a salary by the Associated Gas company," he declared, "although I finally suggested that I be given some recompense because my stay in Washington was far longer than I had expected. I had to conduct my own business by correspondence and long distance telephone and it suffered somewhat."

Tells of His Salary.

His salary as head of the Chicago company is $18,000 yearly, Robinson said. He said he owned 33 per cent of the stock in the company.

"My object was to defeat, if possible, the legislation on the utility bill," he testified. "To that end I talked to every one who would listen to me about the utility bill. I tried to convince senators and representatives that the bill was not only bad but unnecessary; that the regulation could be accomplished under existing law."

He declared he was on speaking terms with "about 15 senators and 50 representatives."

Hugh S. Magill, president of the American Federation of Utility Investors, with headquarters in Chicago, was the other witness at the house hearing. He said he had been in Washington at intervals since early this year and that his association had spent about $60,000 in a campaign against the utility bill.

"We only wanted a fair deal for the utility investor," he told the committee.

Tells of Contributions.

His federation has 56,000 contributing members, he said, and had received $62,000 in contributions in the first six months of 1935. No utility company had contributed any funds, he asserted, adding that they would not have been accepted if offered.

He named as large contributors W. A. Alexander & Co. of Chicago and Halsey, Stuart & Co.

The amendment to the utility bill eliminating the "death sentence," offered in the senate by Senator Dieterich had been "suggested" by Magill, he admitted. [The amendment was defeated by one vote.]

Magill said his organization had never faked a telegram or letter.

He was questioned about a statement he had issued June 29 asserting that President Roosevelt had "packed the cloakrooms of congress with his minions" and asked if he could support the assertion with facts.

"Why, that was general knowledge," he responded. "Every one knew that Charley West, Tom Corcoran, and Ben Cohen, the President's lobbyists, were putting pressure upon congress."

He suggested to the committee that it inquire not only into lobbying by the utilities, but into the "pork barrel bribery that was used to break down the convictions of congressmen for the purpose of imposing the will of the executive upon the legislative branch of the government."

Concerned About Box.

The senate lobby session was concerned almost exclusively with efforts of the committee to throw some light on the mysterious "cigar box," or whatever it was, that somebody apparently saw Congressman Patton carrying out of the Mayflower hotel.

Senator Hugo L. Black [Dem., Ala.], the committee chairman, has not disclosed how he learned about the "cigar box," but he insinuates in his questions that it was a part of a dastardly plot.

Mr. Carpenter, who could not remember anything about giving anybody any cigars yesterday, returned today under instructions to "refresh his memory." He was positive today that he did not see Congressman Patton on the Sunday before the vote on the "death sentence" in the house, because he and his wife and boys had driven around Washington, seeing the sights, throughout the day.

Carpenter said he had called his wife at Dallas, Tex., yesterday afternoon and she had told him about the Sunday drive. A short time later, he said, John Carpenter Jr., his son, called him back and told him about giving Congressman Patton a box of cigars.

Tells of Cigar Gift.

"He said he'd read about the testimony in the papers," the witness declared, "and that I was evidently very much confused. He said he had given Mr. Patton a box of my cigars. Mr. Patton was at the hotel and invited him to go 'fishing.'" Carpenter said he had conferred during the afternoon with Joseph T. Worsham, counsel for the Texas Power and Light company, discussing the morning's testimony, and that Worsham went to see Patton. Worsham returned and said Patton had told him about taking a couple of books to young Carpenter at the hotel.

"I believe he said they were concerned with live stock raising, one on horses and one on cattle," Carpenter said. "My son is interested in live stock raising."

Worsham was then called to the stand and he verified Carpenter's version of the happenings yesterday afternoon.

East View, N. Y., July 25.—[Special.]—Elsie Janis, actress, tonight had rallied well from last night's automobile accident here. Complete X-rays, except for her head, disclosed no other fractures beyond a broken left collar bone.

She regained consciousness this morning at Grasslands hospital and, despite loss of blood, was reported "coming along nicely." It was said no blood transfusion will be necessary. The shock, which lasted many hours, was lifting.

Dr. C. W. Munger, director of the County hospital, said X-rays of Miss Janis' head would not be taken for a few days, but that her condition gave no evidence of a fracture of her skull. A deep gash was cut in the back of her head. The doctor said he did not believe facial cuts would leave scars.

The 45 year old actress was injured when her car, driven by her husband, Gilbert Wilson, 29, crashed into the rear of an unlighted parked truck. Wilson was not seriously injured.

BUNDESEN WARNS AGAINST FLIES ON BEACHES OF CITY

The swarms of large black flies at Chicago and suburban beaches which have made swimming and sand loafing uncomfortable for the last few days, will probably depart when the weather becomes cooler, city health and beach officials said yesterday. An unusually great number of the flies has been noted all along the lake shore.

Walter Wright, superintendent of the city's parks and beaches, said the flies have increased near the lake as a result of the excessively warm weather. Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the city board of health, warned swimmers against infection. He advised against scratching the skin where the flies have bitten. Application of a soothing lotion will stop the itching and prevent the skin from cracking, he said.

Property Holders Sue to Close Nearby Saloon

Four property holders yesterday filed suit in Superior court enjoining the operation of a tavern at 5784 Lincoln avenue on the ground that it constitutes a public nuisance which will depreciate the value of their properties. The plaintifs are John Roth, Oscar S. Nelson, and Axel L. Flodberg, living respectively at 5721, 5732 and 5733 North Francisco avenue, and Charles E. Mitchell, trustee of a building at 5724-26 North Mozart street. William H. Umbright, owner of the tavern, was defendant in the suit.

ENVOY IN WAGE DISPUTE NAMED BY MILK DRIVERS

R. G. Fitchie, president of the Chicago Milk Wagon Drivers' union, announced yesterday that James Kennedy, vice president of the organization, has been selected to represent the drivers on a board of arbitration to settle the wage dispute that has existed between the drivers and the Associated Milk Dealers, Inc., since the expiration of the union's contract with the dealers last April 30. Attorney Loy N. McIntosh will represent the dealers and he and Kennedy will pick a third man to complete the arbitration board.

The union now is operating under the terms of its expired contract which provided a wage scale of $40 a week, plus commissions. Dealers refused to meet the union's request for a $5 a week raise in pay and an upward revision in commissions on the grounds that the increased pay would raise the price of delivered milk above its present level of 11 cents a quart and thus lessen consumption of the product. In 1932 the drivers took two pay cuts, each of $5 a week.

MASSAGE PARLOR OPERATOR FINED; EMPLOYE FREED

Helen Williams, 40 years old, operator of a massage parlor at 55 East Chicago avenue, was fined $25 by Judge Edgar A. Jonas yesterday for violating the city ordinance that prohibits the massaging of a person of the opposite sex in the nude. Betty Harter, 24 years old, an employé of the Williams woman, was placed on probation for six months.

Policemen James P. Hackett and Frank O'Sullivan testified that on July 9 they visited the massage parlor and that the Harter woman massaged Policeman Hacket while he was unclad. They testified that they entered the place posing as law students with books under their arms.

SPENDING SPREE BY LEGISLATURE SETS A RECORD

388 Million Is Highest in State History.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Figures published at Springfield yesterday disclosed that the regular session of the Illinois general assembly which adjourned on June 29 set an all time high record for appropriations.

The total of funds voted, according to an announcement by E. J. Barrett, state auditor, and K. L. Ames, state director of finance, was $388,999,244. This amount is for the two year period which began July 1. Therefore the rate of expenditure provided for is something in excess of half a million dollars a day.

The appropriations voted by the last preceding regular session of the legislature, that of 1933, totaled $370,538,988. The biennial appropriations by the regular session of 1931 totaled $345,837,875.

Figures for 20 Years Given.

The increasing cost of state government—with no decreases anywhere along the line—is brought out more clearly by the figures for the last two decades, a period starting just before the United States entered the world war. The totals voted by the regular sessions during that time, without regard to special sessions, of which there have been eleven since 1927, are as follows:

Year.	Governor.	Appropriations.
1919	Lowden	172,631,183
1921	Small	170,897,729
1923	Small	231,631,215
1925	Small	285,907,382
1927	Small	263,295,763
1929	Emmerson	272,265,416
1931	Emmerson	345,837,875
1933	Horner	370,538,988
1935	Horner	388,999,244

The total appropriations of the 1905 session were $16,165,648. Those of the 1895 assembly totaled $10,055,800.

54 Million for Relief.

Gov. Horner was not in Springfield when the new figures were made public. He is on a vacation somewhere in Wisconsin. In his absence, representatives of the administration pointed out that $54,000,000 of this year's appropriations were for relief and that $25,000,000 of the funds voted by the regular session was for the same purpose.

They failed to point out other differences between this year's figures and those of two years ago. One of these was the fact that the principal and interest appropriation for bonds and tax anticipation warants this year is $40,231,548 where two years ago it was $65,334,717, a difference of approximately $25,000,000 by which, apparently, this fixed cost gave a new margin for reduction in expenses.

Another indicated difference was that the appropriation for road building in the next two years is $117,330,300 or more than $4,000,000 less than the biennial fund of $121,500,000 voted two years ago.

That the present administration has had more money to spend than did its predecessors is due to the levying of new taxes. The principal new revenue for general state purposes comes from the sales tax and the liquor taxes and licenses.

More from Sales Tax.

A 2 per cent sales tax was originally levied for relief. Gov. Horner effected its diversion to the general revenue fund as a replacement for the general property tax—that on real estate and personal property—formerly levied for state purposes. But it produced considerably more revenue than would have been produced by the old general property tax. The sales tax rate now has been increased to 3 cents on the dollar, the third cent going to relief.

Previous administrations did not benefit from state liquor licenses or gallonage taxes—not even before the prohibition era. But Gov. Horner insisted that the state must have some of the direct benefits from repeal.

The state treasury also benefits materially now from other new taxes imposed in recent years, such as the oil inspection charge.

RIVER YIELDS MISSING MAN, 80.

The body of a man taken from the Chicago river at Diversey avenue yesterday was identified last night as that of Frank Hoffmeister, 80 years old, 4741 Berenice avenue. Relatives told the police that Hoffmeister, who had been missing for two days, was partly blind and probably fell into the water accidentally.

PLAN $16,000,000 CITY AND SCHOOL BOND REFUNDING

City and school officials will confer today on a $16,647,000 refunding operation which will permit the city to retire $10,647,000 of bonds maturing on Jan. 1, 1936, and the board of education to meet obligations on $6,000,000 of bonds due the same date.

The meeting will be held to devise the refunding plan, said Robert B. Upham, city controler. The necessary ordinances to carry out the operation must be presented to the city council on Aug. 2, its last session before a summer vacation.

"I do not know what rate of interest will be fixed nor how we shall provide for sinking fund requirements," Mr. Upham said. "However, we expect a low interest rate in the operation. When we started our refunding program last year, we were required to pay 4½ per cent interest on the new bonds, but the city has since sold $7,500,000 of bonds at 3½ per cent."

The refunding program will be accomplished by a direct sale of the refunding bonds which will provide money to retire maturing bonds, Mr. Upham explained.

SCHOOLS OFFER 1 YEAR TEACHING APPRENTICESHIP

Plan Experience, No Pay, as Short Cut to Career.

Plans for the establishment of a teacher apprenticeship system in Chicago high schools for graduates of colleges other than Chicago Normal college were announced yesterday by William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools. The project was approved by the board of education on Wednesday.

The apprenticeship course will be one year in duration and will constitute the equivalent of two years of teaching experience in meeting the eligibility requirements for admission to a high school teaching examination, according to Bogan. Applicants for apprenticeships must have been legal residents of Chicago for 10 years, must meet the requirements of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and will be selected by the superintendent with the approval of the board of education.

Will Ask University Lists.

Bogan said that today he will notify the University of Illinois, the University of Chicago, and Northwestern, Loyola, and De Paul universities to prepare lists of eligible applicants of high scholastic standing. The apprentices will receive no remuneration. They will assist teachers and study Chicago teaching practices during the year of training.

"For several years we have needed a system of apprentice teaching that would give college graduates an opportunity to receive accredited high school teaching experience without teaching in out of town schools," said Mr. Bogan. "We find difficulty in getting qualified teachers for many special scientific and technical courses offered in Chicago high schools."

242 Formally Retired.

In accordance with action taken by the board on Wednesday, Mr. Bogan yesterday formally notified 42 principals and 200 teachers that they were retired from the active list. The retirement was made in accordance with enabling legislation passed by the legislature during the last session reducing the compulsory retirement age for Chicago teachers from 70 to 65 years.

BARRELED LIQUOR BILL THREATENS REVENUE HERE, SAY LEADERS

Proposed federal legislation which would permit the sale of distilled spirits to wholesalers, retailers, and individual consumers in barrels or kegs rather than in bottles as now provided will hamstring the Illinois liquor control system, two state officials said yesterday. The planned change in the liquor sale law has been approved by the lower house of congress and is now before the senate.

"The sale of liquor in casks of a gallon or more, as proposed, will mean an extreme growth in unlicensed dealers," said Joseph L. DeLaCour, secretary of the Illinois liquor control commission. "The state is now organized to control bottle distribution and the bottle system helps us to detect cut and counterfeit liquor. If barrels are used all the old "alky cookers" of prohibition times will be making liquor and aging it so easily in barrels it will escape detection.

"The proposal, if it becomes law, will cut heavily into the state's $6,000,000 liquor revenue," said Sidney J. Deutsch, in charge of the revenue division of the state finance department offices in Chicago. "Liquor could be bottled and sold in homes, and it would be impossible to collect license fees from such operators. Whisky barrels could be refilled with alcohol, promoting bootlegging and depriving the state of its license fees."

ARRESTED AFTER ROW OVER RELIEF; $300 IN POCKETS

Joseph Rippolito, 45 years old, 1132 Townsend street, was arrested yesterday for creating a disturbance in a relief station at 54 West Chicago avenue as he demanded that his family be put back on the relief rolls.

The police found that Rippolito was carrying $300 in cash. He declared the money was for a transaction that an uncle had asked him to undertake.

Relief workers told the police that Rippolito was on relief in 1933 but was taken off when investigators found one of his sons working. He applied again in 1934, the workers said, but was refused when he was found to own real estate. It was said that CCC jobs were offered to his three sons but they would not take them.

Rippolito was released on a $50 cash bond. He will face Judge Eugene Holland today in the Chicago avenue court on a charge of disorderly conduct.

ROOSEVELT TAX ADVANCE CURBED BY HOUSE GROUP

Ways and Means Leader Helps Revolt.

from the graduated corporation income taxes proposed by the President to an excess profits tax which would bear proportionately the same on little as on big stockholders.

Mr. Roosevelt, however, stubbornly contended for his plan on the ground that "smaller corporations should not carry burdens beyond their powers; the vast concentrations of capital should be ready to carry burdens commensurate with their power and their advantages."

Informed that he would split his party on this question if he persisted, and that even the Democrats of the ways and means committee were deserting him, Mr. Roosevelt indicated that he would be willing to compromise on details, but would insist on his recommendation being carried out in some form.

Deny 3 Per Cent Tax Increase.

It took Chairman Doughton two hours in the session today to save the President's proposal and then it was by a majority of only one vote that the Democrats approved the corporation income tax with a one per cent range that raises the maximum only ½ of 1 per cent above the present flat rate of 13¾ per cent instead of the 3 per cent increase recommended by Mr. Roosevelt.

Chairman Doughton said that the vote adopting the modified provision is binding on the Democratic majority. Otherwise the President's recommendation would be rejected completely by a coalition of the insurgent Democrats and the Republicans when the full committee meets to pass on the bill next Monday. In the meantime the Democrats will submit the tentative bill to the President, who will have an opportunity to put the screws on them to compel the adoption of his proposals.

Under the inheritance tax schedule a person receiving a $60,000 inheritance would pay a tax of $400, on $100,000 he would pay $5,600, on $200,000 he would pay $27,600, on 1 million he would pay $309,600 and on 10 millions he would pay $5,889,600.

Viewed as Confiscation.

Although the President advanced his inheritance tax proposal as a plan for the redistribution of wealth, many committee members regarded it askance as a confiscation of wealth that in many cases would disrupt industries and tend to profound economic dislocations. Impressed by the argument that a person inheriting a fortune invested wholly in a great industry might be compelled to dispose of the industry at a sacrifice in order to pay the inheritance tax the ways and means Democrats voted to allow not less than ten years for complete liquidation of the impost.

On the deferred payments there would be no interest charge for the first eighteen months. For the next three years 3 per cent interest would be charged, and for the remainder of the period 6 per cent.

The bill provides that all appraisals of inheritances shall be completed within a year after death.

Would Boost Surtax.

At present a surtax of 53 per cent is levied on individual incomes between $150,000 and $200,000. Under the new bill this surtax would be increased to 54 per cent. From this point upward the surtaxes would be stepped up until instead of the present 59 per cent they reach 75 per cent on incomes in excess of 10 millions.

On a $200,000 income an individual would pay a total tax of $89,000, on 1 million he would pay $638,000, and on 10 millions he would pay $7,493,000.

The increased gift taxes are intended to prevent avoidance of estate and inheritance taxes by distribution of fortunes before death. In anticipation of the wealth confiscation taxes rich persons are already hastening to parcel out their possessions. In the last fiscal year the yield from the present gift taxes increased from 9 to 72 millions.

The committee took no action on the matter of permitting corporations to make tax free gifts to charitable organizations up to 5 per cent of capital. Having voted to allow this exemption the ways and means Democrats are standing pat for the time being at least despite Mr. Roosevelt's opposition. The President said he was against corporations buying good will in this manner.

ICKES IS QUIZZED ABOUT DUTIES OF WEST AS HIS AID

Pearson Will Investigate Housing Projects.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—Two fat sinecures awarded to two workers in the New Deal vineyards today occupied the attention of Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes at his press conference.

The first is the $10,000 post of undersecretary of the interior, which is to go to Charles O. West, President Roosevelt's liaison officer with congress. The second is the $8,000 assistant federal housing directorship in charge of public welfare, found by Ickes for Paul M. Pearson Tuesday when the latter was invited to resign as governor of the Virgin Islands in the President's attempt to end the political controversy over the islands' administration.

Name Goes to Senate.

West, a former Ohio congressman, whose nomination came as a reward for his administration lobbying in behalf of the "death sentence" to holding companies in the utility bill, must run the gamut of senatorial scrutiny before he takes his desk in Ickes' office. As a preliminary to an anticipated fight on his confirmation West has yet to appear before a house committee to recount his activities in securing votes for the administration.

Ickes, when asked whether West's selection was due to his congressional buttonholing for the administration, said dryly, "I didn't regard it as a detriment." Ickes evaded a question whether West owed his appointment to him or the White House.

"What difference does it make?" Ickes countered the question. And, when he was told an answer would be a matter of public interest, he added: "We'll file it with pending business."

Ickes Dodges Questions.

Ickes dodged several questions as to the duties of West, but at length said the White House favorite will have a more or less supervisory jurisdiction in the department. He said he had not yet talked the matter over with West.

The secretary was asked if he had not favored the appointment of Walter T. Fisher of Chicago, son of Walter L. Fisher, secretary of the interior under President Taft, for the post. He refused to comment directly on Fisher, saying that a great many persons had been considered.

Pearson, who will not have to face a fight for senate confirmation, will look into school, community house, playground, health, and sanitation for federal housing projects, according to Ickes. Until Pearson's removal from the Virgin Islands the housing division did without a director for such matters.

No Statement About Wilson.

As Ickes defined Pearson's duties Attorney General Homer S. Cummings found himself confronted with reverberations of the Virgin Islands episode—the ousting by him of Dr. Amy Stannard from the federal parole board to make a place for T. Weber Wilson, removed as district judge in the islands as a concession to Ickes for Pearson's discharge.

"I have no statement to make about the appointment of Judge Wilson," Cummings said. "The facts will have to speak for themselves. You may rest assured that Judge Wilson would not have been appointed to the board had he not been fully qualified."

Asked whether he still believed that politics should be kept from the parole systems, the attorney general said, "O, absolutely." He added that he believed, as a general rule, parole boards should be split politically. The board was wholly Republican until Wilson's appointment yesterday.

$10,000,000 BEQUEST TO SHRINK $7,291,492 BY PROPOSED TAXES

Washington, D. C., July 25.—(AP)—Here's what would happen to a $10,000,000 estate left to an individual after the present estate tax and the proposed house ways and means committee inheritance taxes were paid:

Four million four hundred sixteen thousand six hundred dollars in estate taxes would be levied against the bequest. That would leave an inheritance of $5,583,400.

Upon this inheritance a tax of 51.49 per cent would apply. This would take $2,874,892 and leave the beneficiary $2,708,608 out of the original $10,000,000 estate.

ARGENTINE FOES 'DUEL'; BOTH FIRE SHOTS INTO AIR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, July 25.—Minister of Finance Federico Pinedo and Senator Lisandro Delatorre arose early today and went to the Palomar air field, where they simultaneously fired revolver shots into the air and then returned home.

Newspaper accounts of the meeting described the affair as a "duel." The honor of the duelists, which was affected by mutual insults exchanged on the floor of the senate two days ago during which a sniper from the gallery shot a senator dead and wounded two others, now is satisfied. Nevertheless, the antagonists have rejected reconciliation suggestions.

Pinedo described the "duel" as ridiculous.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—Illinois will receive the first shipment of the New Deal's proposed new half cent and one mill coins because the midget money is essential to the state's sale tax, treasury officials predicted today.

Rough draft of a bill authorizing the mints to turn out half cent and one mill coins has been sent to the coinage committees of both the senate and the house of representatives, the treasury announced, and the first baby coins will be ready for use about a month after the bill is passed.

Tokens to be Tolerated.

Until the coins are ready the New Dealers probably will tolerate the use of state sales tax tokens in Illinois although New Deal lawyers insist that the state is dangerously close to violating counterfeiting laws and the constitutional prohibition against state money.

Illinois will not receive a formal legal opinion from any federal authority requiring the state to cancel its tokens, treasury officials indicated today. Supplying of the new federal coins will obviate the need for any other direct action, they feel.

The treasury's draft of the bill authorizing coinage of the copper half cent and aluminum one mill contemplates restricting their use as legal tender. To prevent large numbers of them being dumped on creditors, the bill may provide that the mill piece is legal tender only for sums up to 3 cents and the half cent piece only for sums up to 10 cents.

Fear for Cash Registers.

No provision restricting use of the coins to "public debts," thus eliminating or reducing their use in general trade, is being contemplated by the treasury despite protests from merchants that the fractional coins will make cash registers and all other accounting machines go awry. The government in the past has issued money which was legal tender for public but not private debts.

The issuance by Illinois of sales tax tokens which greatly resembled dimes brought about the New Dealers' desision to mint fractional coins, officials admitted today. Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said that, since states need fractional money for their sales taxes and could not issue it under the New Deal's interpretation of the constitution, the federal government was obligated to put out the half cent and one mill coins.

Safety Patrol Boy Gets Watch for Saving a Life

Torsten Sandvik, 13 years old, 1941 North Central Park avenue, a school safety patrol boy, received a gold watch yesterday for saving the life of another boy by jerking him from the path of an automobile at Central Park and McLean avenues last May. The watch was presented to young Sandvik by Judge John Gutknecht in the Trafic court in behalf of the Schoolboy Patrol association, of which William Falkensteen is director.

Clean Out Kidney Poisons

Wash Out Your 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes

If kidneys don't pass 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters may become clogged with poisonous waste and the danger of acid poisoning is greatly increased. Bladder passages are difficult, which often smart and burn like scalding water and cause discomfort.

This acid condition, brought about by poor kidney functions is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Most people watch their bowels which contain only 27 feet of intestines but neglect the kidneys which contain 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters. If these tubes or filters become clogged with poisons, it may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't run any risk. Make sure your kidneys empty 3 pints a day.

GREEN TO ENLIST U.S. AID TO CLEAN UP CITY'S UNIONS

Alterie's Murder Spurs War on Gang Rule.

A new offensive to drive gangsters and racketeers from control of labor unions in Chicago may be launched in the early future under provisions of the Wagner labor disputes act recently passed by congress, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, indicated in Washington yesterday.

Alterie Slaying Inspired Action.

The two labor leaders brought the serious union situation in Chicago to the attention of the federation head in connection with the murder one week ago of Louis Alterie, gangster who had ruled the theatrical janitors' union by force for fifteen years and was said to be seeking control of other unions.

Both Nockels and Browne expressed the certainty that Alterie was killed by other gangsters in a new onslaught of Chicago racketeers to seize control of union organizations and supplant the illicit revenues lost with the waning of prohibition and the successful stamping out of widespread gambling.

The regularity of union elections, Mr. Green said, may open the way to federal intervention under the Wagner act as a conclusive means of driving racketeers out of the labor field and cleaning up conditions in Chicago, as well as in New York, where gangster domination of unions also is a growing menace.

New Stumbling Block for Gangs.

In this connection, he pointed out, under the labor disputes act the labor board, which the President is to appoint in a few days, would have authority to investigate union elections and disqualify any persons elected to office through coercion, threat, or force. He intends to present the whole question of labor racketeering before the board as soon as it is created, he said.

Nockels declared that in Chicago there are twenty teamster union locals dominated by hoodlums, none of whom have been duly elected, their claim to office being based and maintained only by the power of organized gangster coercion.

Slain by Chicago Gunmen.

Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan said yesterday he is certain Alterie was slain by Chicago gunmen, despite the fact that one of the two guns left behind by the killers had been traced to a New York gun shop. Alterie was shot down from a first floor flat at 927 Eastwood avenue as he left his apartment at 926 Eastwood avenue, directly across the street.

Meantime, a theory that the labor racketeer was slain for informing against a group of twenty-three alleged bucket shop swindlers now under indictment in Denver was discounted by police. Edward Schulman, 29 years old, 520 Roscoe street, held for questioning in connection with a series of messages to and from Denver at the time of the Alterie murder, was released.

A dispatch from Denver late last night said police were seeking four heavily armed men in a Missouri licensed car on a report they may have some connection with the Alterie case. Police officials refused to comment.

Frank [North Side Frankie] Pope, 38 years old, 519 Diversey parkway, a gambler, was questioned on the slaying yesterday but no pertinent information was received from him, Chief Sullivan said.

Beggar Takes $375 Ring After He Is Given Dime

Mrs. Dinah Esposito, 715 North Spaulding avenue, was robbed of a $375 diamond ring near her home last night by a man whom she had given a dime. She told the police that the beggar took the ring from her finger with one hand while he kept the other in his pocket as if he held a pistol.

Grindstone Breaks Into Pieces; Workman Killed

Schenectady, N. Y., July 25.—(AP)—Charles E. Goldman, 33, was killed today when a grindstone broke. Flying pieces fractured his neck. He was working on a school reconditioning project.

On Way to Prison

MARGARET WALEY.

A few hours after a brief stop in Chicago between trains Mrs. Margaret T. Waley, under sentence to serve 20 years for participation in the $200,000 Weyerhaeuser kidnaping, was locked in a cell at the federal detention farm at Milan, Mich., yesterday. Her guards eluded a crowd gathered at the main entrance and took her through a rear gate, near which the train made a special stop. Official secrecy forbade any report of her doings within the prison.

The 19 year old blonde wife of Harmon Waley, another of the kidnapers, arrived here from Tacoma, Wash., where she was convicted, aboard the Empire Builder of the Great Northern railroad in custody of United States Marshal A. J. Chitty and Mrs. Chitty of Tacoma. The prisoner wore a blue frock, but was bareheaded, and carried practically no luggage.

While she waited for the Wabash train that was to take her to the prison farm Mrs. Waley made a few calm comments upon her conviction and upon her future. She hoped, she said, that the time "would pass quickly." She believes she deserves punishment for not notifying the police when she learned her husband had kidnaped 9 year old George Weyerhaeuser, heir to a lumber fortune. She has firmly decided that she is "through" with her husband and with her own people, the latter because they did so little to help her after her arrest.

Told that she will be a prison mate of Evelyn Frechette, former sweetheart of John Dillinger, and Kathryn Kelly, wife of George [Machine Gun] Kelly, she asserted she doesn't intend "to tie up with them." If she is a good prisoner Mrs. Waley may be paroled in seven years.

COLORED GIANT WHO SLEW TWO WOMEN CAUGHT

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—Capture of the colored giant who has terrorized city parks for months with murderous attacks on white women and their escorts was effected tonight after he climaxed his reign of terror by the murder of an unidentified white woman in St. Nicholas park.

She was beaten to death. Her screams were heard for several blocks, and as citizens rushed to the scene they saw a giant colored man running through the underbrush. Six men snared him by the heels. When police arrived he identified himself as Oscar Wilson, 34, of Nashville, Tenn. He said he had no home in New York. Police said his left fist was bloody and blood was on his clothes.

The woman was dead when police reached her side. She apparently had been picked up and dashed head first against a large rock. Her skull was crushed and her neck broken.

No immediate clew to her identity was found on the body. She had bobbed auburn hair, was about 40, 5 feet 8 inches tall, and weighed 145 pounds.

The other known victim of the prisoner was slashed to death with a razor in Morningside park July 17. She was Leonora Rivera, 22. Her escort, Albert Martinez, 25, was robbed of $5 and hit on the head with a stone.

Rowder Put in Command at Highway Police Station

Sergt. Lavergne Rowder of the county highway police has been transferred from the Morton Grove station to the Homewood station, where he is acting lieutenant in charge, it was learned yesterday. Lieut. Joseph Welch, whom he replaces, has been assigned to the sherif's office.

TAVERNKEEPER ADMITS SLAYING GAMBLER IN LOOP

Fired to Save Self After Quarrel, He Says.

BEN KRAMER.

Ben Kramer, 35 years old, operator of Pott's tavern, 194 North Clark street, surrendered yesterday at the First district police station and confessed that he was the slayer of William E. Cunning, 32 years old, a minor gambler and hoodlum, who was fatally wounded at the entrance of the saloon early last Saturday morning. Kramer asserted he fired after Cunning threatened, then attacked him following Kramer's refusal to loan him money.

Kramer's confession was made to Assistant State's Attorney Erwin Clorfene, who ordered him held for the coroner's jury.

Tells of Demand for Cash.

Cunning frequently carried a gun, Kramer asserted. At one time, he said, he had loaned the hoodlum $10 and was never repaid. On July 15, he continued, Cunning came into the saloon, stated that he was in trouble, and demanded a hundred dollars. Kramer finally gave Cunning $25 after protesting he couldn't get $100. The following Thursday, July 18, Cunning telephoned and again demanded the remaining $75, the confession went on. On Friday evening Cunning visited the saloon and demanded the additional money.

When Cunning was refused the money he became enraged and threatened to ruin Kramer's business. Kramer said he protested and that Cunning grabbed his coat and dragged him to the door.

Tells of Fatal Shooting.

"He put his hand in his pocket as if he were grasping a gun," declared the tavernkeeper. "I lost my head, pulled my gun and fired at least once, maybe more. Cunning staggered down the street and collapsed at Lake street. I threw my gun away and went to my home at 616 Wellington avenue. Later I conferred with my lawyer and he advised me to surrender." Attorney George Bicher accompanied Kramer when he surrendered.

Cunning was shot twice in the back, twice in the chest and once in the jaw. Witnesses to the shooting said that Cunning was unarmed and had made no resistance. After the shooting he was taken to St. Luke's hospital, where he died without regaining consciousness.

Loot Rabbi's Auto While He Swims; Pants and $4 Gone

Police last night were searching for a thief who broke into the automobile of Rabbi Israel Gerstein of Cincinnati while he was parked near the Ardmore beach, and took his trousers containing $4. Rabbi Gerstein, who is staying with friends at 1429 South Millard avenue, was swimming with Irving Berger, 1506 South Central Park avenue, when the theft occurred.

STANDS PAT ON LICENSE BAR TO GERMAN ALIEN

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia stood pat today in his refusal to authorize a masseur's license to a German alien. He was uninfluenced by a second opinion from Corporation Counsel Paul Windels, who, after consultation with state department officials, reaffirmed his statement that the mayor's action was in violation of the German commercial treaty of 1925.

The board of aldermen, meanwhile received a resolution from Ald. Walter R. Hart, recovery Democrat, of Brooklyn, proposing that the state department be urged to abrogate the 1925 treaty. Mr. Hart also proposed that the Swastika flag be barred from the city.

Mr. Hart's resolution, calling for abrogation of all treaties between Germany and the United States, was objected to by Ald. Thomas J. Curran, minority leader.

$1,400 Stolen from Safe of United States Warship

SEWARD, Alaska, July 25.—(AP)—Between $1,400 and $1,500 was stolen today from the safe aboard the cruiser Houston, anchored in the harbor here. Navy officials began a rigid investigation. Officers said fingerprints found on the safe would be forwarded to Washington, D. C., for attempted identification.

TERRE HAUTE UNDER THE TERROR.

The people of Terre Haute, Ind., were unpleasantly taken by surprise this week when they found that a mob had possession of their city. They couldn't buy food and other necessities. The threatened and frightened merchants, restaurant keepers, grocers, butchers, and retailers of all sorts were forced to close their places of business. A newspaper had to suspend publication. Families could not get ice or milk.

Terre Haute was under a dictatorship. You can call it of the proletariat if you want to. The promoters of the disorder called it a general strike. It was more than that. It was an attack upon the city and the peaceable citizens. The anger engendered by a strike in a small enameling and stamping plant for the recognition of a union suddenly flared into a senseless fury which took the city by storm.

Martial law was put in effect and Indiana guardsmen took over control. The principal promoters of the lawlessness pulled in their horns. Under military protection the shops reopened and the flow of supplies came in again. The city has had an experience, a day under the terror. It was a touch of Russia, of Kerensky going down under the Reds.

Terre Haute is an admonition of end results under the New Deal. It puts some writing on the wall. If Mr. Roosevelt's program does not meet its defeat in the elections it will meet it as Kerensky's did. The man and the time did not come together at Terre Haute. The man was not strong enough. The place and the opportunity were not big enough. Terre Haute was only the handwriting on the wall.

CHANGING THE PAROLE SYSTEM.

The proposal for reorganization of the Illinois parole system made by Henry Barrett Chamberlin of the Chicago Crime commission, and the counterproposal by Gov. Horner accepting part of Col. Chamberlin's recommendations, are not without merit, but both have a fundamental defect.

Col. Chamberlin and Gov. Horner are concerned only with altering, and probably improving, the machinery of the parole system. Their plans ignore the fundamental defect of the system, which lies in the men who run the machine, not the machine itself. This is the fact that paroles are an important item of trade in the trafic between corrupt politicians and their criminal allies.

Public recognition of the continued existence of this trafic, and aroused public effort to stamp it out and to prevent its recurrence, is vastly more important than any tinkering with the machinery.

POLITICAL FARMING.

The American Farm Bureau federation recently called a conference of members from ten central states. The conference a few days ago passed a resolution calling upon the senate to vote the kind of an agricultural bill which Secretary Wallace wanted. The federation asks the nation to believe that the views it expressed are the views of American farmers generally.

The fact of the matter is that the Farm Bureau federation is now and generally has been dominated by jobholders. The county agents usually have run the show. They are not farmers, but placeholders. Their salaries are paid in large part from government funds. Naturally they are favorably disposed toward the policies of the government to which they are indebted for their livings. To clinch the support of the federation Mr. Wallace has given important jobs in the government to Farm Bureau politicians and can generally count upon their influence in the federation to swing things his way.

The third week of July is among the busiest weeks of the year on farms in this section. Real midwestern farmers have no time to spare now for conventions and political activity. It follows that any claims of any one to express the farmers' views at this time are fraudulent.

The time is coming within the next six months when it should be possible to test out opinion in the agricultural regions. When that time comes it will be interesting to find out what the farmers think of the morals of being paid for producing less and how they react to the fact that as their production has been diminished, on orders from Washington, the importation of crops from abroad has increased enormously. What do the American farmers think of the fourfold increase in cattle imports and of the increase in our purchases of butter abroad from a nominal 700,000 pounds a year ago to nearly 21 million pounds this year?

And what do the farmers think about the fixing of the dole at a figure which has made it extremely difficult to hire help when it is most needed?

The answers to these questions will enter into the final judgment of farmers on the merits of the New Deal. No one can say as yet what the farmers have decided because most of them are now too busy to talk politics. Only the farm politicians have leisure for conferences these days.

TOWARD A STREET CAR SETTLEMENT.

The street car company has agreed to give a year's trial to the mayor's proposal for an exchange of transfer privileges with the elevated lines. The surface lines might have resisted the suggestion for many months through court action. The company's legal position was by no means a flimsy one and might have been sustained. Nevertheless, the company has agreed to a trial of the mayor's plan, though without prejudice to its subsequent right to object if it finds that the agreement is not in its interest.

If the expectations of the city administration work out in practice the car riders of Chicago will benefit from a fuller use of the facilities now available, but of itself the exchange of transfers can mean only a beginning of a solution of the local transportation problem. The essence of that problem is inadequate facilities. We haven't enough cars and buses and those we have are too old and too slow. Before Chicago can have decent service a great deal of the present equipment must be sent to the scrap heap and many millions must be spent in replacing it and in expanding the services. A means must be found of getting the needed money.

No one who has followed the previous efforts to finance a regeneration of the local transportation services in Chicago can think for a moment that the money raising problem is one which can be solved offhand. Perhaps there is some ground for hoping that the federal government will help, but the probability is remote. The broad principle followed by those in charge of the distribution of federal easy money is to provide funds for relatively useless and unserviceable projects like power plants in the desert and leaf raking on remote mountain ranges, while withholding assistance from more useful enterprises.

Nevertheless, the situation is far from hopeless. The surface lines, though in receivership, have earned and paid their first mortgage interest charges throughout the depression, with a comfortable margin to spare. The same companies have large cash reserves for depreciation. The gradual improvement in tax collection promises sooner or later to unfreeze the city's traction fund of some 60 million dollars. Perhaps one or another of the government's banking agencies might be induced to advance cash against the tax warrants in which the fund is now largely invested, and the fact that money is now cheap and plentiful may encourage private investment.

There is another factor which offers ground for hope. The present city administration has acquired a reputation for competence and commands respect. That means that in negotiation it will have an advantage which most of its predecessors in trying to solve the traction tangle did not enjoy. The fact that the surface lines voluntarily agreed to try out the mayor's proposal as embodied in the Illinois commerce commission's order is itself significant. For the first time in many years a suggestion for bettering the service has not encountered obstruction from one side or the other. Much can be accomplished in a spirit of give-and-take which would be impossible if the negotiators met in an atmosphere of dislike, distrust, and resentment.

THE ARGENTINE CENSORSHIP.

The censorship imposed on newspapers, news agencies, and foreign correspondents in the Argentine constituted a serious mistake on the part of the government. The decree cannot fail to be regarded as an evidence of weakness. If the censorship is allowed to continue, the civilized nations will inevitably conclude that the government in Buenos Aires is seeking to hide something disgraceful and fears not only the public opinion of the world but its own people as well.

Censorship is the distinguishing mark of an enslaved people. The Argentine decree has lowered the people of a once free American republic to the level of Hitler's slaves and Mussolini's serfs. Surely the Argentine government by this time has realized its mistake and will take prompt steps to correct it.

Editorial of the Day

CHICAGO'S WAR ON CRIME.

[Springfield, Mass., Republican.]

While careful preparations are being made in New York City—or Manhattan—for an intensive drive on organized crime, Chicago is taking satisfaction in a twenty per cent reduction in the crime figures for the last six months compared with the corresponding period last year. There were forty per cent fewer murders, twenty-two per cent fewer robberies, and twelve per cent fewer burglaries.

The chief factors in the development, according to a correspondent of the New York Times, have been more efficient police work, less hampered by political interference, and strengthened by closer coöperation with a vigorous and courageous state's attorney; greater diligence on the part of the court; increased caution by the criminal lawyer, who is being closely watched by the bar association, and the awakening of public demand. This last important element is believed to have been greatly stimulated by the example of the G men of the federal department of justice. A virtual indifference, amounting to a defeatist attitude, seems to be giving way to a militant spirit.

The city has been fortunate in its police commissioner, Mr. Allman—originally appointed by the late Mayor Cermak and reappointed by Mayor Kelly—and in the personal interest taken by State's Attorney Courtney, who is directly represented on the local police force by an especially competent captain. Chicago's motto, "I will," has frequently been lived up to in matters of civic enterprise, but the failures in respect to the enforcement of the criminal law have been notorious. The city is happily situated just now to set an example in that field also. It is even possible to imagine that the momentum that is being gained will continue until the city as a happy hunting ground for the worst elements in society is definitly of the past.

WRONG ENEMY.

Lord Castlereagh rushed into King George IV.'s study and announced: "Sir—I come to tell your majesty that your mortal enemy is dead."

"What?" replied the king. "Is it possible that she can be dead?"

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

THE NEW ILLINOIS TAX TOKENS are about ready. It's announced from Springfield that they are to be square with round corners, which is much better than making them round with square corners, as first reported. And now after we get our pockets filled with the new half cents and the cunning little one-tenth of a cent coins that the government is going to put out and Gov. Horner's tax tokens (which are already called by the clerks "Henries") it will be quite a job to pick them over and dig out seven cents for the street car conductor. But after a time probably we can throw these new coins and tokens around as gracefully as a juggler keeps five eggs and four billiard balls in the air all at one time.

‡

MUSSOLINI must be good and mad; Herr Hitler is crowding him clear off the front page. But wait; the Duce will probably bust out tomorrow with a new form of terrible warfare. He has got hold of a new radio invention that neutralizes the steel in can openers so they won't cut. The Ethiopians may not mind this new horror much because they don't use can openers, but Mussolini expects the news to paralyze humanity. Gosh! Suppose all can openers were rendered useless tomorrow! The result would be too horrible for words! How would we live? The world would go down on its knees begging Mussolini to have this terrible new menace destroyed. And that would give the Duce a chance to back out of Ethiopia without his face getting too red.

SONNET.

What shall there be when life has had its fill
Of us—a handful of round moments one can cup
In the palm of one hand, shiny and still,
Like colored pebbles that waves have washed up
Upon a quiet shore, each with its stain
Of faded ecstasy or bitter mood—
No more, no less, in truth, will there remain
When we have passed this fitful interlude.
No more, no less . . . folly it were indeed
To garner more, so little is its use
That we have now all we shall ever need—
A handful of round pebbles to bemuse
The calmer hours . . . catch a gleam here, now there,

MARY PICKFORD in talking of her new book said, "I don't know how good the novel is. But it ought to make a swell picture." Oh Mary, sweetheart of America, must you say "swell"? That poor word is so much abused. Couldn't you say your forthcoming novel will be hunky-dorrie or big time stuff or hit 'em right in the eye? You look so shy and demure, Mary, that it is really a shock to hear you say your story will make a swell picture.

"YESSIR!" the fat man on the bus was saying to his friend, "don't ever talk to me about the joy of going back to the dear old home town any more. I hadn't been back to the place where I was born and spent my childhood for over fifteen years, but a couple of weeks ago I decided I'd go back and I did. Gosh! fourteen hundred people in the town and twelve hundred of 'em on relief. The rich man of the town in my day who used to have a swell iron fence and a big lawn and a fine big house is on relief, too. His house is a relief station and his lawn is all trampled down and his iron deer and rabbits that used to be the joy of my life are now chucked in a heap with the CCC roosting on them eating hot dog sandwiches. I went out to the old swimming hole where I used to spend many happy hours when a boy, but it isn't there any more. The CCC has drained it off and built some model homes there that nobody will live in because they're too far from the movie theaters. I walked around buying cigarets and looking like ready money and all I got from my old time friends was dirty looks because I wasn't on relief, too. I was going to stay two weeks, but two days was enough. I was glad to jump in my car and make my getaway before they lynched me to a telegraph pole. No, the old home town hain't what it used to be, and that's a fact."

THE UNPROFITABLE SERVANT.

I am the timid soul who hid
His talent in the earth,
And built no high-piled pyramid
Of wealth. Of little worth,
Perhaps, is such a slothful soul,
But, Master, I have seen
As much of beauty as my whole
Time spent in this demesne
Of weary travail would allow;
Eluding ugliness
Always. Take back your talent now,
Your own, no more, no less.

In outer darkness where I go
None take talents of gold,
And he with ten, his wealth's tableau
Will lose beneath the mold
Of stark death's cold democracy.
At beauty's breasts I fed,
Taking what I thought best for me,
And in the common bed
Our lots are equal, and I bow
Again to loveliness.
Take back, take back your talent now,
Your own, no more, no less!

THE SOVIETS are planning an airplane drive to the North Pole. They have a five year plan for teaching polar bears to catch fish, bring it to shore, salt it down and store it, and then ship it to Russia. Gosh! Why didn't our Brain Trusters ever think of that? But they will! They will!

QUESTION FOR DEBATING SOCIETIES— Which is the more destructive to thought and working ability, the week before vacation, when you are looking forward to the joys to come, or the week after vacation, when you are looking backward to the joys forever gone?

UNDERNOURISHMENT: A BAD HABIT.

The thin, underweight youngster excites the sympathy of every one. He may not be as tall as other children of his age, his muscles may be flabby, and his complexion pale. Sometimes he carries an anxious expression, with dark circles under the eyes. Such lads tire easily, are noticeably irritable, and lack the spirit of spontaneous play.

Occasionally we can explain the case on the basis of insufficient food, but more often than not the condition is due to inadequate knowledge of the value of foods, to improper eating habits, and to a poor selection of the foods themselves.

In a recent survey of school children in Wales it was emphasized that malnutrition should be laid to "wrong" feeding rather than underfeeding. Special complaint was made against bread and jam, as most of the undernourished children were found to be fond of this combination. After a substantial amount had been eaten hunger was satisfied and there was no disposition to take other needed types of food.

Proper eating habits are important. If left to themselves some children will naturally select foods sufficiently nourishing to maintain growth and prevent rickets. Others, between the ages of 2 and 6 particularly, will establish faulty food habits and become the victims of self-induced ill health. Many of these youngsters become users of tea and coffee at an early age; rely upon candy and other forms of sweets between meals; eat well one day and poorly the next; or eat too rapidly. Some consume a scanty, unbalanced breakfast or no breakfast at all, while others may not like milk and yet receive no proper substitute. One need not wonder when such a child loses his appetite, becomes capricious as to what he likes and does not like, and develops into a thin, peaked, undernourished adolescent.

Although the intelligence of mothers is increasing, some children are left to shift for themselves, with the result that habits of hygiene and of eating are formed without due regard for nutrition. The principal objective, therefore, is the inculcation at an early age of proper eating habits.

Of course, the child will not eat equally well at all times. As has been pointed out earlier in this column, the appetite of a child may follow a pendulumlike swing from a particular fondness for one type of food to that of another at a later date. Rather than discourage these appetite waves they may be let alone, provided the diet remains balanced and no important food element is omitted. Stimulants to appetite are sometimes required. This does not mean tonic drugs. It may mean, however, cod liver oil and other vitamin containing foods. The attractiveness of food, the regularity of meals, and the quiet and comfort of the family dinner hour are all conducive to the child's taking of a normal amount of proper food.

Overfatigue destroys appetite, and the nervous, high keyed youngster cannot eat. The normally tired child answers the call to meals with, "O, mother, I'm as hungry as a bear!"

Sometimes older youngsters require a midmorning or a midafternoon nap. If this cannot become a part of the daily program a glass of milk or some other form of nourishment will help. Observant mothers have learned that by keeping the child in bed for a few days the resulting rest to the nervous system will do away with the "tension" which has been the chief obstacle to normal appetite. Many of the ills of adult life may be traced to the bad food habits of childhood.

If the child does not gain weight normally under proper feeding we must look for the presence of infection, anemia, or some digestive disorder. In the largest number of instances rest and exercise go hand in hand with appetite, and all three determine health and normal growth.

METABOLISM TEST.

Miss E. K. writes: What is the metabolism test?

REPLY.

The metabolism test has been devised to measure the rate at which the body uses oxygen. The test is usually carried out before breakfast, with the patient quiet and completely at rest. The individual breathes oxygen through the mouth (with the nose closed) for a six minute period. This is often repeated for a similar period as a check on the first test.

The metabolism is then calculated from the exact amount of oxygen used. Other factors, such as the size, weight, and total area of the surface of the body, enter into the determination.

Tests of thousands of healthy persons have given us normal or basic figures. More or less oxygen than normal then gives us the plus or minus rate. For example, if the consumption of oxygen is greater than normal we say that the metabolic rate is plus 20 or plus 30, as the case may be.

CHLORINE FOR ACNE.

L. H. writes: Your column recently contained a letter from a person with acne whose skin was helped by swimming in water containing chlorine. If you recommend diluting chlorine with water as a rinse after thoroughly washing the face with soap and water, what proportions should be used?

REPLY.

One drop of liquid chlorine or one-half teaspoonful of sodium hypochlorite solution to a quart of water will make a strong enough solution for application to the skin.

ANOTHER BABY.

Mrs. J. S. writes: During the sixth month of pregnancy I developed pyelitis. I was kept in bed until the baby was born. The baby seemed perfect at birth, but died in convulsions after eight hours. I would like to try to have another child. What do you think of my chances?

REPLY.

The word pyelitis means pus in the urine. This may come from the bladder or from the kidneys themselves. There is no reason why, under proper treatment, you should not recover completely and go through a normal pregnancy. I assume that the pus in the urine has now entirely disappeared.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

DIVISION FENCES.

Chicago, July 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is there a law in Illinois governing the rights of time for a line fence dividing my property from my neighbor's? The fence has been standing for twenty years or more and my neighbor seems to think I am holding some of his property. 2. In measuring a corner lot for frontage, does the measuring start at the sidewalk or a foot from the sidewalk? G. H.

1. The Illinois limitation period for actions relating to land is twenty years. This ordinarily means that where a division fence has stood without objection for twenty years it is too late to question its location.

2. In the ordinary case of dedicated streets the lot line runs to the sidewalk, but of course there might be mistakes in the location of the sidewalk.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PROPERTY RIGHTS.

Davenport, Ia., July 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. If the owner of a terrace situated on the property line cuts down said terrace, is he or the adjoining owner legally obligated to put in the necessary supports for prevention of slides? I mean a wall or similar structure. 2. Is there a law regulating planting of trees on property lines? 3. Must they be planted a certain number of feet from the line? A. M. H.

1. The term "terrace" is ordinarily applied to a formal sharp rise in the ground surface. We would suppose that the cutting down of such a terrace would reduce rather than increase the need for support. We cannot advise to advantage without having your facts more clearly before us.

2. The adjoining owner is entitled to cut the limbs and roots at the lot line, if that is what you mean to ask.

3. There is no such requirement.

ATTORNEY'S SERVICES NEEDED.

Chicago, July 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Will you please inform me how to fill out a chattel mortgage, also how to fill out a promissory note? 2. What must I do to make a person sign in order to be able to garnishee his wages if he fails to meet his obligations? 3. How do you go about garnisheeing wages? Also I wish to get a couple of guarantors for the sale. 4. What is the form for this? 5 What can I make the guarantor sign so that I can garnishee the guarantor's wages if the person to whom I extend the credit fails to meet his obligations? A. R.

1. Our law department service is limited to the answering of specific legal questions. We do not undertake to draft legal documents for inquirers. We suggest that you employ an attorney.

2. If the debtor's wages are sufficient, garnishment is possible after civil judgment, and the facts on which a judgment will issue would roughly be any facts creating a debt.

3. The first step would be to secure a judgment, for which you should employ an attorney.

4. If you are not prepared to see an attorney we suggest that you examine the business procedure of other parties who are already in the field.

5. See preceding answers. If you take an assignment of wages you could serve notice on the employer and ordinarily tie up the wages without securing a judgment.

IT IS NOT TRUE THAT "WHAT YOU DON'T KNOW WON'T HURT YOU"
BILL VENN

The familiar expression, "What you don't know won't hurt you," is dangerously erroneous. If a thing is harmful, its effects upon you are just the same whether you know about it or not. A great many of the fatalities which occur daily prove that what you don't know is very likely to hurt you. People died of infections long before they knew of such things as germs, and people shoot themselves with guns they do not know are loaded; so who can say that what you don't know won't hurt you?

TWO CONFIDENCE GAMES.

Chicago, July 20.—I should like to tell you of two confidence men now operating on the northwest side.

One is a large, dark haired young man who offers to take orders for chickens to be delivered the end of the week from a chicken farm just outside the city. There is to be 5 pounds of either two spring chickens or one stewing hen. The price is $1. He delivers on the date promised and collects, but the fowl is either cold storage or old hens which cannot be eaten after 3 hours of cooking. Every one reported short weight, from 4 to 8 ounces. One woman ordered a 5 pound hen and got only 2¼ pounds of a tough bird for her $1. Needless to say, he does not return for another order next week after "his route is built up."

The other is a heavy set, thin haired man about 60 years of age who represents himself as agent for any of 50 magazines; says he works for a New York publisher on commission. He asks for a subscription price in advance and gives you a receipt. He shows bona fide printed stationery from the publisher. This man, the publisher advises me, is being hunted by the police of Chicago, but so far has been too slick for them. He is doubly crooked since he talked my 7 year old son out of 25 cents of his savings for a trial subscription to a child's magazine, a copy of which he shows you. No magazine is ever delivered and the publisher does not know him.

If one or two people would call the police when these fellows are working their streets this could be stopped and innocent victims would not be "taken in" by these slick salesmen.

A Victim.

A ROOSEVELT ADMIRER.

Chicago, July 22.—In the Sunday issue of The Tribune I note where Mr. Farlow states he has wired Mr. Garner to make arrangements to have President Roosevelt accompany Mussolini to Africa.

As an American citizen I object to this show of disrespect to our chief executive. There seem to be a lot of people who have forgotten the real hard times we had, and now that we are gradually getting back to normal they are starting a campaign of doubt and mudslinging against the President, but I want to say it won't do a bit of good, for the people are wise, and they know how hard the President has worked for the common herd, how he has had laws enacted to defend labor against unjust employers.

Louis J. Shudnow.

HOW MUCH FOR SEWERS!

Chicago, July 22.—Would it be asking too much of you to find out and publish for the citizens of the Seventh ward just how much money is to go to relieve the flooded sewers and basements in the 32 million dollar appropriation by the city council today? It will please your many readers to learn just how their health is to be looked after.

John A. Brown.

PARKING IN THE LOOP.

Chicago, July 16.—The editorial describing the multiplicity of cars in front of "No Parking" signs was well written, but it drew the wrong moral. There are two ways of remedying the discrepancy between parked cars and "No Parking" signs. One is to do away with the cars and the other is to remove the signs.

When I came back from a two weeks' vacation and slowed up on La Salle street in front of my husband's office to take him home a policeman urged me to go on, and when I told him that I had just phoned my husband and that he was probably in the elevator coming down the officer said that he would give me a ticket if I didn't ride around the block. It took me fifteen minutes to drive four blocks to get back to where I started. My husband waited fourteen minutes on the sidewalk and decided that he would go in and sit down to wait. When I came back to the starting point again I was told to move on. I couldn't stop. I moved for another fifteen minutes. After twenty-nine minutes of waiting my irate husband joined me.

One car killing time in the loop can cause more congestion than a score of them hugging the curb. Multiply that situation by hundreds and it makes it impossible to get movement in any direction. If left to wait one minute I would have relieved four blocks of the loop of the presence of one vehicle for thirty minutes.

If it's such a crime to have a car at a city curb, why the cab stands in the busiest places? In the aforementioned place—on La Salle between Madison and Washington streets—three-fourths of the space on both sides of the street is occupied by cabs whose drivers doze and wait for customers or get tired and go inside some building for a drink or a lunch. When asked why this is allowed all day, the police answer: "They pay for that space."

One hour parking in the loop would make it possible for people who have business in the loop to tend to their affairs and go on. I fail to see why loop garages have to be supported hourly by every car owner who dares to invade our downtown section, even for five minutes. Can it be that this right, too, was "sold" to the garages on the percentage basis, and the more you chase in the more you divide at the end of the month?

Mary K. Jeffries.

OUR FATHER.

Chicago, July 20.—Would it be possible for you to bring to the attention of your writers and columnists the possibility of making some reference to, or taking some illustration from, or encouraging their readers to use at least daily and sincerely the Lord's Prayer?

Before you have laughed too long at this parson's suggestion, think seriously of the universal and deeply effective power of this prayer, to say nothing of its age. A Jew can say it just as sincerely as a Christian. So can an oriental. Yet it is very specifically moral, religious, and spiritual. It is the essence of all righteousness and it is known well by millions.

SPANISH PARTIES HALT QUARRELS; JOIN ARMS RACE

Moved by Fears to Build Up Army, Navy.

[This is the fourth of a series of articles on conditions in Spain by Mr. Darrah, who recently completed a survey of that country.]

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Spain.—[By Mail.]—National defense against feared complications in Europe is a supreme preoccupation of all the contending parties in Spain.

To Alejandro Lerroux, prime minister of the present coalition cabinet, is conceded the merit of having at least been able on this subject of national defense to have raised the spirit of the country above party strife and uniting it in a determination to organize the means of defending its neutrality in case of a war.

The cabinet is anxious about the international situation. There are those in Spain who make no secret about their fears of an outbreak before this summer is over. Spain is determined to remain neutral. On that also all parties seem to agree.

Three Defense Measures.

Public opinion is therefore behind the various defense measures. These fall under three heads:

1. Fortification of the Balearic islands, on which work already has been begun.
2. Developing the Spanish navy. Spanish naval writers claim that Spain should be as powerful in the Mediterranean as either Italy or France.
3. Increasing the strength of the army to around 250,000 men from the present strength of about 160,000.

In the ministerial declaration of the present Lerroux cabinet early in May the prime minister announced that the policy of the new government would be to increase Spain's armed forces to a point adequate to confront international events and War Ministers José Maria Gil Robles laid special stress on the fact that he would immediately increase the strength of the army.

Count Romanones, the veteran monarchist, demands an open discussion before the cortes of Spain's Mediterranean policy. Spain still retains hope of regaining Tangier to fortify her strategic position.

Fleet Recuperating.

Within the limitations of the budget the Spanish navy also is being developed, and this year the Spanish admiralty, in order to awaken a patriotic popular interest in naval matters, held what was called "Naval week" at Cartagena.

The navy is only now recuperating from the blow it received in the war with the United States thirty-seven years ago. The fleet consists of two 15,000 ton armored cruisers of prewar construction, five light cruisers of between 5,000 and 8,000 tons; also ten flotilla leaders, twelve destroyers, and thirteen submarines. Two new 10,000 ton cruisers are about ready for launching, and nine new destroyers are under construction.

In addition, the cabinet is studying measures to develop the air defense force, which at present is limited to only thirty-three planes. An appropriation of $1,560,000 for purchasing planes has been approved, and a buying commission has been sent to the United States.

Public Inspects Ships.

"Naval week" in Cartagena was considered a great success by the admiralty. The fleet of cruisers, destroyers, and submarines was docked in the harbor and the public invited to visit them, and on subsequent days there were maneuverings of the various units in battle formation. What seemed to interest the public most was the laying of smoke screens about the vessels by hydroplanes, and mimic aerial bombardments. What gratified the naval authorities was the large number of persons who visited the fleet and watched the maneuvers.

At the close of the "Naval week" program Lieutenant Commander Matteo Mille, well known writer on naval subjects and professor of strategy at the naval school, lectured over the radio on the whys and wherefores of the navy and the meaning of the various units, stressing the urgent needs of the navy in vessels and auxiliary material.

500 Manchukuo Brigands Torture 5 Japs to Death

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, July 25.—About 500 armed brigands were reported today to have attacked Naiman, Manchukuo, tortured and killed five Japanese and several Chinese, and kidnaped a number of persons after burning several buildings. Japanese and Manchukuan troops are pursuing the bandits, aided by airplanes.

STORY OF KILLING OF PEORIA GIRL IS GIVEN TO JURORS

Court Fans Are Silent as Prosecutor Talks.

BY KIRK EARNSHAW.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Peoria, Ill., July 25.—[Special.]—State's Attorney E. V. Champion told a jury late today that the state contends Gerald Thompson raped and murdered 19 year old Mildred Hallmark. The jury completed today, will begin to hear testimony tomorrow morning before Circuit Judge Joseph E. Darly.

Prosecutor Champion based his speech on Thompson's confession and the corroborative testimony of witnesses. The jury and 300 court fans listened in silence to the prosecutor for an hour and ten minutes.

Thompson sat tense and nervous at his counsel's table. He stared long at his left hand, nervously flexed and unflexed his slender fingers—the hand and the fingers that silenced the screams of Miss Hallmark with a blow to her chin when she resisted him.

Tells of Drive, Attack.

In a neighborly tone of voice, Prosecutor Champion described the incidents of June 16 that led up to Miss Hallmark's meeting with Thompson at a street car transfer corner not far from her home. She drove with him into wooded Springdale cemetery.

"Thompson drove into the cemetery and stopped at a little clearing where he attempted to kiss Mildred Hallmark," Prosecutor Champion said. "She resisted his advances, and he drove on further to a little pond. There he turned the car around and continued to make love to her.

"He threatened her and finally forced her into the back seat of the car. She screamed and he choked her. She bit his right thumb and Thompson seized her by the throat again with his right hand. [The prosecutor demonstrated before the jury the manner in which the girl was throttled.]

Thompson Gazes at Hand.

At this point Thompson straightened in his chair, stared at his left fist. He trembled slightly but quickly regained his composure.

"Mildred Hallmark became unconscious," Prosecutor Champion continued, shouting, "and while she was in that condition Gerald Thompson raped Mildred Hallmork."

The prosecutor's voice dropped to a whisper:

"And she never regained consciousness."

The prosecutor concluded his statement with a description of Thompson's frantic efforts to dispose of the body. The 26 year old defendant, he said, had torn off most of the girl's clothing. With scissors he had carried in his car for that purpose he cut up the remaining garments.

Throws Body Into Ditch.

Thompson, the prosecutor added, tossed the body into a ditch. There a caretaker found it the following morning. Thompson had returned to his work in the factory by that time. There he saw John Hallmark, his victim's father.

Hallmark, tall and grim visaged, sat a few feet from Thompson during the opening statement. He had been on hand throughout the selection of the jury. He gave advice concerning 57 veniremen who passed through the jury box before the panel was completed. The jurors, nine of whom are married and have children, include:

WILLIAM WELLS, gasoline filling station attendant.
W. V. HAYES, sewer digger.
JAMES BARKER, car repair man.
JOHN GERBER, farm hand.
JAMES BELCHER, 50, light plant engineer.
EDWARD HOLTSMAN, tractor mechanic.
CARL HAUSMAN, bartender.
CHARLES BOYSER, unemployed.
BENJAMIN AKEMAN, distillery employé.
DONALD ALLEN, filling station attendant.
WILLIAM BITNER, farmer.

Flag Provided for Use on Band Shell in Park

The Order of American Kindred will give the Chicago park district a large silk American flag at the band concert in Grant Park Sunday evening. Robert J. Dunham, president of the park district, will receive the flag from Alexander Hamilton, treasurer of the order, who is a great-great-grandson of Alexander Hamilton, the first secretary of the treasury. Hamilton said yesterday that the purpose of the gift is to provide a flag for display on the band shell at every concert for the rest of the season. A color guard from the Chicago park district post of the American Legion will take part in the ceremony.

WAITING AT JAIL

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

BOY TRIES TO AID HOLDUP VICTIMS, BUT LOSES $2,248

As the automobile in which she was riding with her husband was forced to the curb at Essex avenue and 83d street yesterday by three robbers in another car Mrs. Veronica Wojciechowski, 8356 Burley avenue, threw a bag containing $2,248 toward a 12 year old boy who was on the sidewalk.

The boy, Bernard Ospalski, 8321 Essex avenue, sensed that a robbery was under way. Picking up the bag of money he started to run. One of the robbers, however, leaped from the car, overtook the boy, wrested the money from him and escaped with his companions.

Orders Jewelry Salesman to Repay $1,600 to Wife

Judge Harry M. Fisher of the Circuit court yesterday ordered Nathan Greenebaum, 1234 North La Salle street, a jewelry salesman, to give his wife, Pauline, 2535 North Sawyer avenue, $6 a week toward repayment of $1,600 which Mrs. Greenebaum declared she lent her husband when they were married in 1929. Mrs. Greenebaum has a separate maintenance suit pending.

NELSON CONFERS WITH MAYOR ON TERMINAL PLAN

Seeks Hearings to Hasten Definite Action.

Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th], chairman of the city council committee on railway terminals, conferred yesterday with Mayor Kelly on a proposal that early in the fall the mayor call a series of hearings on the contemplated $15,000,000 Randolph street terminal.

Under the terminal plan announced in 1933 by the committee, railroads using the present Illinois Central, La Salle street, Dearborn street, and Grand Central stations would concentrate their passenger terminal facilities in a station to be built by the Illinois Central railroad on Randolph street east of Michigan avenue.

Hopes to Speed Financial Plan.

The series of hearings would clear the way for the creation of a financial program which would make possible construction of the project, Ald. Nelson said. He believes, however, that the railroads can digress from the original 1933 plan and organize a terminal company and finance the station themselves, or that they can seek federal loans for the construction.

Nelson also urged the mayor to ask the assistance of Joseph B. Eastman, federal railroad coördinator, in hastening favorable action on the terminal.

Mayor Kelly informed Ald. Nelson and Edward J. Noonan, engineering expert for the terminal committee who accompanied the alderman, that he will study the proposal. It was agreed that the heavy public works construction program now before the city will prevent action on the terminal plan during the summer months.

Cite Possible Huge Saving.

The proposed station can be operated for $1,750,000 a year less than the present cost of operating four separated stations, it is estimated, and in addition, a large amount of property south of the loop would be freed from railroad use, making it possible to open Dearborn, La Salle, Wells, and Franklin streets south from the loop through areas now used by terminal structures and yards.

Woman Shoplifter Suspect Forfeits Bond

The $2,000 bond of Mrs. Eula Weinberg, 32 years old, 4352 Kenmore avenue, was forfeited yesterday when she failed to appear in the Felony court of Judge Mathew D. Hartigan to answer charges of shoplifting. She was arrested a week ago, charged with stealing clothing valued at $24 from a Michigan avenue shop. Mrs. Weinberg was arrested several months ago as a suspect in the theft of $65,200 worth of jewels from the hotel room of Mrs. Adolph Zukor, wife of the motion picture producer. She was acquitted of that charge.

BISHOP GAWLINA OF POLAND HERE; PAYS KELLY VISIT

Bishop Joseph Gawlina of Poland was a visitor yesterday in the office of Mayor Kelly. The bishop, who is a brigadier general in the Polish army and head of all the army's chaplains, is spending ten days in Chicago on a semi-official tour of various Polish institutions. Those visited by Bishop Gawlina yesterday include the Polish National alliance and the Polish Roman Catholic union.

He presided last night at benediction in the Church of Five Holy Martyrs, 43d and Richmond streets.

Today the bishop will visit the Polish Army Veterans' institution, 1239 North Wood street; the Polish Old People's home, and several of the notable Polish Catholic churches.

On Sunday he will take part in the golden jubilee celebration of the founding of the Polish seminary and university at Orchard Lake, Mich.

PAUL REVERES FIGHT BILL TO LIFT BAN ON UNDESIRABLE ALIENS

The Chicago chapter of the Paul Reveres, a patriotic organization, announced yesterday its opposition to a bill pending in congress which it asserts would loosen the restrictions against the residence of undesirable aliens and their relatives in this country. Copies of a resolution condemning the bill have been sent to the Illinois senators and representatives at Washington.

The resolution declares that in recent years aliens have "flagrantly violated the immigration and deportation laws of the United States" and that there are now more than 6,000,000 aliens in the country, many physically or mentally defective and criminals.

The Chicago office of the Paul Reveres is at 120 South La Salle street.

BOY ASKS $100,000 FOR LEG LOST IN TROLLEY WRECK

Suit for $100,000 damages against the street car company was filed yesterday in behalf of Michael Pinto, 13 years old, 4805 South Wells street, whose left leg was amputated just below the hip because of injuries incurred a week ago when a 75th street surface lines car left its tracks and crashed into a railroad viaduct at South Chicago avenue. The bill was filed by Attorneys Bernard P. Barasa and Samuel A. Rinella in the Circuit court.

The bill sets forth that the car was traveling at an excessive rate of speed, that the car itself was obsolete, that the road bed was inadequately ballasted causing one of the rails to be depressed, and that the company was generally negligent in the operation and maintenance of its equipment.

One person was killed and 92 were injured in the accident.

GILBEY'S DISTILLED LONDON DRY GIN
90 PROOF

4/5 QUART

OF course, to the Colonel, wise in the ways of the East, that stirrup-cup of Gilbey's was as natural as the sun's rising. And as necessary as looking over his express rifle before they lumbered off for a shot at Stripes. For Gilbey's Gin, since 1867, has been part and parcel of the British people's life. And for that matter, of the world's life.

For rarely, if ever, has there been a great liquor with such international prestige. Europe's fashionables in Monte Carlo will praise Gilbey's rare delicacy in a cocktail. The swanky "Leftnant" of the Bengal Lancers will cheer it in a tall, tinkling drink on a hot Indian afternoon. A lean, tanned big-game hunter in Uganda might mention its mellow vigor. But on one fact they all agree . . . that Gilbey's is one of the world's great gins.

The reason is very simple. Gilbey's is now made in America . . . under the control of America's greatest distilling organization from grain to bottle. That means no tariff duties. And a gin that makes all gin drinks better!

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

5 Judges to Be Available; Absentees Phoned.

Plans to assure that five judges will sit in the Criminal court throughout the month of August were perfected at a meeting yesterday of the court's acting chief justice, Judge Cornelius J. Harrington, Judge Denis E. Sullivan, who recently relinquished the chief justiceship to fill a vacancy in the Illinois Appellate court, Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of the Superior court, and Judge James J. Kelly of the Superior court.

The meeting was called hurriedly after Judge Harrington had announced that in coöperation with Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty he intended to send out a barrage of telegraph and telephone messages to vacationing judges of the civil courts, who, he said, apparently had backed out of their agreement to keep the Criminal court manned during the vacation period.

Faced with "Shortage."

Judge Harrington discovered Wednesday that, starting Monday, he would have court calls without judges available to handle them, with resultant inconvenience to numerous witnesses and attorneys.

Judge Sullivan appeared early at the Criminal court for a conference with his successor over the apparent failure of the Superior and Circuit judges to fulfill the promises they had made to him before he relinquished the chief justiceship. Telephone calls were immediately put in for the vacationing judges to demand explanations.

Before noon the call for the conference of the four judges was sent out and the telephoning to vacationing jurists was abandoned after several of them had been reached and again were placed on record as to their previously expressed desire to coöperate in keeping the Criminal court dockets cleared.

At the conference it was agreed that Superior Judge Rudolph Desort would serve through the next week in the Criminal court.

Sabath to Sit Till Aug. 5.

Superior Judge Joseph Sabath, who has been in the divorce division, has agreed to sit in the Criminal court until Aug. 5. His presence will make up the necessary five judges for next week's court sessions with Judge Harrington, Judge Grover C. Niemeyer, and Judge John C. Lewe of the Criminal court staying on the job. Judge Daniel A. Trude, one of those called on the telephone, indicated he will be on hand within a week. Other judges will be called back from vacation, the conference announced, so that five judges always will be on the job in the Criminal court.

Judge Harrington, emphasizing the necessity of keeping judges on the Criminal bench continually through August, pointed out that there are now 182 indictments pending with the possibility that that number would be increased to 500 by September unless the work of the court is kept up.

Arrive Together

Gov. Clyde Tingley of New Mexico (left) and Gov. Harry W. Nice of Maryland.

Anti-Roosevelt sentiment is mounting throughout the country, Gov. Harry W. Nice of Maryland reported to a group of Chicago Republicans yesterday at a luncheon in the Palmer house. Gov. Nice came to town arm in arm with a Democratic governor, Clyde Tingley of New Mexico, who met his Maryland colleague on an eastern bound train by courtesy of the conductor. Nice is on his way back to Baltimore after conferring with former President Hoover in Palo Alto, Cal. Tingley will talk of federal projects in New Mexico with President Roosevelt in Washington.

"Across the country I talked with men of all vocations formerly affiliated with Democratic party organizations," Gov. Nice said at the luncheon. "The cross-section sentiment seems to be that the fight next year will be above mere party consideration. It is to be a fight to save the American system of government, they say, and, while the Republican party happens to be a handy instrument to make vocal the opposition, the issue is greater than party lines.

"The fight can be won and must be won if we are to preserve a government of free men on this hemisphere. The question of the nation's safety is everywhere becoming the paramount issue."

DUTCH CABINET RESIGNS; SPLIT ON DEVALUATION

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, July 26 (Friday).—(AP)—Premier Hendryk Colijn early today tendered the resignation of his cabinet to Queen Wilhelmina. A decision from her accepting or rejecting the resignation was expected later in the day.

The cabinet has been divided over the premier's plan to save the guilder from devaluation. The queen last night authorized the government to take any measures necessary to defend the currency.

The Bank of the Netherlands yesterday was obliged to deliver 25,000,000 guilders in gold, considerably below Wednesday's losses. The last statement of the bank showed about £96,000,000 in gold on hand.

NEW AUTO CODE ENDS POWER OF RURAL JUSTICES

Cases Must Go Into Other Courts.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., July 25.—[Special.]—Ernst Lieberman, head of the state highway department, following a conference this afternoon with the attorney general's office, issued a statement that prosecutions under the new Illinois trafic code must be brought by state's attorneys before Circuit, Superior, county or city courts.

That official announcement verified the previously published opinion of Joseph H. Braun, general counsel for the Chicago Motor club, that the new code has taken state trafic cases from the jurisdiction of police magistrates and justices of the peace.

Changes Trafic Case Methods.

The state highway police, in making arrests under the new code, were instructed to issue summonses for the offenders to appear at the state's attorney's office. For those who fail to appear, warants will be issued. The prosecutor then can file criminal informations, formal complaints, against the defendants, avoiding the longer procedure of obtaining a grand jury indictment.

"This change in the procedure of handling trafic cases," said Charles De Leuw, assistant chief of the highway department, "was not an inadvertence. It was deliberately written into the law to take the trial of motorists away from the justices of peace and police magistrates."

Those lower tribunals lost jurisdiction because the penalty clause of the code provides that jail sentences as well as fines might be imposed for trafic misdemeanors. Neither a justice of the peace nor a police magistrate in Illinois can dispose of a state case in which the defendant might be incarcerated.

Police Attending School.

The ruling was handed down with the approval of the attorney general just as the state highway police, in a two day school which opened here this morning, are starting enforcement of the new code. As police chief, Larry Taylor is directing the application of the act.

In enforcing the new minimum speed law, which prescribes that an automobile shall not be driven so slowly as to impede a reasonable use of the pavements, the patrolmen will be instructed to coach the lagards with courtesy and to arrest only for flagrant and defiant violations. This section of the code is intended to keep slow pokes from the center lanes of forty foot slabs and to prod the creeping road hogs on busy two line pavements.

Hand Signals Demanded.

Hand signals are required under the new code. Chief Taylor said that without making arrests the patrolmen were to educate the public to their use. On vehicles, such as large trucks, where the driver's extended left hand can not be seen from the rear, mechanical devices must be operated to indicate intention to turn or to stop. The enforcement of this equipment provision will be done by inspectors under the secretary of state.

Brakes and lights are to be inspected by the police in trafic on the highways. The new rule for brakes is that a vehicle must be able to stop from 20 miles an hour within 30 feet.

Forms are being prepared to aid the public in complying with the new regulation requiring motorists involved in a personal injury or fatal accident to file a report with the state within twenty-four hours. These forms will be distributed to local police, sherifs, and coroners.

WARTIME MINE CAUGHT IN NET EXPLODES ON FISHING BOAT'S DECK

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

HAMBURG, July 25.—The fishing cutter Frieda was burned almost to the waterline today when a wartime mine, which had been in her nets, exploded on deck.

The cutter had taken a position off Helgoland when the crew felt its nets grow heavy. They pulled in. The captain just discovered he had landed a mine when an explosion shook the boat. Her upper works burst into flame. None of the crew was seriously injured. The vessel reached port under her own power.

COL. H. H. ROGERS, STANDARD OIL HEIR, SUCCUMBS

COL. H. H. ROGERS.

Col. Rogers had been ill since October. During that time he was operated on four times and had blood transfusions, sometimes as often as twice a day. He was operated upon last May at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore. Returning to his Southampton home, he continued to be under the care of physicians from that Baltimore institution. He was operated on yesterday at the Southampton hospital.

Col. Rogers inherited a large fortune from his father, the late H. H. Rogers. He had a creditable war record. He was married three times.

Born in 1879 in New York.

Col. Rogers was born in New York City on Dec. 28, 1879, the son of Henry Huddleston Rogers and Abbie Palmer Gifford Rogers. The elder Rogers, an intimate friend of Mark Twain, was one of the organizers of the Standard Oil company and its president for many years. Col. Rogers inherited his father's fortune in 1909.

On Nov. 7, 1900, while still a student at Columbia university H. H. Rogers Jr. married Mary Benjamin, a society daughter of Dr. George Hillard Benjamin, scientist and lawyer. The couple had two children, Mary Millicent and Henry Huddleston Rogers Jr.

Rogers was active in the New York National Guard from 1904 through the world war, in which he was a colonel of artillery, being cited several times and receiving French and American decorations.

Divorced by First Wife.

Col. Rogers' first wife obtained a divorce in Holland in 1929. The same year, in Paris, he married Mrs. Marguerite von Baun Savell Miles. Mrs. Miles' husband, Basil Miles, an American diplomat, had died a short time previously in Washington.

Col. Rogers presented his bride with an elaborate swimming pool, reputed to have cost nearly $1,000,000. It was said to have been at that time the largest private structure of its kind in the country. The pool was installed at Col. Rogers' Southampton estate, which bore the name of "The Port of Missing Men."

The second marriage terminated in divorce in Reno in May, 1933. In August of that year Col. Rogers married Mrs. Pauline van Der Voort Dresser, the former wife of Carl K. Dresser, an oil man. The wedding was celebrated in Southampton. She survives.

Col. Rogers' daughter first was married to Ludwig, Count Salm von Hoogstraeten, tennis playing Austrian nobleman. A sum reputed to have been a half million dollars was settled upon the count. Millicent Rogers later was married to Arturo Peralta Ramos, wealthy Argentine.

Col. Rogers' daughter, son, widow, and three grandchildren survive.

FIREMAN GIVES BLOOD TO SAVE LIFE OF BOY, 7

When Mrs. Leo Heller, 2947 Lyndale avenue, was told by physicians at the Children's Memorial hospital yesterday that a blood transfusion would be necessary to save the life of her son Robert, 7 years old, who is ill there with a bone infection, she went immediately to the fire station at 2183 Stave street.

"I've always heard that firemen are brave and do such things," Mrs. Heller told Lieut. Fred Miller of engine company No. 43.

Mrs. Heller was not disappointed. Six firemen stepped forward and volunteered. At the hospital it was found that the blood of Acting Lieut. Howard T. O'Brien, 5119 Roscoe street, of squad No. 6, best matched that of the boy, and the transfusion was made.

Physicians said last night that it would require some time to determine whether another transfusion would be needed. Lieut. O'Brien stood ready to offer more of his blood if necessary.

DEAD PILOT GETS BLAME IN CRASH OF BRITISH PLANE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 25.—A charge of negligence against a dead pilot of the government subsidized Imperial Airways was heard in King's Bench division of the high court today during the hearing of a test case—the first of its kind in the history of Imperial Airways—to decide the liabilities of air lines in case of accidents.

The action was concerned with the crash of the air liner Apollo, which fell in flames in Belgium in December, 1933, after hitting a radio mast. Ten persons were killed.

Widow Sues for Damage.

Mrs. Elsie Charlotte Grein and her 17 year old daughter are suing Imperial Airways for damages on account of the death of the former's husband, Louis Grein, one of the victims. T. J. O'Connor, lawyer for Mrs. Grein, told the court that John Gittings, the dead pilot, had been described in his Imperial Airways dossier as "truculent and careless," as well as "unbalanced."

Declaring that it was with great reluctance that he made allegations of negligence against a dead flyer, O'Connor said the plane at the time of the crash was carrying a full capacity load and that ice had formed on the edge of its wings.

At the plane's last stop in Belgium the meteorological officer had told Gittings there was a fog and that its center was somewhere about Ruysselede. The officer described the pilot's attitude as being taciturn. Gittings was described as being anxious to resume the flight.

Resorted to Hedge Hopping.

"Gittings," O'Connor told the court, "knew about the dense fog, knew his radio was not functioning and knew the atmosphere was of the ice forming variety. Nevertheless, he preferred to ignore all these things. Instead of flying high above the bank of fog clouds, he resorted to 'hedge-hopping,' seeking his way by attempting to recognize things on the ground.

"He did not seem to bring into play what experience he may have had at flying blind. According to his dosser, supplied by Imperial Airways, the pilot began flying in 1928 and had a crash in the Persian gulf. In 1932 he seemed to cause the ground staf at a place in Africa much alarm. As a consequence he was described as 'truculent' and 'swollen-headed.'"

The attorney for Mrs. Grein contended the pilot was headstrong. He suggested the aviator's confidence may have been greater than his ability and that he was not the sort of man to have been permitted to pilot a large passenger plane on this route in midwinter.

O'Connor then referred to the dossier and a remark by a superior officer that his skill did not seem to have been up to the standard required for service on an airplane like the Apollo.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Amos 'n' Andy have announced that the mysterious poisoning of Mrs. Roland Weber is to be solved in their episode for tonight. Thus their current murder plot will be unraveled and the Harlem boys will be turning to new interests. Perhaps they will give their attention to airplane adventuring one of these days. Charlie Correll and Freeman Gosden are taking flying lessons this summer and it doesn't seem improbable that their real life activities might sooner or later be reflected in their radio serial.

Correll and Gosden have been flying more and more the past year. There was a time when insurance companies objected to their flying but those days are over. Wednesday they flew back from New York where they have been making a movie. Because of strong headwinds their plane made an emergency landing for refueling in a small Pennsylvania town, but they reached here only a few minutes late.

Correll and Gosden are taking their flying lessons at Curtiss field with Slim Freitag, the chap who taught Wayne King, as their tutor. They have made good progress and expect shortly to make their first solo flights.

Wayne King has been flying for many years. Last year there was a report that he was giving it up but his friends report that he is still at it.

C. L. Menser, NBC production director, is another flying enthusiast. He just returned from a vacation trip in which he flew his own plane 2,500 miles. He went as far west as Cheyenne. Ennio Bolognini, NBC cellist, Noble Cain, choral director, and Jules Herbuveaux, orchestra leader and production man, are other local radio men who pilot planes.

Wendell Hall, the red headed music maker of radio, will make a week of personal appearances at the Oriental theater beginning today. . . . Ruth Lyon, NBC soprano, will appear at the Chicago theater starting today for a week. . . . And over at the Palace Don Bestor's orchestra, which has been providing the music on Jack Benny's programs, may be heard this week.

◆

Jimmy Hatton, tenor soloist on the Gloom Dodgers program at 10 a. m. Sundays on WBBM and also one-third of the trio "Betty, Jean, and Jim," was taken to American hospital yesterday with pneumonia. He was ill with pleurisy on his appearance last Sunday morning.

◆

In the opening match of the new aqua-tennis schedule at Medinah club the other evening, Virginia Clark, who plays Helen Trent on W-G-N and CBS, gave Allan Hale, CBS announcer, a trouncing, winning three out of five sets of this water ping-pong played on a floating table. And that despite the fact that Hale once was an Olympic swimmer.

THOMAS NOONAN, "FRIEND OF THE FRIENDLESS," DIES

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—Thomas Noonan, who was called by others the Bishop of Chinatown and became famous through his Sunday afternoon radio broadcasts from the Bowery and who called himself the "friend of the friendless," died today in Long Island College hospital. Death resulted from heart disease.

Noonan, who held out a welcoming hand to all down and outers at the rescue mission in Doyers street, went to the hospital two days ago. He had had previous warning of the condition which brought about his death, having been in the same hospital for treatment last January.

There was, of course, a time when no one would have trusted Tom Noonan with a nickel. He was a former convict. He was 15 when he was caught in a petty theft and sent to Sing Sing to serve a term of a year and ten months. Upon release he engaged in prison work and later took up the mission work.

S. J. Chapman Dies; Wealthy Realty Broker

Los Angeles, Cal., July 25.—[Special.]—Samuel J. Chapman, 72, wealthy Los Angeles real estate man, died at his home here today. Born in Macomb, Ill., in 1862, he was for many years a Chicago publisher. At time of his death he was a member of Medinah temple, Shriners, of Chicago. His widow, one son, one brother, and one sister survive.

DR. J. H. SULLIVAN, DEAN OF ILLINOIS OSTEOPATHS, DIES

Dr. Joseph H. Sullivan, 76 years old, 9600 South Damen avenue, a founder of the Illinois Osteopathic association, died in his home yesterday after a long illness.

Dr. Sullivan was born in Cincinnati. He moved to Sioux Falls, S. D., as a young man, where he began the practice of osteopathy. In 1897 he entered practice in Chicago. He was largely instrumental in obtaining the passage by the legislature the next year of the first law in the state regulating osteopaths. The first license was issued to him. He followed his profession until 1933, when ill health caused his retirement.

Four children survive: They are Mrs. Frank Tracy, with whom he lived; Mrs. Eugene Dietz and Ray Sullivan, both of Chicago, and Capt. Andrew Sullivan, an army officer stationed at Fort Leavenworth, Kas.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in the home.

Don't Be Fat!
IRENE RICH
"Eat Sensibly—Drink Welch's Grape Juice"

Too many rich, sweet foods make you sluggish and fat—but, on the other hand, a low-calorie diet makes you weak and haggard. So it's good news that now, at last, scientists have discovered a way to reduce healthfully, and keep youthful in appearance! You must supply the body with a certain amount of an easily-burnable sugar—so that the body can burn up its fat.

Welch's Grape Juice contains this special kind of sugar—a natural sugar, exactly the same kind your blood uses for energy. This sugar is easily and quickly burned, and it helps the body burn up fat! Not only that, it satisfies the craving for rich, sweet foods—helps you lose weight naturally.

And because Welch's is an energy food, it keeps you full of youthful pep, puts roses in your cheeks. At the same time fat is slipping away. So remember—drink 4 glasses of Welch's a day. Simply mix ¾ Welch's with ¼ plain water. Drink a glassful before every meal and one before retiring. Then eat sensibly and see how quickly you look —and feel—better. Get Welch's from your grocer or druggist and start today. You'll be glad you did!

"Gives Quick Pep and Energy" says Coach

"Red" Woodworth, Coach of Morgan Park Military Academy, says: "Welch's Grape Juice gives my boys strength and energy without adding health-destroying fat. The minerals and vitamins are valuable in building firm flesh, strong bones and teeth. I recommend it for all growing children and athletes."

BEWARE OF CHEAP SUBSTITUTES
Get only genuine Welch's. For the secret Welch Process retains the essential healthful properties of ripe Concord Grapes. Welch's absolutely pure and unadulterated; is Certified-Pure, Pasteurized; contains no adulterants, no synthetic flavors, no artificial coloring, no preservatives, no added water. Always full strength. Can be diluted with ¼ water and still be delicious. Hence Welch's goes farther too. So ask for it by name. And be sure to get what you ask for!

RENEWED STRIKE DISORDER FEARED AT TERRE HAUTE

Conciliators Trying for an Early Settlement.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 25.—[Special.]—Fear of a possible renewal of disorders when union coal miners become idle at the end of the week spurred federal conciliators tonight in their attempts to obtain early settlement of the prolonged stamping mill strike that provoked union labor's general strike here this week.

Meantime, National Guardsmen patroled the area about the mill of the Columbian Stamping and Enameling company and maintained strict enforcement of martial law regulations ordered earlier in the week by Gov. Paul V. McNutt.

600 Troops Keep Order.

With the general strike definitly ended, after it had paralyzed business for two days, about half the troops assembled here were returned to their home stations. The remainder, about 600 men, continued on duty and dispersed with nauseating gas a crowd that assembled last night in the vicinity of the stamping plant.

The federal conciliators, Charles L. Richardson and Harry E. Scheck, said although an early settlement probably will be difficult, they hope to bring the mill management and strikers into agreement before more violence occurs. A closed shop is the issue of the four months old strike.

It was pointed out that if the strike could be settled before the week-end it would forestall possible renewal of disorders. Union coal miners of the district do not work Saturday and it was feared that if they mingle with other idle union workers the resentment against presence of the National Guard might cause a disturbance.

Expect Success Later.

The conciliators said they believed that mediation conferences might be more successful after "the excitement has died down," but added that an immediate settlement is greatly desired.

The conciliators met this morning with Thomas N. Taylor, American Federation of Labor organizer, and a committee representing the 600 stamping mill employés on strike. Although Taylor said the union representatives are ready to meet Columbian officials, no such meeting has been held.

LIST ACTIVITIES OF 2,537 JEWS IN BIOGRAPHY BOOK

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—The lives and activities of 2,537 persons of Jewish origin are sketched in the 1935 edition of the Biographical Encyclopædia of American Jews, published today under the editorship of Leo M. Glassman and intended to provide, in addition to a useful work of reference, a glimpse of the extent to which Jewish citizens are integrated in American life.

In addition to known Jews of distinction the encyclopedia lists many persons of prominence whose Jewish background is not a matter of common knowledge. Among such is Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric company; Clyde Beatty, the lion tamer; Karl Landsteiner, Nobel prize winner in medical research; Sergei Koussevitsky, conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra; M. S. Agruss, first American chemist to isolate a chemical element; Charles Chaplin, Edna Ferber and Dorothy Parker.

Dr. Albert Einstein, although not an American citizen, is, like several others, listed because he has transferred his interests and activities to this country.

UNABLE TO IDENTIFY CLOTHES

Mrs. Dunkel Called

Mrs. Blanche Dunkel was unable yesterday to identify a coat, cap, and necktie discarded by a person who committed suicide Wednesday night by leaping into the river fom the Washington street bridge. Mrs. Dunkel, who confessed that she agreed to pay $500 for the murder of her son-in-law, Ervin Lang, was shown the clothing on the chance that the suicide might have been Mrs. Evelyn Smith, the woman she named as the actual slayer of Lang, or Harry Jung, Chinese husband of Mrs. Smith.

Police found in the coat a clipping of THE TRIBUNE relating to the search for Mrs. Smith. They believed it possible she may have been wearing man's clothing while in hiding, and that she had given up hope of avoiding capture.

FORMER CHICAGO SOCIETY GIRL SEEKS DIVORCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 25.—Dorothy Dickson, American actress, today filed a petition for divorce from her husband, Carl Hyson, American theatrical producer and her former dancing partner. She charged misconduct. They were married in 1913. Their daughter, Dorothy Hyson, married Robert Douglas, an actor, last May.

BOTH FROM CHICAGO.

Dorothy Dickson, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bradford Dickson, formerly of Chicago, later of Long Island, deserted the ranks of Chicago's north shore debutantes in 1914 to dance in cabarets, then on the stage.

She attained fame while dancing with Carl Heisen, a son of Charles J. Heisen, millionaire Chicago builder. Dorothy and Carl won the long distance tango record, the rage in the 1914 season, by dancing some 22,000 miles in Milwaukee, Chicago, and New York cabarets.

From Rector's café the couple danced their way to New York, thence to capitals abroad, choosing London as their home, and adopting the name Hyson.

G. O. P. CONGRESS COMMITTEE AND FLETCHER BREAK

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—Differences that have existed between the Republican national committee and the party's senate and house campaign committees ever since Henry P. Fletcher was elected national chairman, came to a climax today when the congressional committee, dominated by Senator Daniel O. Hastings and Representative Chester C. Bolton, severed all connection with the national committee, both as to policies and campaign funds.

Separation was so complete that the campaign committees moved away from joint headquarters in the Barr building to the National Press club, following conferences with Chairman Fletcher, who declined to take over some of the functions of the campaign committee, especially financial obligations. He also objected to sharing contributions with the house and senate committees.

The divorcement marks a long standing hostility on the part of Senators Charles L. McNary and Hastings against Mr. Fletcher, whose election as chairman they opposed. Ever since Mr. Fletcher's election they have been most critical of his policies and utterances.

The breaking off of friendly relations means that the house and senate committees will raise their own funds and not follow the plan initiated under the Hoover administration of the national committee collecting the funds and allotting them to the lesser committees.

Those responsible for the break with Mr. Fletcher say they will have no difficulty in getting financed adequately to carry on the extensive campaign now planned.

Republicans outside of the family row expressed regret that the two committees could not go forward with equanimity. They said that with the party divided into two wings, this struggle between the two committees would have a very bad effect on the workers in the country.

MAID ROBBED OF PURSE.

Mrs. Mary O'Brien, a maid at the City Contagious Diseases hospital, 3026 South California avenue, was robbed of her purse containing $3 by a colored man near the hospital last night.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Bob Becker

Steers Have Swim

July 25, 1935.

THE white faced steers [144 of 'hem] here on the Yorkville experimental farm had a dandy chance to cool off this week by going swimming in the Fox river. The water carnival was not staged with the idea of giving the Herefords a good time and affording them relief from the heat. On the contrary, it was an enforced swim for the animals, but they seemed to enjoy it.

Clarence Thurow, manager of the farm, decided it was time to move the Herefords from their pasture on the north side of the Fox to new pastures on the south bank of the river. The easiest way to make this move was to drive the animals into the river north of the bridge and make them ford it, because the route via the road and the bridge is a long one.

The Fox is quite a bit higher than usual right now because of the heavy rains, so the fat steers found places where it was deep. When the white faces struck these holes you should have seen them stretch out their heads and go into their swim strokes!

All the animals forded the stream without any trouble, but one thing that happened during the move certainly gave Kenneth Miller and Charley Sleezer a big laugh. Before the boys [who were on horses] got the cattle down to the river it was necessary to drive them through a gate leading into a field. There is a good sized sign at the side of the gate marked "Private." It was really laughable the way those steers hesitated about going through this gate, as if they were able to read that sign and wanted to avoid going into anybody's private field!

The heavy rain which fell day before yesterday made everybody smile here on the farm. Of course, this rain kept the workers from going ahead on the job of harvesting oats, but it was a blessing for the corn. The boys noticed yesterday that the leaves on the corn had been curling a little bit. This is the plants' way of signaling that a good drink of water is needed. [Well do I recall how the leaves curled last year when the drouth prevailed and the blistering hot sun in a cloudless sky was parching the earth and the crops.]

Another hatching of ringneck pheasants has just been marked up on the records at the Wheaton experimental farm. There are fourteen cute chicks in this bunch. They are going to be moved today from a coop near the Rawlings home to one of the pens in the regular game bird spot near Carl Henderson's house.

When I was on the farm yesterday I looked at the little Chukar partridges which were hatched several days ago. They had just been moved to fresh ground and were having a great time running around in the grass. But the smallest chicks in the pens were two newly hatched bobwhites of another setting.

Carl lifted the protesting bantam hen from the nest to see if any of the other eggs in the clutch had been pecked by hatching chicks. When he lifted the bantam one of the little chicks already hatched dropped right out of her feathers and then hid under a small tuft of grass at the side of the nest. Here was an interesting example of how a tiny game bird comes into the world with the instinct to hide when it is frightened.

'Misery Chiseler' on Trial in New York.

OTTO WAGNER.

The little man was Otto Wagner, 38.

Sorrow is just a dull pain now for four of the five men who testified, because the kin they worried about are dead. But they stared with contemptuous eyes at Otto Wagner. Officers say he wrote them threatening letters at the peak of their distress, and that he should go to prison for violating the Lindbergh law.

In court they told of getting letters demanding that they come to New York, that they pay ransom. Government agents say Otto Wagner was author of the letters.

Berry Stoll Is Witness.

Berry Stoll of Louisville, Ky., whose name was in every newspaper in the country in October, 1934, following the kidnaping of his wife, was first to take the stand, and then came a slim man in a Panama suit and black tie.

He was Andrew E. Distelhurst of Nashville, Tenn. He is the father of 6 year old Dorothy Anne Distelhurst, who was found murdered in Nashville last November.

"What happened to your little girl?" Mr. Hickey asked Mr. Distelhurst at the height of today's testimony, and there was not a whisper in the courtroom.

Mr. Distelhurst's head dropped toward his chest, his eyes lowered, and he spoke in words hardly audible to Judge Galston.

"She was murdered," came the weak reply.

Attorneys in Wrangle.

Immediately there was a wrangle. Defense attorneys jumped up and said that the words Mr. Distelhurst spoke with such difficulty were prejudicial.

Mr. Distelhurst was finally allowed to say simply, "She is dead."

John F. Kaul, father of Jackie Kaul, who was drowned in the East river, came next. He broke down on the stand. Wagner sat unmoved.

Attorneys questioned him cautiously, but when he was asked "When did you see Jackie alive last?" his voice broke. He answered "June 6."

He continued sobbing, and the next question was nothing to soothe him. "When did you see him next?" was the question, and his trembling answer was "On June 15, at the morgue."

He had almost collapsed by then.

Say Wagner Wrote Them.

Along with Irving Baldwin, grandson of the missing Charles D. Towt, and Monroe Towt, nephew of Mr. Towt, Mr. Kaul testified to receiving letters from Brooklyn which were of a threatening nature. These were the Wagner letters, federal officers say.

The defendant, however, received one break today.

BARS PWA FROM LENDING TO FOUR ALABAMA TOWNS

Washington, D. C., July 25.—(AP)—The Public Works administration today temporarily was barred from loaning funds to four Alabama cities seeking power from the Tennessee Valley authority.

Justice Oscar R. Luhring of the District of Columbia Supreme court signed an order forbidding loans until Aug. 1, when the petition of the Alabama Power company will be argued.

The utility cited a $150,000,000 investment in Alabama and said Secretary Ickes, PWA chief, planned to use federal funds to "beat down" power prices and force it from business by low municipal rates.

Loans barred by the order were to Decatur, Florence, Sheffield, and Tuscumbia. The utility stated its offer to sell distributing systems to the cities had not been accepted.

A group of preferred stockholders of the Alabama company won a federal court victory at Birmingham, Ala., barring sale of TVA power which recently was reversed by the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Husband Quizzed in Wife's Death May Be Freed Today

Joliet authorities said last night that Alvin Pralle, 35 years old, of Peotone, who has been held by State's Attorney William R. McCabe of Will county for questioning about the death last Sunday of his wife Rose, probably would be released today. Mrs. Pralle was found shot to death in their home. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide.

DEDICATE STATUE TO LITHUANIAN FLYERS SUNDAY

A statue to Capt. Stephen Darius and Lieut. Stanley Girenas, the Lithuanian-American flyers who were killed in July, 1933, when they crashed near Soldin, Germany, a few hundred miles from Kaunas, Lithuania, their goal, after flying non-stop from New York, will be unveiled and dedicated in Marquette park at 67th street and California avenue at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The monument has been erected by the Lithuanian societies of the United States. Between 15,000 and 20,000 Lithuanians of Chicago are expected to attend the ceremonies. A chorus of 500 members of the combined Lithuanian parishes of Chicago will sing, and a military parade will march to the monument.

Mayor Kelly and Robert J. Dunham, head of the Chicago park district, are to be among the speakers. A squadron of planes piloted by friends of the two flyers will maneuver over the park.

The La Salle street bridge over the Chicago river will be closed to all trafic from 7 a. m. to noon Sunday while city workmen complete repairs on the structure, Thomas G. Pihlfeldt, city bridge engineer, said yesterday.

NEBRASKA CUTS AUGUST RELIEF; JOBS INCREASE

Omaha, Neb., July 25.—[Special.]—A quarter million reduction in Nebraska's August relief costs has been approved by the state emergency relief commission, in session here.

Discontinuation by Aug. 1 of all work relief in counties which are primarily agricultural and by Aug. 16 in all other counties, with specified exceptions, will cut the month's appropriation to $744,000.

Exceptions listed included projects where material loss would result from discontinuation. Work relief will not be abandoned all at once, as has been done in South Dakota, but a survey of state conditions indicates that PWA activities and the seasonal demand for harvesters and general workers will more than absorb the surplus labor shortly.

With new projects in the recently flooded Republican river area now ready an actual labor shortage is anticipated. A large number of men are being employed in this area by railroads on reconstruction projects.

So far there have been no reports in Nebraska's agricultural areas of the refusal to work that sent Clay county, Iowa, farmers to the relief offices. They reported able bodied men refusing work in the fields, preferring to fish and pay grocery bills with federal relief doles.

British Liner Docks with $50,000,000 Art Treasure from China

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 25.—Marines and hundreds of policemen lined the docks at Portsmouth today when the British cruiser Suffolk arrived with the most unique and valuable cargo ever carried by a warship. The cargo consisted of $50,000,000 worth of Chinese art treasures. Ninety-five packing cases were destined for the first international exhibition of Chinese art ever held in England.

Authorities were taking no chances with the cargo and the Suffolk was berthed alongside the huge battleship Hood. Between rows of marines with fixed bayonets, the cases were placed aboard army trucks and transported by a secret route to London. The trucks were guarded by squads of detectives and were escorted by motorcycle policemen.

The exhibition, to be held in Burlington house, London, this autumn, covers all branches of Chinese art from the earliest days to the close of the 18th century. It is composed of paintings, wood, stone and metal sculptures, bronze vessels, jades, porcelains, and brocades.

Dinner-Dance as a Welcome to Ruth Fisher

BY JUDITH CASS.

As a welcome home after a year's absence Howard T. Fisher is giving a dinner-dance tomorrow night at the Fisher home in Hubbard Woods for his sister, Ruth. He has invited about fifty of their friends to the party for his charming young sister, whose year in Nevada and California has given her a sun tan that is envied by all who see her.

Miss Fisher isn't planning to spend a very long time at home, for she expects to go east next month, but in the meantime she is having a delightful time, seeing her friends and doing the thousand and one pleasant things there are to do at this time of year on the north shore. Her mother, Mrs. Walter Lowrie Fisher, and older sister, Miss Margaret, are away now, in Maine en route by motor to Quebec.

Miss Margaret, who is talented with brush and pencil, is sketching and painting interesting scenes along the way to add to her portfolio when she and Mrs. Fisher arrive at home in another two weeks.

Miss Ruth's and Miss Margaret's sister-in-law, Mrs. Thomas Fisher, is going a-gypsying soon, an experience to which she is looking forward with delight. On Aug. 10 she, Bentley Stone and Miss Ruth Gordon will leave for the east by motor with a trailer bumping along behind, and in the trailer will be the costumes that Mrs. Fisher [Ruth Page] and Mr. Stone wear when they dance professionally. The object of the trip is a concert tour of the New England resorts, Newport, Cohasset, Camden, Bar Harbor and others.

The first concert will be on Aug. 18, but Mrs. Fisher does not know yet just where it will be given. The tour will last three weeks and then Mr. Fisher will join his talented wife and they will have a vacation, returning home in mid-September.

Eastern Guests Here for Arlington Race.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Alger Jr. of Detroit and Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt of New York are arriving today to be guests at the Solomon A. Smith residence in Lake Forest over the week-end. The races at Arlington are attracting the trio west, for the Algers have their horse Azucar and Mr. Vanderbilt has his Discovery entered in the Arlington handicap tomorrow.

Mrs. Alger's sister, the former Louise Dewey, and her husband, Edward Byron Smith, are with his parents in Lake Forest until they leave for the east to sail next Wednesday on the Normandie for a fortnight's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, at their lovely home in Normandy. The Deweys will be away until autumn.

Winning three daily doubles in succession is the record of Mrs. Edward J. White of Pasadena, Cal., who with her daughters, Miss Constance and Mrs. John Blankenhorn, are almost daily visitors at Arlington. Mrs. White picked the winners in the daily doubles on Classic day and again on Monday and Tuesday of this week, so it was no wonder she was beaming yesterday. The White family has an apartment in town for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Connors of Lake Forest will entertain at dinner tonight for Mr. and Mrs. Sevier Bonnie of Louisville, Ky., who will be the Connorses' week-end guests, and for Mr. and Mrs. Russell Forgan of New York, who have come west to spend the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. T. Clifford Rodman. There will be a lot of informal entertaining for these visitors tomorrow and Sunday, and BREMEN, Germany.—Mid-afternoon today the Bremen steamed up the swift flowing Weser river and came to dock, escorted by several puffing tugs and hundreds of sea gulls. The pier was lined with waiting friends and relatives carrying bouquets of flowers, and long before the gangplanks were put out, voyagers leaning over the rails had made out the faces of loved ones on shore. There was much frantic waving and shouting of names. One unfortunate gentleman was conspicuous because of the great sign he carried affixed to a stick. It read "Herzlich Willkommen" ("Hearty Welcome"), and he seemed unable to find the voyagers he had arrived to greet.

OUR passports inspected, and our luggage claimed, we sat on it in the broiling sun waiting for our car to be lifted over the side of the ship by the great derrick. Car after car appeared, hung suspended against the sky for a moment, then was carefully dropped to shore. An hour passed, and a dock hand finally informed us there were only three more cars on board. One, two, three, they were slowly lowered to the wharf. None was ours, and, horror stricken, we were wondering if it were still on the dock in New York, when a burly dock hand called over the rail, "Noch ein automobile." We beamed in relief, and a few minutes later it, too, was dropped ashore.

* *

THE road from Bremerhaven, the daughter port where the ships dock, to the old Hanseatic town of Bremen is lined with poplars and elms, and goes through flat, green land that is reminiscent of Holland. Holsteins grazed in the fields, innumerable hay carts were on the road, and many of the farm houses were red brick with thatched roofs. A windmill turning slowly added to the impression that this country is much like Holland. We stopped for refreshment at a bier-stube with a thatched roof and found it filled with school children, a whole busload of them, drinking the German version of pop and eating buns. They were on their way back to Hanover after a visit to Bremerhaven to see the great port and the gigantic ships which carry the flag of Bremen to all corners of the world.

* *

THE sun was setting behind the twin spires of the Dom, the cathedral erected in the 12th century as a basilica and since added to, as we drove into the market place with its ancient and beautiful buildings. It gilded the statue of Roland the Giant which has stood there since 1404, and even at that early date replaced an earlier statue of wood, we are told. The figure of Roland, who was the nephew of Charlemagne, as you probably know, was adopted by north German towns as a symbol of civic liberty and municipal jurisdiction. On another side of the square stands a tall, white wooden shaft, painted on four sides with the swastika of the Germany of Hitler.

Fashion Show Includes Styles of Other Days

BY MARCIA WINN.

Gowns worn by prominent Chicagoans during Chicago's historic past will parade down the runway side by side with gowns which will be worn in Chicago during the winter of 1935-'36 when the semi-annual style show sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce opens at the Hotel Sherman Monday night.

A foretaste of this spectacle was given yesterday at a dress rehersal in the grand ballroom of the hotel. The show, a feature of the 28th semi-annual convention of the Interstate Merchants' council, will be repeated Aug. 7, Aug. 12, and Aug. 14, before an estimated total audience of 25,000 clothing buyers.

"Contrast is what we are emphasizing," explained Oney A. Fink, manager of the show for the fifth successive year. "Contrasts of the past 80 years."

As he spoke, out stepped a platinum blonde model wearing a sheathlike dinner dress of silver sequins. Its lines were slinky and clinging, its neck was high in the front, with a deep décolletage, its skirt was split, and the sleeves, open at the arm pit, were attached to the neck by a hook.

Behind her came a tall, dark model. The dress she wore was of rose velvet and heavily embroidered ivory taffeta. The neck dropped far off the shoulders. Its heavy skirt trailed on the floor, and an ivory satin bustle firmly concealed all traces of the feminine figure beneath.

"That silver one," gestured Mr. Fink, "is a 1935 formal. The other was worn by Mrs. Nettie Fowler McCormick in 1855."

Among the other historic costumes, all loaned by the Chicago Historical society, which will be shown alongside coming fashions, is a trailing gown of creamy Battenburg lace, worn by Mrs. Potter Palmer in 1893 at the formal opening of her home on Lake Shore drive, a dress of the post-civil war period worn by Mrs. George M. Pullman and a dress worn by Mrs. John Winterbotham in 1928-'29.

In addition to depicting the changes wrought by time in gowns, the style show will display contrasts wrought in foundation garments. In this group, a model modestly arrayed in the petticoated-pantaletted barrel arrangement of civil war days will parade beside a scanty elastic foundation garment of 1935.

Some 45 models will display approximately 350 new fall and winter garments, the bulk of them the products of Chicago designers. One group will feature dresses designed in Chicago from fabrics created by Chicago concerns. Lounging pajamas and service garments, ranging from maid to chauffeur, will be shown for the first time.

Coats shown at the rehersal were swagger or circular backs. One suit, with a long moleskin jacket, showed a skirt with a deep flounce of the moleskin. Dinner dresses and formal evening gowns alike featured the high neckline.

Field's Chorus Makes Bow at Park Concerts

New Feature Welcomed by Great Audience.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

A new feature in the Grant park concerts appeared last night during the first part of the program of P. A. Cavallo's Symphonic band when the Marshall Field & Co. Choral society of about 200 took an active part in the music to the evident enjoyment of another great audience.

A well performed group of three numbers was the choral share of the entertainment. The first was a paraphrase for chorus and band of Friml's "Indian Love Call," arranged and conducted by P. A. Cavallo Jr., who not only is a good transcriber but would seem to have much of the lively verve of his father as conductor.

Then Edgar Nelson, the choral society's regular conductor, came to the stage and directed an unfamiliar but charming piece by Stephen A. Foster, "I Dream of Jeanie," without accompaniment, and Easthop Martin's "Come to the Fair" for chorus and band accompaniment.

Elsewhere Mr. Cavallo Sr., with all the spirit in the world, took the band through the prelude to the third act of Wagner's "Lohengrin," Tschaikowsky's "1812" Overture, a set of operatic excerpts dedicated to Robert J. Dunham, president of the park district, and several other similar numbers.

The newly installed amplification system was in operation, and it was all that its exponents hoped. One can go any place, as far away as the Field museum, so long as trafic noises do not interfere, and hear practically every note.

The Chicago Opera orchestra will play tonight under the direction of Dino Bigalli, and with Ada Belle Files, contralto, and Elizabeth Rushmore, soprano, as soloists. The program:

1. Overture—"Forza del Destino"....Verdi
2. Dance of the Ondine....Catalani
3. [a] Aria—"Printemps qui commence" from "Sampson"....Saint-Saens
   [Ada Belle Files.]

"THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER."

It is a good thing to hear a person talk about modern music as Rudolph Ganz talked about it in the Sonotone theater yesterday morning. For Mr. Ganz is able to take a detached, historical viewpoint, without prejudice in favor of either the old or the new schools, and at the same time with authoritative knowledge and witty treatment of his knowledge.

Realizing, as the most observant students of the situation do, that musical development works in cycles, he demands only of the new technic of music that it shall have something to say, to be expressive in the same degree, though necessarily not in the same manner, as the older methods. One takes that to be a completely sane and wise approach to the subject.

He was assisted by Mary Ann Kaufman Brown, soprano, an artist with both voice and brains who sang songs of the present age that ranged from interesting to charming. One, from the pen of Mr. Ganz himself, had an accompaniment consisting only of strokes on the single B flat of the piano, and turned out to be uncommonly effective. Others were by Honegger, Wellesz, Stravinsky, Goossens, and Gruenberg.

Late Summer Shopping Gives Hints of Fall

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The last clothes of summer do unexpected things for your flagging shopping enthusiasm. They show the first hints of what you will wear this fall. They feature all the tricky new ideas about draping, skirt fullness [where and how you'll be obliged to reduce], all the best of the big sleeves, shorter skirts and youthful freshness.

After weeks of pastels and all whites, days of summery cottons and sheers, the first of the black dresses manage to intrigue the most jaded shopper. Worn with dead white gloves, with a snappy white felt hat with just a wisp of wicked black veiling, they become a sophisticated ensemble. And they are cool, for rows of fagoting, bands of the material appliqued on yokes of net or chiffon, or insets of sheer fabrics assure this necessary coolness.

You'll find lots of short sleeves, lots of white accents such as bows and cuffs and collars and if you find all black numbers that you like you can find stunning assortments of sheer white bits of neckwear to use for contrast.

Some of the first fall suits have arrived, black beauties of dull crêpe enlivened with trim of shiny black satin. These new clothes come in the popular two piece models, a short sleeved slim dress and a separate fitted jacket. There is one trimmed with dozens of twinkling black jet buttons, another with glittering cut steel discs and all of them feature the new snugly fitted through the rib section silhouette.

The Ortega Feud

By Marie De Nervaud

SYNOPSIS.

Chris Jackson is sent by Bill Benton, new sherif of Monterey county, in early Spanish California, to put an end to the Ortega-Alvado feud, which has resulted in many murders. Chris encounters Guido Ortega, Ramon, his dare-devil son, and Ysabel, his beautiful, sad eyed niece. He falls in love with Ysabel at first sight, and has a quarrel with Ramon and publicly spanks him. He receives a note from Ysabel, hinting of a mysterious danger and begging his aid. Chris camps in a canyon on the northern boundary of the Alvado ranch. He is advised by Rocky, an old Indian hunter, to leave the country. Next day Chris meets Francesca Alvado, flirtatious Spanish beauty. He tells her of his encounter with Ramon Ortega. It wins him welcome at the Alvado ranch. He is invited to a rodeo to be held there in a week. During the rodeo the warring families hold a traditional three day truce. Ysabel Ortega is facing a forced marriage with her cousin, Ramon. Her uncle refuses to tell her the secret of her birth, as he had promised to do on her 18th birthday. She appeals to Rocky, who promises to delay the priest's arrival. José Alvado, in love with Ysabel, ventures to the Ortega ranch and is held a hostage. The Ortegas arrive at the Alvado ranch for the rodeo. Francesca is jealous of Ysabel and hints to her that she is engaged to Chris. Chris is bewildered by Ysabel's coolness. The night of the rodeo ball Ysabel's uncle allows her to wear her mother's jewels. She plans to escape at dawn with Rocky's aid. Before she is able to carry out her plans the Ortegas have her kidnaped and sent back to their ranch where she is imprisoned in a cell-like room. In an old chest in the room Ysabel discovers a secret panel which contains a letter from her mother. Ysabel learns that she is not Guido Ortega's niece. Her mother was the daughter of an Alvado who had eloped with an Ortega. Ysabel is heir to both ranches. Chris and Rocky learn of Ysabel's disappearance and set out in pursuit. They break into the Ortega ranch and rescue both Ysabel and José Alvado. They return with all speed to the Alvado ranch, Ysabel determined to avenge her mother.

INSTALMENT XLI.

JUDGMENT.

Concluding that Ysabel's nerves had given under the strain, Chris forced himself to be content with that faltering "not yet," and pushed ahead at top speed without pursuing the argument.

After two hours steady going, Chris judged that they must be nearing the boundary of the Ortega ranch, and pulled up to wait for Rocky.

"One of us had better go ahead and see that no more of the Ortega vaqueros have joined the two we left hog tied there," he called back as the unwieldy shape of the two riders on Rocky's horse loomed up through the darkness.

"Let me go!" José Alvado sprang down and reached a hand up to Rocky. "I am the one to deal with any Ortegas! Give me your gun!"

"No! You are not the one to go!" They all started with surprise at Ysabel's ringing voice. "There are to be no more encounters between the Ortegas and the Alvados! The feud is ended!"

"Ended?" José turned fiercely to Ysabel. "Never! I know now that it was Ramon Ortega who killed my brother! In those days when I was prisoner in that shed, I learned to hate as I never hated before!"

"Shed?" As Ysabel repeated this word a memory flashed into her mind of the moaning sound she had heard coming from the shed that morning that she had said farewell to the ranch before going to the rodeo. "You mean—you were there all that time? But how—how did you come there in the first place?"

"Fool that I was, I came to see you." José's voice was bitter. "They caught me, knocked me out, and carried me to the shed. But I came to before they knew and heard a vaquero say to Ramon Ortega, 'Why not kill this second whelp as you did the youngest of the litter?' and Ramon Ortega replied, 'Because we have other uses for this one. As a hostage he is worth more alive than dead.' They left me there and it was only yesterday that they transferred my prison to the hacienda, giving me food and water for the first time. Dios! How I have suffered! And you tell me the feud is ended!"

"Listen! And then you will understand why I say the feud is ended!"

She faced the three shadowy shapes in the darkness, the two men on horseback and José on foot, and in a rush of words poured her mother's story.

"With this letter," with dramatic intensity she laid her hand on her breast where the letter lay concealed, "I will confront him! All of the range will know him for the murderer he is!"

The astounded silence that greeted Ysabel's revelations was broken by José.

"Caramba! Then you—you are my cousin, and the heir to the Alvado ranch!"

"I am going to relinquish all claim to the Alvado ranch," Ysabel said, "but I will claim the Ortega ranch, and that is why I say the feud is ended. Guido Ortega and Ramon will pay the penalty of their crimes, and my condition to the Alvados for relinquishing my claim to their ranch will be that the feud shall end."

Rocky was the first to voice a really coherent grasp of the situation.

"I reckon you've thought it out mighty well, Ysabel, except for one thing. There's no sense in going back to the Alvado ranch. The time's come now to bring the law down here, but we want to get you out first." He looked down at José, who was still speechless and stunned by Ysabel's tale, and added with a more pronounced drawl than ever, "It turns out Ysabel's name isn't Ortega; but if I'm anything of a prophet," his shoulders shook with his silent laugh, "it won't be long before it will be Jackson!"

"Rocky!" Ysabel's gasp held more embarrassment than protest, then was stifled altogether as Chris flung himself off Bingo and took her in his arms.

"You never made a truer prophecy, Rocky!" He held Ysabel so close that she had no chance to speak. "We'll keep straight on to the Carmel mission and be married. You and José wait in the mountains until I come back and then we'll deal with the Ortegas."

"No, no!" Ysabel struggled out of his arms, "they must be dealt with at the rodeo tonight! If you are not man enough to avenge my mother, then I will never marry you!"

"Easy, there!" Rocky broke in before Chris could answer. "He's got a better way of avenging your mother than murdering in cold blood! There's been enough of that. I said it was time to get the law down here. Well, it's here already! Chris is the deputy sherif of Monterey county." He looked over at Chris. "I reckon it's about time to throw off your disguise, son."

"You're right!" Chris broke in on Ysabel's astonished cry and José's amazed "caramba!" "There's enough evidence to slip the bracelets on that pair, and there's no time like the present."

Chris gently pulled Ysabel toward him as Rocky's horse disappeared around a curve in the trail, but she held back, her deep black eyes straining to see his in the darkness.

"Then—you—Francesca was lying when she made me think——"

The lights streamed out from the hacienda windows and gay voices mingled with the strains of the music, as the four silent figures dismounted and made their way toward the scene of revelry.

The final dance of the rodeo always lasts until dawn, and it was evident that this was no exception to the general rule, and that the festivities were in full swing.

"They won't have their guns at the dance," Rocky had outlined the scheme of attack, "but there'll be plenty of knives handy. It's up to us to keep the drop on them until Ysabel's told her story. After that José and I will keep Guido Ortega and Ramon covered until you have handcuffed them."

"It's so hot I can hardly breathe," Ysabel clutched nervously at Chris' arm, as they neared the steps. "What makes it so stifling?"

Rocky sniffed at the breathless, sultry air. "If it was back in the mountains, I'd say it was brewing a thunderstorm. Ssh! Keep still now until I give the signal to go in!"

In a palpitating silence they waited for the music of the dance to cease. The minute it did Rocky raised his hand and the four of them ran in the front hall, and crowded into the doorway of the dancing sala, while Chris fired a shot through the ceiling to focus attention on them, then leveled his gun on the astonished company. Rocky's and José's guns, too, were in their hands.

"Nothing to worry about." It had been agreed that he was to be the spokesman. "We've got a story we want you to hear, and then I reckon you'll all agree on the action we're going to take. Drop it!" These last two words clipped out like a pistol shot as Chris saw Guido Ortega's hand steal to his belt.

RETAIL PRICES OF GROCERIES SHOW SLIGHT CHANGES

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Food shoppers in Chicago and suburban stores will find few price changes today and tomorrow from those quoted last week. Prices are lower on about a dozen staple items, while flour, bananas, fresh cherries, and most kinds of fresh fish are higher than a week ago in many stores.

Most of the bargains for this weekend will be found among the seasonal fruits and vegetables. Cantaloupes and fresh peaches are lower than last week. Both are considered reasonable for this season of the year and wholesale receipts have been liberal during the last few days. The peaches are small. Market reporters say this is due to an unusually thick set on the trees in Georgia orchards, the chief source of supply.

Tomatoes Quoted Lower.

Price tags have been marked down since last week on head lettuce and fresh tomatoes. Heavy shipments of western lettuce to all the larger terminal markets have forced down retail prices. There is a noticeable improvement in the quality. Many of the tomatoes now are coming from Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Ohio. Shipments were received this week from as far north as Joliet and Sterling, Ill.

Most of the fresh berries are coming from Michigan. Recent rains in that section have caused some kinds, especially raspberries, to arrive in poor condition.

Roasting Ears Plentiful.

Roasting ears from central Illinois fields reached Chicago stores this week for the first time this season. Receipts have been heavy enough during the last few days to supply the local demand and virtually have eliminated shipments from distant southern points.

Fresh peas and beans, carrots, honeydew melons, and sugar are lower in most stores than last week.

Despite many changes, both up and down, in live stock and wholesale meat prices, few changes in retail prices were marked up on the tags in butcher shops this week.

Hogs Are Getting Scarcer.

Hog receipts on central markets are about half that of last year. Live hogs sold at about 25 cents a hundred pounds higher the latter part of this week, although they went up approximately 50 cents a hundred pounds the first of the week. Hogs went up for a stretch of more than two weeks, then took a drop, but still are 75 cents a hundred pounds higher. Pork loins in the wholesale market are from 50 cents to $1 a hundred lower than last week, according to J. S. Campbell, government reporter.

Today and tomorrow shoppers will find beef retail prices about the same as a week ago. Down at the stockyards good to choice steers are selling at about 25 cents a hundred pounds above last week's level, but the medium and lower grades are off 25 to 50 cents. Good to choice wholesale beef is about the same as last week. The medium and lower carcasses are 50 cents to $1 a hundred pounds lower.

Leg of Lamb Prices Drop.

Fresh leg of lamb is one of the few retail meat cuts that butchers have reduced since last week. This was expected because wholesale fresh lamb is 50 cents a hundred pounds lower. Fat lambs are quoted "strong to 25 cents a hundred pounds higher" than last week, according to market reporters.

In most retail shops fresh perch is slightly lower than last week, while most other kinds of fresh fish are up. Fryers today and tomorrow will be found several cents a pound lower than last week, and stewing chickens only a few cents lower.

COOLING MEALS, NOT COLD ONES, SUMMER'S BEST

As the thermometer climbs, the ambition to prepare big meals goes down. Cool meals are the solution. Not cold meals, but cooling ones, nicely balanced for cold and hot, for milk and spicy flavors, for crisp and not so crisp foods.

The list of sausages and canned meats is a long and interesting one and should be drawn upon in planning summer menus. Popular among these are salami, Braunschweiger, Thuringer, and summer sausages; meat loaves, canned pigs feet, Vienna sausages, corned beef, hams, and dried beef.

Keep some on hand and see what an aid they'll be in preparing meals such as these:

Iced Pineapple Juice, Minted

French Dressing
Buttered Carrots with Chopped Chives

Competing Schools Offer Methods.

"Can she make a cherry pie, Billy boy?" is a question that still puts many a housewife to a test. Not only cherry pie, but blackberry, blueberry, gooseberry, plum, peach, and all the rest of the summer fruit pies are to be considered.

The making of fruit pies is indeed an art, and there are two methods of making these good fruit pies, according to Aneta Beadle of Purdue university.

Here Is One Way.

One school of pie making says: "Line your pan with a thin sheet of dough big enough to come fully over the edge of the pan. Put in the fresh fruit, sweetened, dot with butter, and sprinkle with a little flour. Moisten the edge of the bottom layer of dough, and cover the pie with another thin sheet of dough.

"Slash openings that will let the steam out of the pie as it cooks. Press the edges of the dough together and crimp them, either with your fingers or a fork, and slip the pie immediately into a hot oven [400-450 degrees F.]. After 15 minutes lower heat to moderate oven and cook until the pie is nicely browned."

Still Another School.

The other school of pie making says to bake the bottom pastry shell before you put in the juicy fruit [we are not talking of apple pie now]. Bake just until it begins to brown. Heat the fruit until the juice begins to flow.

Strain off the juice and add a little cornstarch well mixed with sugar, and cook this mixture until it thickens. Then stir the fruit itself into the thickened juice. Put this filling into the baked pastry shell, cover with dough, and bake in moderate oven [375-400 degrees F.]. A little paper funnel in the top crust will prevent the juice from boiling over.

Another question comes on the kind of thickening for your pie. Some cooks say flour rather than cornstarch. Still another kind of thickening is tapioca. To make your pie filling with tapioca you can simply let the fresh fruit stand in some sugar, with a little tapioca sprinkled in. The sugar draws out the fruit juice and sweetens the pie, and the tapioca thickens the juice.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Always test your fruit before you make jams and jellies. If it seems to lack tartness, add ¼ cup lemon juice when you add the sugar.

VEGETABLES AND BRAZIL NUTS A NEW ENSEMBLE

Flavors Complement Each Other Deliciously.

"Hostessing with Sunday Suppers," a booklet of menus and recipes for light evening lunches, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

There's no reason why fruit plates, even in all their chilly and colorful splendor, need to absorb all of our warm weather attention. What about those fresh vegetable plates for which we hungered this spring when our palates were hankering for fresh flavors?

We've been trying out a couple of new-ish vegetable combinations for the summer luncheon or dinner plate that bless the name of the Brazil nut. Some way these firm white nuts complement fresh vegetable flavors in almost miraculous fashion—and they do add both fat and protein to the meal.

For instance, onions with Brazil nut stuffing make an interesting and substantial main dish for the vegetable platter. For this select mildly flavored white onions (Bermuda or Spanish) of about medium size. Cook these in boiling salted water until partly tender, then drain and remove the center pulp, keeping the outside intact. Chop the pulp and add twice its quantity of chopped Brazil nuts and soft bread crums. Season with salt, pepper, paprika, and a bit of butter. Fill the onions and top each one with a whole Brazil nut meat wrapped in a bit of bacon. Bake for 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

With the stuffed onions you might decide to serve a baked potato, slivered green beans, sliced tomatoes in a lettuce cup, and a sweet spiced relish. At any rate, that makes a good combination—one that will do until you think up a better one.

A second possible combination is Spanish spinach (which uses browned Brazil nuts to grand advantage) with broiled tomato slices, buttered carrots, and cole slaw. The spinach is prepared like this:

Wash well and cook in as little water as possible one-quarter to one-half peck of fresh spinach. Drain thoroughly and chop finely. Place the spinach in a hot skillet with two tablespoons of butter and four tablespoons of chopped Brazil nuts. Stir over low heat while the nuts brown slightly and then add two tablespoons of flour and continue stirring until well mixed. Pour in slowly one cup of milk and simmer until nicely thickened. Serve with a sprinkling of grated cheese.

Into small summer squash go these same nuts with equally delightful results. They're prepared simply by steaming the squash until tender, then cutting each in half. Scoop out the centers of the vegetable, mash, and season with melted butter, salt, and pepper, and mix with a small amount of chopped Brazil nuts. The shells are then refilled with the mixture, sprinkled with additional nut meats, and returned to the oven to brown.

With the squash here's a suggested vegetable plate dinner we found most tempting: Small new potatoes browned in butter; small whole beets, buttered and rolled in chopped fresh mint, and sliced fluted cucumbers on a bed of watercress or lettuce.

POT ROAST OF BEEF BEST BUY FOR WEEK-END

For the guidance of housewives purchasing meat in Chicago retail meat stores the committee on marketing information of the Meat Council of Chicago yesterday issued the following report:

"Pot roast of beef is recommended to Chicago housewives as the most economical meat buy this week-end. Prices of shoulder pot roast of beef are now at levels which make them an unusually attractive buy. Noticeable declines in the prices of this cut have occurred in recent weeks."

ICED MINT CHOCOLATE.

½ cup water
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
1½ cups unsweetened evaporated milk
¼ teaspoon vanilla
⅛ teaspoon peppermint flavoring
Crushed ice

Simmer the chocolate and water together until well blended and slightly thickened, stirring all the while. Remove it from the burner and add the salt and sugar, continuing the beating until the sugar is completely dissolved. Then pour in the milk and flavorings and beat with a rotary beater until perfectly blended and foamy. Pour over crushed ice and serve at once.

PEACH KUCHEN.

2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
4 teaspoons butter
1 teaspoon cinnamon
6 to 8 peaches
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg
¾ cup milk
¼ cup sugar

Make a crust by sifting the flour, baking powder, and salt together. Cut in the butter and add beaten egg and sweet milk to make a soft dough. Turn the dough out into a greased baking tin. Cover with peaches cut into eighths and sprinkle with a little cinnamon and sugar. Bake in a quick oven [400 degrees F.] until crust and peaches are both a light brown. Sprinkle with more sugar, keep in the oven five minutes more, and then serve.

RAISE MEMORIAL FUND AS TRIBUTE TO JANE ADDAMS

More than 25,000 letters requesting contributions to the Jane Addams memorial fund have been sent out from Hull house within the last week, it was announced yesterday by Kennicott Brenton, executive secretary of the fund. The income from the fund is to be used to help finance the work in behalf of underprivileged persons at Hull house, whch was founded and directed by Miss Addams for 46 years until her death last May 21.

The letters have been mailed to people who have donated to the upkeep of Hull house in the past and to friends of Miss Addams and social service workers. The present endowment fund, totaling $575,000, produces an annual income of about $30,000, which the directors have stated does not meet the needs of Hull house. During Miss Addams' life she turned over to the settlement virtually all of the money she realized from her lectures and books.

Brenton said there is about $30,000 now in the memorial fund. This fund was decided upon as the most fitting monument to Miss Addams.

SWEET POTATO CULLS USED TO MAKE STARCH

Scientists recently have been experimenting with making sweet potato starch of the culls which could not be put on the market. The starch is the type used as "sizing" in glossy sheets and dress goods. The yellow color first had to be eliminated and a satisfactory method of manufacturing the starch worked out.

MEALS PLANNED TO AVOID EXTRA TOIL IN SUMMER

Menu Can Be Arranged to Suit All Ages.

Mothers with small children may avoid extra cooking, especially during hot weather, by planning meals to suit all ages in the family, says the New York State College of Home Economics. Although the food must be simple, it does not mean reliance on "baby food."

For these family meals remember a few simple rules about food for the youngster from 2 to 6 years old. Of course the so-called protective foods—namely, milk, eggs, fruits, and vegetables, should be present each day in the meals for the whole family as well as for small children.

Milk, three-fourths to a quart daily, should be served the children as a beverage, in cereal, with vegetables, or in soups and simple desserts. Eggs should be coddled, soft cooked, poached, or used in puddings, custards, and like dishes.

Exercise Care with Vegetables.

Any well cooked vegetable may be given, but for the 2 year old corn and dried beans should be put through a sieve, and peas, string beans, cabbage, and like vegetables should be chopped or mashed fine.

Vegetables, commonly used uncooked, also are good for the child with no digestive upsets if chopped fine. Any cooked fruit, except berries, may be given, but apples and such fruits should be scraped for the 2 year old, and oranges, tomatoes, or other citrus fruits should be served once a day.

Beware of Rich Seasoning.

Lamb, beef and chicken may be given several times a week and fish once a week, but the serving should be small. Each day the child should have one serving of whole grain breakfast food or bread.

When the family is to have fruit pie, give the child some of the fruit filling, but none of the pastry for his dessert. Fruits and simple desserts listed provide enough sweets, but sponge cake and cookies may be given occasionally.

Fried or highly seasoned food, pickles, coffee or tea, and strong cocoa should not be given to small children. If such highly seasoned foods as a spiced pudding are planned for the family meal prepare a portion without spices for the youngster.

Sunshine, although not a food, is important, especially when the child is not given cod liver oil or some other source of vitamin D during the summer.

EXPERTS STUDY WHY MEATS ARE TOUGH OR TENDER

3 Day Conference Covers 'from Pen to Platter.'

In committee groups at the Palmer house yesterday research workers in animal husbandry and home economics were discussing their last year's studies in meat, covering every phase from the "pen to the platter," preliminary to revealing results in sessions today and tomorrow of the coöperative meat investigations.

This group was initiated in 1924 by the national live stock and meat board. The chairman is W. C. Coffey, dean of the department of agriculture of the University of Minnesota. Coöperating are state agricultural experiment stations throughout the country and the United States department of agriculture.

Facts Replace Guesswork.

"Theories and guesswork as to the factors which are associated with quality and palatability in meat are giving way to positive facts as a result of this research work," said Dean Coffey. "Hundreds of cattle, hogs, and sheep are being used in the intensive experimental work being carried on. We now have definite facts showing how meat quality and palatability are affected by various factors."

Controled cookery experiments have been carried on, according to Dean Coffey, that are bringing about a "veritable revolution" in meat cookery methods. Thousands of roasts from the experimental animals are prepared yearly in the home economics laboratories of the coöperating institutions and are tested by expert judges. Progress in this work will be presented at the conferences.

Valuable Tips for All Concerned.

Another subject at the conference will be the relation of breed of meat animal, age, sex, feeding rations, and other factors to the meat produced. All of these studies in the coöperative investigations, according to R. C. Pollock, general manager of the live stock and meat board, have unearthed a wealth of practical facts of value to producers, marketing agencies, processors, and consumers alike.

Today has been set apart for a discussion of lard problems. The program tomorrow features an address by Dr. Leo K. Campbell of Rush Medical college, who has completed studies on whether meat eating has any effect on kidney action.

"The great objective in this work," said Dean Coffey, "is to suggest to the live stock producer the methods which are best adapted to the production of a quality of meat the consumer likes to buy."

Assign a Cop to Keep Marx Team on Job

His Job Is to Be Sure They Stay on Set.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 25.—[Special.]—A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio policeman has been assigned to guard the set where the Marx Brothers are shooting their comedy "A Night at the Opera."

The policeman is there not to keep visitors from getting in but to keep the Marxes from getting out. The studio says the brothers Groucho, Chico and Harpo have a weakness for vanishing just thirty seconds before their film director is ready to shoot.

The special policeman is to do double duty and receive double salary for a week starting tomorrow night when he begins guarding the four principals in Hollywood's most heated bridge tournament against interruption by kibitzers. The bridge teams are headed by Capt. Chico Marx and Capt. Hunt Stromberg and are playing against each other in a special match for side stakes amounting to a small fortune.

The bridge game starts at Producer Stromberg's home, the second installment is scheduled in the home of Producer Irving Thalberg and Actress Norma Shearer over the week-end, and final instalments will be played off next week. Neither Miss Shearer nor Thalberg will be allowed to kibitz any of the hands played at their home.

Ted Lewis' illness turns out to be of more consequence than at first declared, the bandmaster remaining in the hospital with no one allowed to see him but his wife—not even his manager, Milton Pickman. His illness is due to a stomach condition.

Paul Gerard Smith, the comedy playwright and scenarist, has taken up woodwork as a hobby and is so professional at it that he has furnished the entire office of Agent Webber with office furniture. Smith, a former Ravenswood, Chicago, boy, recently received 8 weeks' pay and a bonus for a scenario which he turned out for Fox in little more than a week. His speed enabled the studio to save a lot of overhead cost in getting an early start with the cast and camera.

Kay Francis has leased Bill Hart's old estate in Hollywood with frontage of 250 feet both on Sunset boulevard and De Longpre avenue. She is refitting the rambling house to suit herself. Hart lived there in his heyday as the "Two Gun Man" of films, but in recent years has been a resident of Newhall, Cal., on a hilltop ranch.

Nat Pendleton, reformed wrestler—if it can be considered "reform" to shift from professional grappling to acknowledged acting—had a Filipino houseboy who was his pride. Last Monday Pendleton gave a dinner for a collection of friends and directed Pedro to don a mess jacket for style.

Pedro was going good until Ted Healy showed up wearing a sweat shirt, whereupon the houseboy became indignant and took off the mess jacket saying style was not needed to serve guests who came dressed like Healy. Pendleton fired the boy and yesterday hired an elderly Chinese, a wonderful cook, to replace him. Pendleton, however, had occasion to phone his home and couldn't understand anything the new servant said. Coming home he discovered the Chinaman had no teeth and therefore could not talk plainly. So Nat has to buy him false teeth in order to have some one at home who can answer the phone.

Bolton Mallory, writer, who is just being shed by Nancy Carroll as husband, via Reno, has moved to Acapulco, Mexico, and writes that he intends to stay there. He first went south to the Mexican west coast with Wallace Smith, the author-illustrator, almost a year ago and liked it so well he stayed there. Even a recent illness with food poisoning, now conquered, couldn't scare Mallory back to the United States.

Joan Crawford has started a new fad and many hope it catches on. She appeared in public yesterday with her fingernails devoid of glittering nail polish. Now many other girls are scrubbing the maroon, carmine, rose and purple nail tint off their finger tips.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

When you find a sunburn preventive that actually works for the tender skinned "brethren and sistren" it is pretty safe to assume that it will also turn the trick for less sensitive skins.

One of our trusting comrades, fair of hair and blue of eye, lays claim to one of those skins that become painfully sore and unbecomingly rosy on the slightest provocation from sun or wind. Yet, in spite of two consecutive week-ends at the dunes, she is neither pink nor uncomfortable—and has decided that being a cosmetic guinea pig does have its compensations, after all!

Loud and enthusiastic are her praises for the product that she used. It's a creamy white lotion, smooth in consistency, and very easy to apply. Readily absorbed, it disappears without an excessive amount of rubbing in, leaving the skin a bit softer than before the application, but without any trace of greasiness. One grand advantage in this characteristic is that it can be used equally well on the face, followed by makeup, or not, as you choose. Moreover, it is an excellent lotion to use when preparing for an afternoon of golf, or tennis, or motoring, when clothing might be stained by an oily fluid.

Its odor is quite delightful—fresh, not too sweet, and without any tendency to become cloying, even when warmed by the sun. As a matter of fact you are conscious of it only when it is first applied, for it is very light.

This is not one of those products that lay claim to an ability to prevent tanning altogether, but is for those who wish to become acknowledged sun worshipers painlessly. If you're planning a sunny week-end the white bottle, black capped, is a handy size to pack away in suitcase or beach bag—and the ounce of prevention story is at its truest in matters pertaining to sunburn! M. S.

Sally's Guests Have a Grand Theater Party

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

They were excited, and why wouldn't they be? Many of them were in a big loop theater for the first time; they were all proud of having won their own invitations.

Armed with individual boxes of candy the youngsters filed proudly into the cool theater to the special seats which had been reserved for us, thanks to the efforts of John Joseph and Frank Smith. Just as soon as we were comfortably seated the feature film, "Old Man Rhythm," started, and was accorded wholehearted attention from beginning to end.

The youngsters were all glad to see Buddy Rogers again — particularly when most of them remembered the parties he himself had given for us on other occasions. The cast is full of gay young folks who sing and dance and have a grand time generally. The episode during which George Barbier had to push a peanut down the sidewalk with his nose was greeted with howls of laughter—and the tale about the fleas amused the children greatly.

Then came the gay, colorful stage show which included a number of famous Broadway stars and brought storms of laughter and applause from the audience. The performers were even kind enough to put on special numbers for us, all of which was very thrilling.

After three solid hours of very swell entertainment we topped our treat with ice cream, which brought the youngsters to the end of a just about perfect day!

Dinner-Dance as a Welcome to Ruth Fisher

while the races at Arlington will claim their attention this afternoon and tomorrow, the dinner-dance at the Onwentsia club tomorrow night and golfing there on Sunday will provide a variety in amusement.

Mrs. C. Morse Ely to Give House Party.

There may be gayer house parties at Charlevoix during the season than the one Mrs. C. Morse Ely will have starting next Friday, but we doubt it, for when six congenial women get together for five or six days of good times they play whole-heartedly.

Mrs. Charles K. Foster, Mrs. Albert B. Dick, Miss Cornelia Scott, Mrs. Keene Addington and Mrs. Samuel T. Chase will be Mrs. Ely's house guests. They all will leave Lake Forest next Thursday to motor to the northern Michigan resort where Mrs. Ely has a cottage on the Chicago club grounds.

This will be the first time Mrs. Chase has torn herself away for any length of time from her newest granddaughter, the baby who was born to the Frederick Haucks about four weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Hauck and little Miss Hauck, so far without a given name because her parents were so certain she was going to be a boy, will be with Mr. and Mrs. Chase in Lake Forest until September when they will move to New York.

Albert A. Spragues Win Golf Match.

The names of Col. and Mrs. Albert A. Sprague will be engraved on the Benedict cup of the Onwentsia club for they were the winners yesterday in the annual tournament for this cup which was presented to the club by the late L. Hamilton McCormick in 1896. The original cup was used for years and then there was no more room for the winners' names so the Stanley Keiths contributed a new cup in 1928. More recently Edward I. Cudahy contributed a new cup which last year had the names of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Chandler added to its lengthening list.

Some of the other husbands and wives who played in the match yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. Mason Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Winter, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin II., Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McLaughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald P. Boardman, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert E. Porter III, the Buford L. Porters and the John T. Piries.

Chicago Golf Club Party Tomorrow.

The Chicago Golf club in Wheaton has announcements out for an informal "get-together" party tomorrow night. The cards promise that "the music, furnished by an expert at the piano, will make you want to sing or dance, or both perhaps," and that "an excellent dinner, with no extra charge, planned by Tony, will make you wonder why you ever eat anywhere else." Reminders to keep the evening of Saturday, Aug. 3, open for the annual swimming pool party are included in the announcements.

John R. Hurley, chairman of the committee in charge of the pool party, isn't sure yet just what sort of a party it will be, or even if it will be a pool party, for the club has had such sad experience in planning dinner-dances around the pool that some thrifty and conservative souls think it best to forget such plans this year.

But others, remembering what very festive occasions previous pool parties have been, insist that it is worth taking a chance on the weather and moving the dinner tables out to the wide brick walk that surrounds the spacious pool, and laying the dance floor that is used for outdoor dancing, hoping that the night of Aug. 3 will be as beautiful as those of the last week have been.

Heretofore there have been no exhibition swimmers or divers at the pool parties at the Chicago Golf club, but there is talk of having some this year. Nor do the members go in the pool at the annual swimming pool parties, at least not intentionally!

Bischof Baby Will Be Christened Today.

At a quiet ceremony this afternoon in St. Chrysostom's church on his six months' birthday the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Bischof will receive the name Harrington in the presence of his parents' families and his godparents. The Rev. Herbert W. Prince of the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest, who officiated at the marriage of the former Sophia Harrington and Mr. Bischof in 1932, will read the christening ceremony at 4 o'clock for their son. The baby has been named for his maternal grandfather, George Bates Harrington, and Mr. and Mrs. Harrington will be among those present in the church.

Miss Joan Clark of Neenah, Wis., who was a classmate of Mrs. Bischof at Rosemary Hall, will stand up as one of the baby's godmothers, while the other, Mrs. Joseph B. Long, who is at Newport, will be represented by a proxy. Charles True Adams and Joseph H. Beuttas have accepted the responsibilities of being godfathers. The baby's two young aunts, Miss Mary and Miss Ann Harrington, are vacationing at the E. Bar L ranch in Montana, so they are not here for the ceremony.

The Malcolm S. Bartons are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son Monday night at the Evanston hospital. The baby, who is the second child of Mr. Barton and the former Andreina Materassi of Florence, Italy, has been named Julian Rust Barton. He has a sister, Patricia, five years old. They are grandchildren of Mrs. Enos M. Barton of Hubbard Woods. The younger Mrs. Barton is well known as a concert pianist.

Miss Marian Gordon is arriving in town this morning from Harbor Point, Mich., to spend a long week-end with Miss Barbara Eldridge and her parents, the Harold Eldridges, who have taken a house in Winnetka for the summer. Miss Gordon's parents, the Frank M. Gordons, and their other daughters, Miss Isabel and Miss Evelyn, are in their Harbor Point cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. McIntyre [Winifred Wheeler] have not returned from a western ranch, but when they do it is expected that they will join her mother in Michigan for a few weeks of cool weather.

Little Kathryn Lyon and her nurse left Wednesday by train to join her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Howard Lyon of Winnetka, and the elder daughter, Mary, on Cape Cod. The rest of the family motored east.

Mrs. Francis T. A. Junkin and her niece, Miss Evelyn Harkness of Leesburg, Va., who has been visiting Mrs. Junkin at her residence, 179 Lake Shore drive, left Wednesday to motor to Lenox, Mass., where they will visit Dr. and Mrs. Robert Metz. From Lenox they will go to the north shore of Massachusetts to pay a round of visits and to spend the last week of August at West Point. They will spend September in Virginia and then return to Chicago.

Orville J. Taylor to Visit Parents.

Orville J. Taylor left last Monday night for California, where he will visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orville J. Taylor Sr., in Los Angeles, and then be a guest at Bohemia Grove, which is the San Francisco Bohemian club's paradise for men in which members and guests spend two weeks, including three Saturdays and Sundays, each summer.

Mrs. Taylor will motor to Lake Wawausee, in Indiana, today, but will return to Chicago in time to meet her husband in mid-August, for they are going to spend the last two weeks of that month cruising with the Eugene McDonalds aboard the Mizpah.

Modern Crib Good Till Child Is Five or Six

Then He Graduates to a Full Sized Bed.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

In the preceding article in the series on sleep we talked about the baby's bedroom. Today let's discuss the sort of bed he should have, the bedding, how to make up his bed, etc.

The baby's first bed may be his baby carriage, a bassinet on wheels, a crib, a market basket, or that old standby—a clothes basket. [If a basket is used be sure it is sandpapered and smooth.] It is a great help to have the basket mounted on a frame or stool or stand with casters, though it can be put on a table or other similar piece of furniture.

It is possible to get cribs, however, that will serve a baby until he is 5 or 6 years old, when the change can be made to a regular bed which will carry him through to manhood.

If you are buying a crib be sure that it is high enough so that you will not have to bend too much; that it has high sides for the baby's safety, and that it is long enough and wide enough to "fit" the baby. Thirty by fifty inches is a good size. Some cribs have sides that can be adjusted to various heights, in which case be sure the locks are firm. It is well to have a pad to tie around the cribs when necessary to protect against drafts. This can be made or bought.

The springs and mattress should be of good quality. The springs should be firm, for sagging is bad for the baby's posture. The mattress should be smooth and firm—not a soft, squashy one—and there should be plenty of space for the baby to be able to lie out flat. If a crib is not used a folded blanket can serve as a mattress for a bassinet, basket, or other smaller bed.

Until a child has learned bladder control it is necessary to use a rubber sheet. It is best to get one the width of the bed, with side flaps of ticking or heavy sheeting to allow big tuckins so that wrinkles and bumps can be avoided. A pad over this lessens the tendency to heat the body. With the tiny baby it is sometimes possible to use a square of rubber in a muslin case, which can be kept under him. This makes it unnecessary to make up his bed every time he wets.

Be sure that the sheets are big enough for generous tuckins so that it is possible to keep the undersheet smooth. Blankets should be of wool, not too heavy, and should be big enough, also, to allow deep tuckins.

Of course, for the tiny baby—so little that he does not move around—these precautions are not necessary. For him a pillowcase can act as a sheet, and no sheet is put over him—just light blankets. The sheets used after the pillowcase stage can be made from old soft sheets. But it is after the baby develops sufficiently to allow him to creep and crawl out of his covers that those provisions already described need to be made.

There is disagreement on the subject of using pillows, though most people approve of "no pillows for the young baby."

Modern methods of establishing good eliminative habits are discussed in our leaflet on that subject. A stamped, self addressed envelope will bring it to you.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

POPULAR MISCONCEPTIONS.

It was probably due to Kipling's well known short story that the columnists picked up the phrase, "Without benefit of clergy," and gave it a meaning that would have shocked the old prelates of the middle ages. An ordinance enacted in 1087 provided that any man sentenced to death could save his life if he could prove that he was a clerk or a man of learning. In other words, could he read and write? This was the "benefit of clergy."

Should an opponent lead out of turn you may treat his card as exposed, as an alternate penalty to calling the lead. You may not, however, claim both penalties.

May day is not, as some people believe, an American invention and institution. The Pilgrims were much opposed to it, as it always had a secular tinge about it. Some authorities claim that it was celebrated by the ancient Romans in honor of Flora, the goddess of flowers.

If you suddenly recall in the middle of the next deal that you held 100 honors on the last hand and your claim can be proved to the satisfaction of your presumably gentlemanly opponents, you may ask for credit on the score sheet. Premium claims are allowed at any time before the rubber score is added up. The fact that you made five, not four, on the last deal must be determined before the next deal is completed.

The paper money of the revolutionary war gave rise to the expression, "not worth a continental," a fact that is clear in the minds of most people. But those who use a similar expression, "not worth a tinker's dam," haven't the faintest idea where they got it and, moreover, usually add an "n" to the "dam," to the great detriment of the tinker's reputation. A tinker's dam was a little ball of soft clay used to hold solder in leaks or joints that the tinker was trying to repair. Once used, it was worthless and thrown away. Hence the expression.

It is important to know that dummy may now call his partner's attention to revokes, or any other infringement of a bridge law. He has the same privileges as any other player at the table.

F. D. Roosevelt Jr. at Work for Brother's Yeast Co.

Belleville, N. J., July 25.—(AP)—Another son of the President, Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., was at work today in the offices of the National Grain Yeast corporation. The eldest son of the President, James Roosevelt, took office as the firm's president July 1. Frank Chambers, office manager, said Franklin Jr. had been at work for several days. The younger Roosevelt was expected to join the firm when he graduates from Harvard next year.

Good Sitting Posture Can Be Easily Achieved

Legs Should Always Be Crossed Above Knees.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

In any public conveyance where seats run parallel, with an aile between, you see women probably at their worst. I refer, of course, to the manner in which they handle their legs while seated. In that row across you'll see perhaps the worst offender of all, the one who sits with her knees spread wide apart. Standing or sitting, this is the ugliest position and the most vulgar that can be adopted.

You'll see the woman who crosses her legs at the ankles, with feet wound around each other or toes pointed widely in opposite directions. You'll see the caricaturist's delight in the plump one who perches her tired feet up on their heels, with soles exposed to unappreciative eyes.

Then, you'll see, providing there's room enough between her and the next passenger, the woman who crosses her knees with one leg going one way, the other another way. This is the commonest offender. There's a little command to observe that tells the story best: "Don't ever cross your knees!" Cross the upper legs instead —and well above the knee. This may sound a more ungainly action than the knee crossing—but try and see how much more graceful a line you show seated with the legs crossed above the knee than with the knees crossed. Crossing the legs above the knee lets the top leg drop down easily and in the same direction as the supporting one. Instead of the ungainly criss-cross and the usual skirt riding effect you get a symmetric line from chair to floor. And it lets the skirt fall gracefully down in the direction of the floor.

Another thing this crossing the legs above the knee does—and should be of vital interest to women—is that it keeps the under knee from pushing the calf forward, which widens and fattens the apparent width of the leg. This same pushing forward of the loose calf flesh happens when the ankles are crossed.

After all, a woman across the aile or one across the room creates an indelible impression with just this management of the skirt and leg, doesn't she? One might just as well work for a graceful and slenderizing line here, since it calls for so little effort at correction. And while correcting, one might make a little investigation into such nervous habits as incessant foot waggling or floor tapping. It can get on an audience's nerves quite as strenuously as hand jitters do.

Almost everyone wears such good looking shoes and sheer stockings these days that the effect shouldn't be spoiled by such faulty leg mannerisms as those outlined above.

Modern Girl Finds Workless Suitor Problem

Footing Amusement Bills Serious Question.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"About five months ago I met a chap who is everything a girl might ask for. He is intelligent, has loads of personality, nice looking, neat, considerate—everything in the way of good character—and I love him and he loves me. He wasn't working at the time I met him and he still isn't.

"Before I met him I was accustomed to going out with boys and having a good time. Since the five months I met my man my only recreation has been walking in the park. Only once to a movie, when he picked up a little money doing an odd job. I'm not expecting him to take me to a high class show, naturally, but I do crave some entertainment. He is flat broke, and I know it. The other night I felt I had to do something other than walk in the park again. Knowing that he had no money, I offered to pay for both of us at a show. He felt terrible, argued, but in the end we did go.

"He has told me that he was keeping me back from going out with others and urged me to accept invitations. I knew he did not mean it and if I had gone it would have hurt him. Besides, I don't care about going out with any one else, to tell the truth. I am in love with J. But I'm still young and I just love to go places and have a good time once in a while.

"Please don't think my friend lazy or unambitious. He just can't find work. He has tried everywhere. But what shall I do?" LEY.

The above is printed as a picture of what a number of our young people are going through right now. With all the energy and desire of youth for a good time—and no money for it, it's hard! More, however, the letter is presented in the hope that other young couples similarly situated might advance suggestions for time filling recreation and substitute recreation for the dance and movie places.

There is no criticism to make of the young woman whose youth craves amusement centers and participation therein. But where can a pair go except walking in the park when the young man's income is exactly nothing? Oh, there are a few free dancing spots in parks throughout the country, we know, but it takes carfare often to get to these. But we know of no movie houses with entrances free. It is a problem and a sad one for these young people. What is the solution, if any?

With better times for the youth and a weekly income to draw on the girl may be amply rewarded. But if she takes over the paying rôle there's a question about what she does to that young man's self-respect. Often, after this has happened, in order to restore his own self-esteem, the man turns around and takes out another girl, leaving number one bemoaning the ingratitude of man.

Parks to Organize Pre-School Classes in Supervised Play

Pre-school supervised play groups are planned for all Chicago park district recreational centers starting Aug. 1, it was announced yesterday by Dorothea Nelson of the park district recreational department. The groups are maintained by the Elizabeth McCormick fund. Miss Nelson said that qualified persons from the Works Progress administration may be used in directing the groups. The staf will include 126 kindergarten leaders, 50 pianists, and 50 nutritionists.

In addition to supervised play for small children the plan calls for classes for mothers in child training, behavior, and nutrition. Applications to enroll children should be made to park recreational directors.

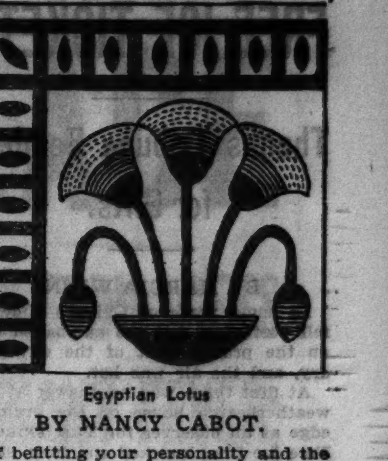
Brilliant Color Scheme Fitting for Novel Quilt



Egyptian Lotus

BY NANCY CABOT.

If befitting your personality and the general scheme of things, "Egyptian Lotus" is one of our most unusual applique patterns. Orange, yellow, green, and blue comprise a suggested color scheme for this lovely design, and one which affords an opportunity to exhibit one's skill in needlework. A quilt diagram, accompanying the pattern, shows an attractive block arrangement.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BLACKHEADS? PIMPLES? OPEN PORES?

Not If You Let This Sensational Beautifier Keep Your Skin Clear

Thousands of women who formerly were miserable over a skin spoiled by blackheads, whiteheads, large pores and blemishes, now rave about a new beautifier. This exciting preparation contains live oxygen that penetrates into the mouths of the pores, purges them of poisons, cleans out the dirt, detaches wornout tissues, and loosens ugly blackheads. When the dirt and grease are gone, the pores close up to normal size and the skin resumes its natural, clear appearance. It is soft, smooth, and finely-textured. Sallow or muddy color is gone, while lines, spots, freckles, flakiness and patches of tan are literally wiped away in [illegible].

No beautifier in the world is like Dioxogen Cream. It is the only preparation that supplies active oxygen to the skin. Oxygen is the precious substance that gives color to the rose.

No long waiting for results with Dioxogen Cream. From the first time you use it, you see that your skin is becoming fairer and clearer . . . the pores less open. Even the woman with a complexion that has "gone to pieces" soon becomes enthusiastic about Dioxogen Cream. Dioxogen Cream is today's beautifier that never disappoints you. Simply follow the easy directions which you will find in every jar—apply it generously at night, when you remove make-up. In the morning, after you've washed your face, apply a very thin layer as a powder base. Dioxogen Cream thus works to beautify you 24 hours a day. It benefits every type of skin . . . corrects excess oiliness, prevents dryness and flakiness.

Leading department stores and druggists now supply Dioxogen Cream at 50c and $1. Every jar has been given the Good Housekeeping seal of approval.

ILL FOR MONTHS, WOMAN SAVED BY FREE ICE TICKETS

BY MARCIA WINN.

In some parts of Chicago showers fell yesterday, but the sun-baked dirt on the prairie west of the city was dry, and the air was hot.

At first there was no answer at the weatherbeaten house on the prairie's edge as an observer for THE TRIBUNE Free Ice fund knocked and then, slowly, a woman of 35, her eyes sunken in blue-gray circles, opened the door.

"We're from THE TRIBUNE," she was told.

Tells of Long Illness.

Lying back upon a couch after her short exertion, the woman told briefly of the suffering in her home and of the great need which free ice tickets, sent Wednesday in response to her appeal, had filled. During the last year she has spent 20 weeks in the Cook county hospital recovering from heart attacks.

"The doctor tells me my heart is swollen," she said. "When it gets like that it presses on my lungs and I can't breathe. Ice is the only thing that reduces the swelling. At the hospital our ice packs were renewed four times a day, but here at home——" she paused for a minute—"well, there was nothing we could do. We simply had no money for ice."

For five years, she said, her husband, a millwright, has been unemployed. He now is on work relief. They have two children, a girl of 7 and a boy of 4.

Thanks Donors to Fund.

"I want to thank you," she went on earnestly. "I wrote a letter, but I'd like to do more. Please measure your kindness in the pain it is saving me."

This woman is one of the cases aided by THE TRIBUNE Free Ice fund. Her life, her physician says, has been saved by the free ice tickets provided with money donated by readers of THE TRIBUNE.

A total of $41 in contributions for the Free Ice fund was received yesterday. They were received gratefully, as contributions are running low despite the fact that the need is running higher than at any other time this summer. Any donation, no matter how small, may save a life. A dollar will provide a needy family with a week's supply of ice. Yesterday's contributions:

Mrs. Ivan Grunsfeld	$10.00
I. Dryfuss	10.00
M. C. C.	10.00
Mrs. Albert C. Battelle	5.00
A Friend	5.00
Nellie Newton	1.00
Total	$41.00
Previously acknowledged	$488.08
Grand total	$529.08

Contributions should be mailed or brought to THE TRIBUNE cashier, Tribune Tower. All donations will be acknowledged in this newspaper.

BRIDE IS FREED WHEN "HUSBAND" IS FOUND GIRL

Columbus, Kas., July 25.—(AP)—Pretty, red haired Margaret Fowler, 17, legally shed her feminine "husband" today and the one time "groom," Alice Delores Hayes, 21, shed her trousers in favor of women's attire.

An annulment by Judge V. J. Bowersock snipped the matrimonial bonds tied ten days ago.

A police chief's ultimatum, her employer's advice and a shopping trip took Miss Hayes out of trousers and put her in skirts. Whether she would stay put was another matter.

Miss Fowler testified she "wasn't absolutely sure" Miss Hayes was a girl at the time of the wedding. A few days later they decided to seek the annulment.

Emblen Granted a Month for Assault Case Appeal

Arthur Emblen, Gary hoodlum, found guilty of assault with intent to kill by a Criminal court jury a month ago, was granted a month's stay yesterday by Judge Grover C. Niemeyer after Emblen's attorney, William Scott Stewart, asked additional time to prepare an appeal. Emblen was convicted for assault on Eli Daiches, wealthy advertising executive, who later was slain. Irving Weitzman, bakery chain owner, was convicted of hiring the murderers and was sentenced to life in prison.

CUBS BEAT DODGERS, 4-2; TAKE 2D PLACE

SPEARS TELLS HIS VIEWS ON ALL-STAR TEAM

Calls It a Coach's Dream Come True.

[Football Coach, University of Wisconsin.]

The All-American football squad which meets the Chicago Bears at Soldiers field on the night of Aug. 29 is a coach's dream come true.

I believe that the boys who were elected by the fans and those who have been added to the group to complete a squad of more than forty players are superior as a whole to those who played in the game last year against the Bears. I am not, however, predicting a victory over the Bears for this season.

I saw last year's game, and Bronko Nagurski, whom I coached while at the University of Minnesota, told me that the Bears as a team failed to realize the caliber of their opponents. This year it will be different. I know, and as a result the Bears will be a mighty tough team.

Teams Well Matched.

To offset the increase in the strength of the All-Americans the Bears will have a more diversified attack. Beattie Feathers, a great open field runner, adds a needed weapon. His thrusts at the ends of the scrimmage line, coupled with Nagurski's plunging, will make the Bears a far better team. So, after all, the actual comparison may find that again the teams are approximately matched.

The All-Stars will have two great blockers in Miller Munjas of Pittsburgh and Stan Kostka of Minnesota, and if these players are used in the same back field both half backs can be of the sprinting, open field type, since Munjas is a blocking quarter back and Kostka a hard hitting full back.

I believe that the spectators will see a great ball carrier in Bill Shepherd, of Western Maryland. He did not receive the publicity that was accorded Pug Lund, of Minnesota; Fred Borries, of the Navy, or Millard Howell, of Alabama, but he can play football. To this list of halfbacks can be added such dependable players as Hilliard, of Texas; Purvis and Carter, of Purdue; Regeczi, of Michigan, and Melinkovich, of Notre Dame. Melinkovich is a fine blocker as well as a hard runner.

Backs Can Pass.

This set of backs possesses passing talent which will surpass the boys on the 1934 All-American team. Purvis can throw them long and accurately while Jack Beynon, of Illinois, and Howell have demonstrated their abil-

CANZONERI WINS DULL TEN ROUND BOUT FROM PACHO

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion of the world, won the decision over Bobby Pacho of Mexico in ten rounds of indifferent boxing which brought a salvo of bronx cheers from the crowd of 4,500 at Mills stadium last night. It was difficult to determine whether the crowd disagreed with the decision or was casting a vote against the contestants. Tony's title was not at stake since Pacho weighed 137½ pounds.

Canzoneri was not the fighter who whipped Leo Rodak and Chuck Woods in his last two Chicago bouts. Nor did the bronzed Pacho exhibit the vicious two handed driving attack which had sent Frankie Sagilio to the floor. Three times Referee Tommy Gilmore cautioned the fighters to speed up the pace or quit.

Drops Tony in Sixth.

As far as Pacho's hope for victory was concerned he lost the bout in the sixth round. In a neutral corner, Bobby whipped a right hand to Canzoneri's chin. Tony staggered back and sank to his haunches. At the count of two he was on his knees and with one more count he came to his feet.

Pacho failed to close in. Perhaps he feared the crafty Italian. At any rate it seemed that he had a splendid chance and, although just before the end of the round Pacho came in with another right to send Tony back into the ropes, the opportunity passed.

Canzoneri resumed the offensive in the last three rounds to clinch victory. His left was continually playing in Pacho's face and several times he crashed his right to the jaw.

In the earlier portion of the fight both fought carefully and clinched repeatedly. Canzoneri, however, had a slight advantage.

Pack, Marek Win.

Two former Golden Gloves champions won their bouts. Lorenzo Pack, the 1935 heavyweight titleholder, stopped Al Boros of Newark, N. J., in the third round of a scheduled eight round match. Max Marek, one time Golden Gloves light heavyweight champion, was the victor in a slashing duel with Steve Roberts of South Chicago. Marek had a distinct advantage in each of the five rounds, but Roberts' driving rights landed effectively.

Lew Feldman, New York lightweight, was far too fast for Mike [Little Pal] Primich of East Chicago. Feldman won the eight round decision easily, outboxing Little Pal in every round.

Virgil Bemi, Chicago lightweight, had Bob Tinsley, Chicago, on the floor twice during their six round opener and breezed in with the decision. Eddie Slake, South Bend, Ind., heavyweight, and Wally Hunt of Starr, Tex., drew in five rounds. Hunt was down for a nine count in the second round.

Harry Brand, former Los Angeles sports editor, has been placed in charge of all publicity of the new multimillion movie merger, Twentieth Century-Fox, in Hollywood. . . . GIANTS CAPTURE DOUBLE - HEADER FROM CARDINALS

St. Louis, Mo., July 25.—(AP)—The New York Giants, who limped into town Monday with their National league lead frayed at the edges, pranced out tonight after cleaning up their final double-header with the Cardinals, 3 to 1, and 13 to 2.

The double triumph, which gave the league leaders four in a row, after they had dropped the first two games of the series, put the Giants three full games ahead of the Chicago Cubs, who are in second place. The Cards now are third, a half game behind the Cubs.

76,000 See Series.

A crowd of 28,500 paid turned out for today's games, making a total of 76,000 in four days for the best weekday attendance on record here, except for the world series.

It was a tough job today for the Giants to break the deadlock in the series. Hal Schumacher pitched brilliantly in the opener until the extreme heat forced him out in the seventh. While he was recovering in the clubhouse, Allyn Stout completed the job of pitching a five hit game.

Meanwhile Paul Dean, who held the Giants to four hits Tuesday, yielded that many in the fourth inning and tossed in a wild pitch and an intentional pass for good measure as New York scored three runs. The Cards' only run was unearned when Catcher Danning dropped a throw to the plate in the second inning.

Second Game Is Runaway.

Once ahead, the jubilant Giants proceeded to make it a runaway in the second game. They piled up a safe lead against Wild Bill Hallahan in two innings, shattering his six game winning streak, and finished with a seventeen hit total in which every regular had a share. Roy Parmelee took care of the pitching, hurling a four hit shutout for 7 2-3 innings, then losing it when Jim Collins connected for his nineteenth home run of the season.

Two errors by Leo Durocher, the usually reliable shortstop, paved the way for the Cards' downfall. After Critz singled to start the third, Durocher dropped Hallahan's throw to second for a force play. Then a walk and a wild pitch let in a run. The bases were loaded again by a pass. Durocher then let Danning's smash go through his legs for another error and two more runs scored. Solid hitting produced the other three and sent Hallahan to the showers.

CARLETON GETS PENNANT FEVER; HIS 9TH VICTORY

Chicago Wins 18 of Last 21 Games.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Tex Carleton yesterday got the Cubs' big pennant idea and held the Brooklyn Dodgers to five hits as the Chicagoans made it five straight in three days by beating Casey Stengel's paragons of befuddlement, 4 to 2.

The Cubs soared right into second place several hours after beating the Dodgers, for the Giants, who won the first game of their double header with the Cardinals in St. Louis, 3 to 1, also won the second game, 13 to 2.

This made the standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Giants	57	30	.655
Cubs	56	35	.615
Cards	54	34	.614

By taking two games while the Cubs were winning one the Giants gained a half game on the Cubs, whom they now lead by three games.

It was Carleton's ninth victory, and the Comanche tall man's performance was the best he's turned in since the pennant bee started buzzing in these parts. Tex allowed one single in the first six innings and would have had a shutout if he'd restrained himself from pitching his double ball to Leslie. Sambo made the two-base hits which figured in the sparse Brooklyn run making.

Maltreat Eastern Clubs.

The contest closed the invasion of eastern clubs, visitations which have made the Cubs O. so happy. The stand against the invaders started with five straight over the Boston Braves; then the Phillies and Cubs split a four game series. No doubt you recall that the Giants lost four straight here. The Dodgers won the opener, 14 to 13, in eleven innings after a Cub let down game last Monday then dropped double headers Tuesday and Wednesday before getting bumped in yesterday's single affair.

The Cubs have won 18 out of 21 games since they launched their pennant drive in Pittsburgh on July 4, when they were 10½ games back of the Giants. Incidentally, they have whipped the Dodgers 11 times in 13 starts.

Beat Old Annoyer.

Yesterday's victory was accomplished at the expense of an old annoyer, Lefty Clark, with a surge of three runs in the third inning. Singles by Augie Galan, Billy Herman [hitting successively in his 17th game], a double by Gabby Hartnett and singles by Frank Demaree and Tuck Stainback.

The Cubs added an unearned run in the seventh, scored by the slumpful Phil Cavarretta. Phil has only six hits in 54 times at bat, but managed to get on base on a force play, after which he stole second and went the rest of the way home on a double error by Tony Cuccinello.

Carleton Hit by Liner.

It was feared for several minutes at the outset of the second inning that Carleton had been severely injured when struck by a hot one from Leslie's bat. Tex recovered the ball and threw to Cavarretta for the out, then keeled over. First aid treatment revived the lank young man and when play was resumed Cuccinello grounded out to Hack and D. Taylor walked. Taylor was thrown out trying to steal second.

Boyle reached second at the start of the third inning when his slow roller went through Jurges into left center field. He progressed to third while Herman was throwing out Lopez, but remained there while Clark

MEDALIST MEETS CHAMPION TODAY IN WOMEN'S GOLF

Ellamae Williams Faces Rena Nelson.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The tournament medalist against the defending champion, and the titleholder of 1933 against the crown princess of last year's western junior. Such is the double treat in store for the galleries in the semi-final matches of the eighteenth annual tournament of the Chicago Women's District Golf association today at the Oak Park Country club as the result of the four brilliant quarter final battles yesterday.

The first of the semi-finals this morning will bring together Ellamae Williams of River Forest, runner-up in the state and western junior tournaments this year and winner of the qualifying medal at Oak Park on Monday, and Rena Nelson of Exmoor, who captured the title at Flossmoor last year.

More Great Shots.

That should be a stirring little debate in itself, but it is accompanied by another which promises just as many great golf shots—that between Mrs. June Beebe Atwood of Olympia Fields, winner of the crown two years ago, and Shirley Ann Johnson of Sunset Ridge, who led home the field in the western junior last year.

With the exception of Miss Johnson, who scored her third tournament victory with an 8 and 7 decision over Louise Willard of Exmoor by virtue of being one under par for eleven holes, all of the semi-finalists had to fight to gain that round. Mrs. Atwood was forced to the 19th green before she took a thriller from Hilda Livengood of Flossmoor, holder of the state title. Miss Williams had just as much of a battle with Mrs. Jane Weiller Selz of Northmoor, 1931 champion, going to the 18th to win, 1 up. Miss Nelson also had to work to win, 2 and 1, from Mary Pietsch of Glen View, a newcomer to the late stages of the championship bracket.

Three Putts End Matches.

Both the Williams-Selz and Atwood-Livengood matches ended when the losers three putted, Mrs. Selz's try for a half on the home hole bouncing away from the cup on a three foot attempt, and Miss Livengood failing to get down an uphill effort from four feet.

WIMBLEDON, England, July 25.—(AP)—The veterans Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn and Freshman Don Budge, the same scrapping trio that stampeded Germany in the interzone final, will carry America's colors against Great Britain in the United States' sixth attempt to regain the Davis cup, prized amateur tennis trophy of the world.

In the challenge round the 31 year old Allison and the 19 year old Budge will square off against Fred Perry and H. W. [Bunny] Austin in the four singles duels Saturday and Tuesday. The durable Allison again will partner 29 year old Van Ryn against George Patrick Hughes and C. R. D. Tuckey in Monday's doubles match.

Selection Causes Surprise.

Nonplaying Captain Joseph Wear's selection of the American team occasioned some surprise because there was unofficial belief in some quarters that Sidney B. Wood Jr. would be used in the singles with Budge so that Allison could concentrate on the doubles. Allison figured in scoring two points in America's 4-1 elimination of Germany and gave a good exhibition in losing to Baron Gottfried von Cramm.

"Of course there won't be any change and it would be foolish to make a change now," Wear said. Just like a baseball manager, he does not believe in breaking up a winning combination unless there's a mighty good reason.

Make Pairings Today.

He's fully aware Wood has been playing great tennis in practice against the professionals, Bill Tilden and Ellsworth Vines, and hoped to get a chance against England. At the same time Allison did nothing against Germany to get himself fired from the singles assignment. The Texas veteran lost to Von Cramm, but so would about any other player that particular day.

Pairings for the opening singles, which are certain to be played before a capacity crowd close to 18,000, will not be decided until the names are pulled from a hat at the offices of the British Lawn Tennis association tomorrow.

SCHNEIDER TO RACE MARTIN'S CAR TOMORROW

Lou Schneider, winner of the 500 mile Indianapolis race in 1931, will drive Pepper Martin's car in the Wolf Lake midget auto races at Hammond tomorrow night.

Twenty-four pilots reported at Wolf Lake last week and another record entry list is expected tomorrow. There will be eight events on the card. Time trials will begin at 6:30 instead of 7:30 o'clock. The first race will start at 8:30.

Lehman's 149 Leads Kilties Day at Skokie

Johnny Lehman, former western amateur champion from Olympia Fields, displayed true Scotch thrift yesterday afternoon to lead a field of 150 golfers home in the annual Kilties day of the Skokie Country club, one of the oldest invitational tournaments in the district.

Johnny started saving strokes as early as the morning round, which he finished with a 71, one under par. He was not as sparing in the afternoon, needing 78 to get around, but his total of 149 was enough to bring him low gross for the 36 hole trip. His card follows:

Fish in Running Water Can Put Up Tough Fight

BY BOB BECKER.

A black bass, wall-eye or muskie gets all kinds of extra "free power" if it lives in a fast running river like the Namekagon [which we were on last week], or the St. Croix, with its tumbling rapids, or other flowing water.

We were conscious of this extra fighting ability of fish in running water the day we traveled down the Namekagon for about 25 miles, starting in almost due north of Spooner, Wis. As a matter of fact, some anglers feel that the only real way to get n extra thrill out of a wall-eye is to hunt one up in a river with a fast current and then start the battle.

Fish Can Make It Lively.

A two pound small mouth black bass can make things mighty lively in a river like the Namekagon if the fish decides to continue the argument in the current. Just before lunch time on the day of our trip we connected with a small mouth of this size, and what a circus we had. We had cast with a light bait casting rod to the edge of an eddy close to the bank of the stream. It looked like an ideal spot for a fish of some kind. We had a short strike—but no fish. So the lure was kept on the move.

Then came the bass, and once on, he kept right on going from the quiet water into the current. To try to keep a tight line on this fish, which was moving right along while the canoe was being carried with the current, provided several minutes of real fun.

Pike Decides to Fight Back.

Late in the afternoon a two and one-half pound pike hooked in a deep hole almost in the middle of the stream again showed how the river fish get that extra something in drive and fight when in a current. The wall-eye usually starts out to make a scrap of it and then sort of gives up in a disheartened way all too quickly. There were no such tactics in the way this fish fought. It used the current to every advantage and made the pull mighty strong against a light line and very light rod.

FALSE WHISKERS may induce fish to throw caution to the wind and leap into your net. But you will be more successful if you know what flies and lures make them strike hungrily. A half-hour spent reading Bob Becker's book, "The Fisherman's Guide," will give you the inside dope on baits, rods, and habits of fish. Get a copy of this fascinating, practical handbook on fishing! On sale at the Tribune Advertising & Public Service Offices, 1 South Dearborn Street, and Tribune Tower. Price, 25c cents. By mail, postpaid, 30 cents.

Flashes a Smile

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—Helen Wills Moody, flashing a smile which contradicted her nickname of "Poker Face," walked down the gangplank from the liner Washington today and into New York once more as queen of the tennis world.

With her dramatic victory over Helen Jacobs at Wimbledon only a pleasant memory, Mrs. Moody stared out at the towers of Manhattan as the ship crept op the bay. A few weeks ago she had sailed from this same harbor to face a rival to whom she had once defaulted her title.

No one today could mistake the change which the Wimbledon victory had wrought in Mrs. Moody. She chatted with reporters, answered their questions freely and had words of praise for Miss Jacobs. Mrs. Moody said that she planned to leave for the coast on Monday.

She said that she would not have sufficient time to return to Forest Hills for the international team matches for the Wightman cup, which get under way in August. She denied, however, that this meant that she was planning to retire from match play.

KEITH JOHNSON, 19, WINS URBANA GOLF TOURNEY

BY FRENCH LANE.

That tireless globe trotter, Discovery, stopped off in town again yesterday. He rode in from Boston on the Twentieth Century and will remain over the week-end. It is that $10,000 Arlington handicap to be run tomorrow afternoon that has lured him here.

Every week finds Discovery in a different locality and he does right well by himself and by his owner, Alfred G. Vanderbilt, everywhere he goes.

Discovery started out on his great sightseeing tour, which brought him to Chicago yesterday, at New York late in June. It was on June 22 at the Aqueduct track that he won the Brooklyn handicap, beating among others the 3 year old champion, Omaha. He broke the world's record for a mile and an eighth while turning back Omaha.

Drops In On Detroit.

On the afternoon of June 29 he dropped in on the folks in Detroit and ran away with the Detroit challenge cup in a match race with Azucar. He captured that prize by the rather snug margin of thirty lengths.

From Detroit Discovery moved to Chicago, and at Arlington Park on July 4 he won the $10,000 Stars and Stripes handicap. He caught the first train out for a journey back to New York.

At Empire City on the afternoon of July 13 Discovery hung around long enough to win the Butler Memorial handicap. Just as soon as the battle was over he tossed his extra pair of socks and toothbrush into his traveling bag and moved on to Boston. He called on the boys at Boston's new track, Suffolk Downs, last Saturday afternoon and challenged them to a foot race. Everything went along okay until they left him at the post.

Mows 'Em Down.

But did that disturb the globe trotter? The chart of the race says he wheeled into motion after the others were up the track a ways, then went on to mow 'em down and win by 15 lengths. The five victories had netted Owner Vanderbilt $56,225.

From Boston he moved to Arlington Park yesterday and after Jim Blake had entertained him through the trip he got off the car in fine humor. Still he looked a wee bit sleepy just as most Century riders do who demand that Jim Blake come along to make their trip pleasant for them.

When the private car pulled in at Arlington Park shortly before noon, Mr. Blake pointed at the huge grandstand and remarked to Discovery, "That's all they are asking you to carry in the Arlington handicap."

In the Arlington handicap Discovery will carry 135 pounds when he seeks his sixth consecutive stake victory in as many weeks. This is 3 pounds more than he has ever been asked to pick up.

Numerous owners believe Discovery's campaign has been too stiff for any horse to stand up under and last night there was every promise of a field of nine in tomorrow's seventh running of the Arlington handicap.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

With the tumult of their public reception out of the way the New York Catholic Boys' club boxing squad settled down to training at the Midwest Athletic club yesterday in preparation for the bouts with the Chicago Catholic Youth organization team Wednesday evening at Wrigley field.

Inasmuch as the boys had two weeks of training at Camp Hayes, in the Shawagunk mountains near Port Jarvis, N. Y., before coming west, Trainer Jack Britton plans fairly light workouts during the remaining days to guard against staleness.

Plenty of diversion is planned to break up the routine. Last night the boys were taken to Mills stadium to see the fight between Tony Canzoneri and Bobby Pacho. Today they will go to Lockport where the Chicago team is training, to make the acquaintance of the boys who will be their adversaries in the intercity bouts.

On this occasion Britton will have a chance to talk over old times with Packy McFarland, who has charge of the C. Y. O. team. These two veteran fighters met several times in the course of their professional careers and they are anxious to renew their rivalry as coaches.

Willie Ritchie, another of the former champions who will officiate at the intercity bouts, is due to arrive today by plane from San Francisco. Ritchie once held the lightweight title. C. Y. O. officials announced that they had received word from Gene Tunney that he would arrive Monday. Daniel P. Higgins, president of the New York Catholic Boys' clubs, is due Sunday.

Carl Stockholm of the Garfield Park Business Men's association is going ahead with plans for a banquet to be held Monday evening at the Midwest Athletic club, at which the prominent out of town visitors will be guests.

The New Yorkers have some of the best fighters ever matched against the C. Y. O. team, in the course of that organization's various intercity engagements. It is doubtful if, on their trip to California, the C. Y. O. boys encountered such capable fellows as George Coyle and Johnny Clinton, former members of the New York Golden Gloves squad, who are now in Chicago with the Catholic Boys' club boxers. Then there are Patsy Erra, Tony Pagano, Frank Haynes, William Hart, Tony Colletti, and Bill Gould to cause still more concern for the Chicago fighters.

LEVINSKY TURNS ON POWER WITH SPARRING MATES

A King Levinsky serious of mien and fully aware of the opportunity that awaits him in his bout with Joe Louis at Comiskey Park, Aug. 7, wound up the first week of his training activities by going four fast rounds with sparring partners at his Round Lake camp yesterday.

There is no question that the King means business this time. He regards his bout with Louis as the biggest opportunity of a somewhat checkered career and he intends to make the most of it.

King and his handlers are taking training preparations with all seriousness. There isn't a member of the fighter's retinue, least of all the King himself, who doesn't believe that he will defeat Louis when they square off on Chicago's south side the night of Aug. 7.

Levinsky's followers in Chicago's loop would hardly recognize the one time play boy. He has cast aside the antics that earned him a reputation as the ring's ranking clowner. The King has forsworn his one time ambition to be a crooner. In short, Levinsky is intent upon surprising all those who believe that his bout with Louis is to be a warm up affair for the Detroit fighter. Izzy Klein, who has charge of Levinsky's training preparations, is greatly pleased with his charge's progress.

Harold Steinman and Mrs. Lena Levy, Levinsky's co-managers are in camp. Steinman is handling affairs at the camp and Lena is doing the cooking for Levinsky, itself no small assignment.

He's Up Early These Days.

In these quarters, 50 miles from the lights of Randolph street, Levinsky is following a program designed to put him in shape for his battle with Louis. King arises every morning promptly at 7 o'clock and accompanied by Klein does five miles of road work. Upon return to the cottage he submits to a rubdown and then breakfasts. At 2:30 he romps through four rounds of boxing and a round of shadow boxing. He retires at 9:30 p. m.

Neither King nor his sparring partners are inclined to show any mercy. The two round affair between King and Jim Roschal, giant heavyweight from Tulsa, Okla., was a savage piece of work. Both boys threw hard rights and lefts to the head.

Roy Williams, Chicago colored boxer, and Jack Redman, South Bend colored boy, went one round each against the King and were subjected to some hard pommeling. Both are smaller and faster than the towering Roschal and consequently enable King to go against fighters using different tactics.

PICK SUPPORTING BOUTS

Four matches at six rounds and two at four are expected to comprise supporting bouts to the ten round windup between Joe Louis and King Levinsky at Comiskey park Aug. 7. Two of the six round events were announced yesterday by Matchmaker Mickey Farr.

Adolph Wiater, Green Bay, Wis., will clash with Corn Griffin, Columbus, Ga., in one. The other matches Tony Cancela, Tampa, Fla., with Charles Retzlaff, Leonard, N. D. All are heavyweights.

Members of the Illinois athletic commission will motor to Round lake today to watch Levinsky go through his paces at his training camp there at 2 p. m. The group will include Secretary Gene Meany, Inspector Harold Ryan, and Dr. Frank A. Lagorio. After the drill Dr. Lagorio will examine the King.

Joe Coffey, veteran boxing and wrestling promoter, out of action for some months due to ill health, has taken over the promotion of wrestling at White City. Coffey will present the first of a series of light heavyweight bouts there Monday with Zack Malkov, Chicago, and Gerard Lauth, Naperville, Ill., matched to meet in the feature encounter. They will wrestle 60 minutes or less.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: Mike McDonald, gambler, politician, and business man, and his temple of chance at 176 South Clark street, "The Store," were widely known in Chicago for years.

In 1880 the Sunday school I attended offered a prize to the pupil securing the largest collection of money for missions. One Saturday I went downtown to visit the Exposition building on the lake front, and then after lunch at Burcky & Milan's I started south on Clark bound for the Grand Pacific hotel, where generous notables might be met.

Suddenly I realized I was passing "176." Boylike, without thought of propriety or ethics, I entered, walked up to an important looking man, and asked for Mr. McDonald. "I'm Mr. McDonald. What can I do for you?" he asked.

"I'm collecting money for missions," I replied, handing him my book. He took it, scanned the list of quarters and dimes, and without a question as to my identity or creed entered the word "Cash," at the same time handing me a good sized bill. I thanked him and hurried out elated.

In 1884 there was a plot of ground bounded by Lake, Fulton, Seymour, and Valentine streets where the gypsies put up tents and camped all summer. Hank O'Day, veteran umpire who recently passed away; Bill Sackley, Jack Kinnare, Frank Higgins, Jim Boland, and Mike Mannion used to play knock-up and catch there every evening with the gypsies as spectators. Then to the old quarries at Chicago avenue for a swim.

George W. Hanson.

In 1895 the Chicago Southern States association was organized and ran a special excursion in five sections and took along the 1st regiment as an escort. From Atlanta we were taken by the Plant railroad system on a complimentary trip to Savannah, Charleston, Augusta, and back to Atlanta.

Among passengers I remember were Bishop Samuel Fallows, Charles Gunther, W. A. Alexander, Judge Grosscup, Alexander H. Revell, and other Chicagoans. It was a unique trip and more was crowded into nine days than in any other nine days of my existence. Two of us in Streator made the journey and would be glad to communicate with any Chicago survivors to exchange memories.

Charles H. Williams.

Would I were a busy little fly—
Out to the races I would hie
And light upon the favorite's nose
And if I found he seemed to lag
As near the wire his feet did drag,
I'd walk right down his weary thighs
We then would run across the line

SOX KEPT IDLE BY WET GROUNDS; GO TO ST. LOUIS

Open Four Game Series with Browns Tomorrow.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., July 25.—On the excuse that the grounds were wet and that more rain might descend, the Athletics spurned their scheduled meeting this afternoon with the White Sox. The cancellation was announced at breakfast time, thus indicating the local officials were principally interested in making certain they could arrange a double header for the next trip. That makes two bargain bills the Sox will have to take part in when they pay Connie Mack's boys another visit in September.

The only good accomplished from the Sox standpoint as the result of today's cancellation and yesterday's washout before two innings were completed is that Manager Jim Dykes now has a flock of pitchers ready for the immediate future. They will come in handy in view of the fact that starting on Saturday the third place Chicagoans must dispose of four games in three afternoons at St. Louis before going home to take up an argument with the fading Cleveland Indians.

Simmons Asks for Rest.

Had the local club officials permitted a game today the Sox might have had to get along without the services of Al Simmons. The Milwaukee duke declared he was in misery this morning as the result of a recurrence of a groin injury that has been bothering him more or less for a couple of months. He strained the tendon yesterday in handling a batted ball, but the real soreness didn't develop until hours afterward.

Simmons was all for going to Chicago to rest up, thus skipping the St. Louis trip which started from here tonight, but Dykes didn't think much of the idea. All Dykes replied to the hint from his star was that Simmons could rest up just as easily at St. Louis as at Chicago. In other words Dykes, who is not the kind to get excited about injuries even if they are his own, thinks that when the St. Louis series opens on Saturday he will have none other than Simmons in center field. Simmons batted .396 in the last fourten games, which indicates his slump has vanished, so the manager can't be blamed for wanting to keep him in there.

Dykes Selects Fischer.

For the opener against the Browns on Saturday Dykes is going to nominate Carl [Lefty] Fischer who last week amazed his pals, not to mention Washington's Senators, by pitching a one hit victory. Dykes has a hunch that the game gave the ex-Tiger a lot of confidence in himself. He certainly pitched far differently than he had in any of his other games. The sudden improvement may be due to coaching he has received from Muddy Ruel, the boss of the bull pen. Fischer's control and his curve ball are about 50 per cent better.

Dykes now is thinking of taking another gamble on his pitching. He calls it a hunch. He has played them at various times and invariably come out successfully. If the Sox do well in the first three at St. Louis Dkyes will start Johnny Salveson, the ex-National leaguer, in the final on Monday. So far Salveson, since coming from the Pirates in a swap for Outfielder Bud Hafey, has done only relief work, some of it pretty good. Salveson has been a bull pen student of Prof. Ruel's. Manager Dykes isn't at all backward about giving Ruel, as well as Luke Sewell, the regular catcher, all the credit for the amazing improvement of the staf as a whole.

After finishing at St. Louis the Sox will have the better part of August in their own park and if business is brisk for them during that stretch they probably will begin to come out in the open with pennant talk. Thus far there has been none of that, although they are keeping a close eye on the percentages.

Soft Pedals Pennant Talk.

Dykes is chiefly responsible for discouraging an outbreak of pennant fever. Ask him about the team's chances and he'll say that everything is going along well so far. He gives this answer to all the interviewers who have been trying to get him to come right out bold with a pennant prediction. Under his hat he believes there is a chance, but he doesn't want to let his charges get all heated up for fear that fretting about a pennant would hurt instead of help them.

Galan Starts Rally.

Galan knocked his second and the Cubs' third hit with one out in the third inning. This launched a three run attack. Galan went to second on a wild pitch and scored on Herman's single to center. After Cavarretta had grounded out to Cuccinello, Hartnett walked. Demaree lined a single to center, scoring Herman. Stainback singled to left, Hartnett scoring and Demaree taking third. Hack forced Stainback.

Herman made a fine one handed catch of Bucher's fly well out in right field to start the fourth. He then threw out Leslie. Cuccinello singled to left, the first hit off Carleton, but D. Taylor fanned.

Hartnett kept a 1.000 batting average going when he singled with two out in the fifth inning and stopped at second on Demaree's second single. Stainback grounded to Bucher, who stepped on third to force Hartnett.

Leslie Falls Rounding Third.

Leslie opened the seventh with the second Dodger hit, a double off the right field screen. Cuccinello flied to Demaree, but D. Taylor lined a single to center. Leslie stumbled and sprawled while en-route home, but crawled back to third. Boyle also singled to center, Leslie scoring. Hack made a nice play on Lopez's slow roller and threw him out. Clark tapped to Carleton.

Herman singled with one out in the seventh to lead the way to the fourth Cub run. Cavarretta forced Herman, stole second, went to third while Cuccinello was fumbling Hartnett's grounder and scored when Cuccinello made a low throw to Lopez for his second error on the play. Demaree lined to Cuccinello.

Koenecke walked on four pitches to start the eighth. After Jordan had popped to Jurges, Koenecke reached second on a wild pitch. Bucher struck out, but Leslie doubled, scoring Koenecke. Carleton threw out Cuccinello.

CATHERINE WOLF LOSES MATCH TO ETHEL ARNOLD

Seabright, N. J., July 25.—(AP)—Rain proved such a stubborn opponent in the annual Seabright tennis tournament today that only one of the scheduled semi-finals in the men's and women's singles divisions was concluded.

The one player who finished ahead of a late afternoon downpour was Mrs. Ethel Burkhardt Arnold, tiny Los Angeles, Cal., star, who defeated Catherine Wolf, Elkhart, Ind., 9-7, 8-6. Her opponent in the final Saturday will be either Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn of Philadelphia, or Gracyn Wheeler of Santa Monica, Cal. They were all square when rain interrupted their engagement, Mrs. Van Ryn winning the first set, 7-5, and Miss Wheeler the second, 6-4.

In the men's matches Frankie Parker of Spring Lake, and Berkeley Bell of New York, were facing defeat when rain took charge. Gregory S. Mangin of Newark, had the 19 year old Parker on the run, 6-4, 8-6, 2-1.

Wilmer Hines, Columbia, S. C., youth was head of Bell two sets to one. Hines, won the first set, 6-4, Bell took the second, 7-5, and Hines carried the third, 6-2.

JOLIET GOES TO JUNIOR LEGION TOURNEY FINAL

Bloomington, Ill., July 25.—[Special.]—Joliet post, second division champion, entered the final round of the junior American Legion baseball tournament by defeating Galesburg post, third division winner, 10 to 2, in a game held to 5 innings by rain today. Eddie Murphy, Joliet first baseman, son of Frank Murphy, former Three-Eye league manager, hit two home runs and a single in his first three trips to the plate, to drive in five of the Joliet runs.

Herrin, fifth division champion, joined Joliet in the finals tomorrow by beating Gillespie, 10 to 3, in six innings. The game was called because of darkness.

LOUIS OR BAER FOR SCHMELING? IT'S UP TO MAX

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—Whether Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion, will fight Joe Louis or Max Baer, if either, in New York in September is expected to be determined tomorrow by the German boxer himself, with a strong possibility that the Detroit heavyweight will be his opponent.

If he fights Louis the match will be staged by the Twentieth Century Sporting club at the Polo Grounds Sept. 11, while if the Baer match is made it will be promoted by Madison Square Garden in the Long Island bowl at a later September date.

A cablegram containing the definite offers of the Twentieth Century Sporting club and Madison Square Garden, both of which are bidding for his services, was sent to Schmeling today by his American manager, Joe Jacobs.

PARK DISTRICT TENNIS COURTS TO GET NEW NETS

Chicago park district tennis courts that have been devoid of tennis nets will receive new nets as rapidly as 400 can be purchased and delivered, George T. Donoghue, general superintendent for the park district, announced yesterday.

Donoghue was authorized by the park board to purchase 400 nets on the open market to expedite delivery to the park courts. "We have received several complaints about the condition of the park district tennis nets, and I feel tennis players have a right to good equipment," Donoghue asserted.

Pirates Rally in 9th to Beat Phillies, 9 to 8

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 25.—(AP)—The Pirates ran their winning streak to eight straight today, turning back the Phillies, 9 to 8, with a three run ninth inning rally. Pinch Hitter Red Lucas broke up the game when he hit a single with the bases full to score two runs.

The game produced a total of 24 hits, including Dolph Camilli's 18th home run of the season, four triples and seven doubles. The Phils lost an early lead when Lloyd Waner tripled with the bases full in the fourth. They forged ahead again in the eighth and in the ninth with two runs in each inning. In the home half of the ninth, Vaughan doubled and Young tripled, then Relief Pitcher Curt Davis loaded the bases by hitting Thevenow and walking Suhr before Lucas came to bat.

French Hurls Opener with Reds Today

Larry French will pitch for the Cubs this afternoon in the opener against the Cincinnati Reds. Larry will be after his ninth victory of the year.

The Cubs and Reds will engage in a double-header tomorrow afternoon and a single game Sunday.

The 2 o'clock shower at Wrigley field caused the start of the Brooklyn final to be delayed 15 minutes. No tarpaulin was layed and ground keepers had to haul sand to get the infield in shape.

The allotment of ladies tickets for today's game was exhausted before all requests could be filled. It was announced that applicants who have not received tickets for today's game will receive a ticket for a special ladies' day Tuesday, Aug. 6th.

RUSHAWAY WINS IN HARD DRIVE AT ARLINGTON PARK

Scores by Head Over Sun Teddy.

Numerous candidates for the $60,000 Arlington Futurity went into action in the 5½ furlong fourth race at Arlington Park yesterday and, in a stirring finish, Joseph E. Widener's Rushaway was the winner by a head from Warren Wright's royally bred colt, Sun Teddy.

There had been a plunge on Net Profit, saddled for Tom Worden of Chicago by Honest Ben Jones. Net Profit ran nobly and took the lead at the head of the stretch. From there on he failed to run fast enough to withstand the challenges of Rushaway and Sun Teddy. He was third, but beaten by a length by the two leaders. Net Profit and Rollin Home made all the early pace.

Rushaway didn't have many backers in the crowd, despite the fact that the brilliant Wayne Wright was in the saddle. He ran the 5½ furlongs in 1:05 4-5 and paid $22.20 to win, $9.80 to place and $4.00 to show. The Wright colt paid $11.20 to place and $6.20 to show. Net Profit was at $3.40 to show.

After failing to finish in the money with Gov. Laffoon in the first event, Wright won with his next three mounts. He sent the long shot Papyrograph home in the second, rode Rushaway to victory, and then came back in the Algonquin purse, the fifth event on the program, and, after some brilliant horsemanship on Corinto, owned by L. E. Komorous, Chicago, slipped through several narrow openings to win handily.

The crowd gave him a noisy welcome when he came back to unsaddle after scoring the third triumph.

Bold Venture, speedy juvenile owned by Morton L. Schwartz, New York, will arrive from Belmont Park this morning to be pointed for his engagement in the Arlington Futurity. The son of St. Germans and Possible, developed by Max Hirsch, will be sent through his final Futurity preparations by W. J. Hirsch, son of the noted eastern trainer.

Racing Secretary Charles J. McLennan announced yesterday that in case the Edgewater purse Monday and the Evanstons purse Tuesday attract more than the limit number of starters, eligibles to the Arlington Futurity would be given preference.

Bert Michell, acting for L. E. Komorous, purchased the contract on Apprentice George Dobson, Indianapolis boy, from E. E. McMahon. The 17 year old youngster enjoyed success in Kansas City and Ohio racing this spring. Dobson will do the lightweight riding for the Komorous stable, pending the recovery of Frank Ritz, who was injured severely in a spill here last week.

K. Hebert, Louisiana boy, had the first mount of his career on Jean Brown in the opening race yesterday. He is under contract to J. B. Theall, and has been galloping horses for a year.

The Fighter, one of the outstanding Futurity candidates, was given a useful three-quarter trial in 1:17 2-5, breezing over the training track yesterday morning. Trainer Bob McGarvey is preparing the Milky Way farm colt for his rich engagement.

SPEARS RATES ALL-STARS AS A COACH'S DREAM

Kostka and Weinstock, as line smashers, will match Nagurski's strength. So, all in all, the All-Americans have everything in the way of attack.

I am not familiar with all of the linemen, and it may be that the college line this year can be no greater than those who held the Bears to no score a year ago. Even so, if they are just as good, that's enough.

Guards Are Capable.

Monahan and Mucha are fine guards. With the others named on the team, the guard positions are well protected. Lee of Alabama and Steen of Syracuse are standouts, not forgetting Bengston, of Minnesota. I am not familiar with the performance of the others, but I have been told they are splendid players.

Ford of Michigan is a fine defensive center, while the records of Kalbaugh of Princeton and Shotwell of Pittsburgh speak for themselves.

With nearly three weeks of practice, during which time there will be no worries over eligibility or class work, the All-American squad can be made into a good eleven. Intricate plays probably cannot be introduced, but these boys can master fundamental plays and they know how to make them work.

FASHION NOTE: FOOTBALL WILL WEAR RAINCOAT

South Bend, Ind., July 25.—[Special.]—Footballs will wear raincoats during games played in inclement weather, if a device patented by Arthur J. [Dutch] Bergman, head coach and director of athletics at Catholic university, Washington, D. C., is approved by the rules committee and adopted by the other coaches.

Berger, who is now on vacation with his family at his home in Peru, Ind., came to South Bend to show his invention to Elmer Layden, Notre Dame director of athletics, and Layden liked it so well he told Berger to send him a few so he could use them in rainy day practice sessions.

The cover is made of rubber and weighs about two ounces. It cannot be moved, once it is in place, and dampness enhances its grip on the ball's surface.

SINGING HEART displayed the most speed from the start, began to draw away after three-eighths and won with speed in reserve. RUSHAWAY, forced to race wide and outrun to stretch, gave improved speed under severe pressure the final quarter and outgamed SUN TEDDY in closing strides. Latter, under strong riding the last three-eighths, came around ROLLIN HOME and NET PROFIT when closing with good speed and determination and only submitted to winner right at the end.

CORINTO, beginning slowly and under a long, steady hold throughout, began to improve his position when getting through on inside on stretch turn, continued to move up fast after reaching stretch and, after racing around FRENCH PRINCESS in final eighth, drew out rapidly. Latter had fine speed but was no match for the winner and weakened in late stages, but outstayed TABITHA. Latter, close up after a quarter, raced a trifle wide and held on with good courage.

EL PUMA, under strong restraint for half a mile, gradually disposed of EURYALUS and, holding on, withstood RIP VAN WINKLE'S bid. Latter, forced to lose much ground and slow to respond after reaching final three-sixteenths, finished boldly and was rapidly wearing down the winner. NOAH'S PRIDE, timidly ridden and inclined to swerve throughout, was going strong when he had to be straightened up as he attempted to leave the course in last eighth.

KIEVSON, much the best and having the most speed from the start, easily increased his advantage entering stretch, swerved out sharply in last sixteenth, but was not endangered. JOSEPH J. G., raced wide throughout, failed to keep up entering stretch, but came again, wearing down DANDY DANCER in closing strides. Latter, well rated the first three-quarters and under pressure thereafter, weakened after a mile.

The latter, allowed to remain well out of it for seven-eighths and brought to outside in stretch, moved up fast approaching final eighth, but weakened in late stages.

GLASS BLISTERS CENTRAL BANK PLAN OF ECCLES

Political Control Is Hit by Senator.

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—Another blistering indictment of Marriner S. Eccles, governor of the federal reserve board, and his proposals for a politically dominated central bank, was delivered in the senate today as Carter Glass [Dem., Va.] concluded his exposition of the pending senate bank bill.

M. S. ECCLES.

The fiery little Virginian said he had nothing but "an unutterable contempt for any man who would bring politics into the consideration of banking legislation." He denied that the banking bill as passed by the house of representatives was "an administration measure," because President Roosevelt hadn't even read it, and said it could properly be called nothing but an "Eccles bill."

Calls Eccles' Plan Revolutionary.

"It is simply shocking, simply appalling," Glass exclaimed with his customary vehemence, "to think that the newest member of the federal reserve board, who never had a day's association with the federal reserve banking system in his life, proceeded within less than 90 days after his nomination to propose revolutionary changes in all the fundamental provisions of the law."

The eloquent address of Senator Glass, who has been a student of banking since he wrote the original federal reserve act in 1913, was followed by another impassioned disquisition by Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, a disciple of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin. Nye offered the Coughlin bill, under which a central bank owned outright by the government would be dominated by the administration in power. Huey Long, the Louisiana "kingfish," was expected to support this measure, which would make a probable total of two votes.

Senate Makes Small Progress.

Otherwise little progress was made today, except that the senate adopted without objection title I., relating to the federal deposit insurance, and defeated an amendment by Senator Louis Murphy [Dem., Ia.] to title III., the miscellaneous amendments to the banking laws. Title I., which provides for 100 per cent insurance on all deposits up to $5,000 and for assessments of 1-12 of 1 per cent, had already been enacted in the form of a temporary resolution.

Senator Murphy sought to strike out a section requiring new state banks or old ones with deposits of $1,000,000 or more to become member banks before being eligible for insurance.

Fears Power Over Business.

"Under the original proposition," he said, "the central board here could destroy any business or ruin any section of this country. The board was given complete control of the reserves of member banks. It could determine whether the textile business, the steel or coal business, the wheat crop or the products of the flour mills were overproduced, and if in their view there was overproduction, this board could so fix the reserves of the member banks as to deny credit to those industries.

"No such stupendous authority was ever granted to any central board in any civilized country. And they were to do this in a stump speech authorizing stabilization."

Glass, speaking ironically of the "inflation" fears raised by Eccles, characterized him as the foremost inflationist in the country.

"It is suggested that the chief advocate of title II. is in a nervous state and has a large measure of anxiety lest we should have inflation in this country, and that he wants to prevent inflation and deflation," Glass said.

Brands Eccles Inflationist.

"I am amused at the pretense that the sponsor of title II. of the bill is anxious to prevent inflation, because of all the inflationists in the country, he has exceeded the group in his advocacy of inflation."

Senator Glass said the banking act of 1933 averted all danger of a return to the "frightful conditions of 1929 brought on the collapse, due, as we all know, to excessive speculation on the stock exchange."

One provision of the 1933 act, he said, was intended to put a stop to the use of 15 to 90 day loans on government securities for stock gambling purposes. He apparently had reference to Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the National City Bank of New York, as he continued this discussion.

"So," he said, "some of these gentlemen would confide to this federal reserve board exclusively all these matters which the board utterly failed to determine in 1929.

Charges Board Was Defied.

"Then the board permitted itself to be challenged and defied by one of the most notorious speculators in the New York stock market, and practically told to 'go to hell,' seeing that despite its order he proposed the very next day to rediscount at the New York Federal Reserve bank 25 million dollars under this 15 day paper provision and use it for stock speculation.

"The board had not even the spirit to resent this gross insult, and to kick that man out of the directorate of the New York Federal Reserve bank, and yet we are asked to empower this board with supreme and exclusive authority in such matters."

Steel Leaders Are More Sure of Better Days

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Steel output is measured by the weekly indices of the American Iron and Steel institute, the Iron Age, and the magazine "Steel," but the cold figures give little hint of the frame of mind of the men who make steel.

Early last spring production of the metal, as measured by the index numbers, was mounting fast, but leaders in the industry were pessimistic about the future. Now again production is rising and a growing feeling of optimism is seeping through the big plants.

* *

It may be that the Supreme court's action in killing the NRA gave new hope of a return to the traditional American system of doing business. It may be partly the prospect of better agricultural crops. It may be the feeling that the natural forces of recovery, spurred on by the accumulated demand of five and a half years of depression, are beginning to exert themselves. But whatever it is the iron and steel business is beginning to exhibit signs of hope and optimism for the first time since 1929.

Says the Daily Metal Trade, trade publication in Cleveland:

"A situation paralleled only a few times in history is developing in the iron and steel industry. In some respects pre-depression times are being duplicated. Steel making operations are rising rapidly and steel men are finding it difficult to restrain their enthusiasm. No July in recent years has witnessed such a recovery in steelmaking activity as that now under way."

* *

Business Men Pinning Hopes on Supreme Court.

American business men are pinning their hopes on the Supreme court in the belief that the many New Deal measures which have hamstrung industry and commerce will be found unconstitutional and done away with. But even the comforting knowledge that the constitution is still the law of the land is inadequate consolation for many hard pressed concerns. Litigation costs money and many small companies feel that they cannot afford the expense.

Most of the smaller packing concerns in Chicago fall into this group. While packing and other processing companies throughout the country have been flocking to the courts to get injunctions restraining the collectors of internal revenue from collecting processing taxes, the small packers here have done nothing.

* *

Representatives of these companies explain that they would be forced into bankruptcy by the expenditures necessitated in carrying on such litigation. With live stock receipts the lightest in years and consumers rebelling against too drastic boosts in meat prices some of them are pretty close to bankruptcy anyway.

As long as they are able to get extensions from the collector of internal revenue on their processing tax payments they will probably coast along in the hope that the courts in ruling on suits brought by other companies will ultimately relieve them from the necessity of paying their already overdue processing tax bills and save them from bankruptcy.

GUILDER GAINS AS FRENCH FRANC AND LIRA EASE

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—Dutch guilders today recovered part of yesterday's loss by rising 10 points to 67.40 cents due to an improved sentiment concerning a settlement of the Dutch cabinet crisis. The market was long closed of course when the cabinet resigned. The French franc and the Italian lira were slightly easier, but other currencies were steady to higher.

Improvement was also shown in the London foreign exchange market where Netherland banking interests supported the guilder, covering operations maintained the lira and the British stabilization fund kept the pound-franc rate steady.

Francs declined here to 6.60¾ cents, off ⅝ point, which raised the value of the dollar against francs to $1.0039 from $1.0029 yesterday. Based upon the old parity of the franc the dollar was worth 59.29 cents today, against 59.24 cents yesterday. The weekly statement of the Bank of France showed a loss of 175,000,000 francs in gold reserves.

Swiss francs improved slightly, rising 1 point to 32.64 cents, and belgas were up a like amount at 16.98 cents. Lire were off 1 point at 8.18½ cents. Pound sterling rose ⅞ cent to close at $4.96½, pulling Scandinavian currencies along 5 to 6 points.

Bar silver was unchanged in New York and London today. It was announced that the steamship Washington arrived here from Southampton with 2,837 bars of silver on board for the Chase National bank, 1,162 for the Guaranty Trust company, and 1,243 for the National City bank.

Bar gold advanced in London to 140 shillings 9 pence a fine ounce, a net gain of 3 pence and equivalent to $34.88.

J. R. THOMPSON PAYS DIVIDEND OUT OF SURPLUS

Directors of John R. Thompson company yesterday declared the regular dividend of 12½ cents a quarter, payable Aug. 15. The dividend will be paid out of earned surplus, as the company sustained a loss of $60,536 for the first half of 1935. Net loss for the first half of 1934 was $187,517.

Gross sales for the first half of this year were $5,597,083, compared with gross sales of $5,435,970 for the first six months of 1934. Depreciation this year was $292,482 and in the first half of 1934, $291,673. Cash position, according to John R. Thompson Jr., improved sharply over last year.

SEC Quizzes 'Deal Finder' on Stutz Stock

Joseph Mendelson, who refers to himself as "a security issue seeker" and "deal finder," took the stand yesterday in the securities and exchange commission's investigation of alleged stock swindles in Stutz Motor and other stocks and testified with a blandness that had even his questioners grinning at times.

Charged with being a master mind in deals which cost "investors" more than a million dollars in 1934 and 1935, Mendelson said he has been in his business since 1920 and has been in a lot of deals, many more than he remembers.

Leon Sutterman, his "co-master mind," according to the SEC, will take the stand today after final questions are put to Mendelson in the local SEC office at 231 South La Salle street.

Questioned About Deals.

John L. Flynn, SEC attorney, asked questions about numerous deals. But Mendelson professed unfamiliarity with many alleged market rigging operations. He admitted an interest in J. J. Burke & Co., wholesaler in one of the Stutz stock "pushes," but denied connection with any of the distributing houses, principal of which were McCormick & Co. and Kopald, Quinn & Co.

Mendelson agreed with a shrug that all of his recent deals had seen stock sold through the same houses, however. The SEC expects to show that the Sutterman-Mendelson combination conducted those firms. Mendelson also said he has had numerous deals with Bowen Tufts, who was a suicide recently when his firm, C. D. Parker, was $16,000,000 short.

Tells How Profits Were Split.

Flynn asserted, just before Mendelson took the stand, that Mendelson and Sutterman operated the brokerage firm of J. J. Burke & Co., which had acted as distributor in the "push" of Jan. 2 to April 10, 1935. Testimony by Carl Olson, accountant for the commission, said Mendelson and Sutterman split 80 per cent of the profits of the Burke firm and Burke got the other 20 per cent. He said Edward M. Burke, head of the company which was wholesaler in the alleged swindle in Stutz stock in January, February and March, 1934, advanced the rent for J. J. Burke & Co.

From March, 1934, to June, 1935, Olson said Mendelson withdrew $24,000, plus $1,800 expenses, that Sutterman took $31,266, plus $13,000 expenses, and that Burke obtained $17,355, plus $1,500 expenses. During the same period, he added, 275 checks to "cash" were drawn for an aggregate of $134,220 and that 70 per cent of them were indorsed by T. J. Burke, brother of E. M. and J. J. Burke, and receiving a salary of $20 a week. The inference was that T. J. Burke was a check signing "dummy" for Sutterman and Mendelson.

Testifies to Manipulation.

James Connolly of the SEC offered evidence on the January-April "push." He said 57 per cent of Stutz buying on the New York curb during the period was done by J. J. Burke & Co. The price was pushed up from 2 to 3⅞ and maintained near 3½ until April 10, he testified.

Regarding the sudden halt in buying by J. J. Burke & Co., with the subsequent falling of prices to 1¼, Mendelson opined that it was just coincidence that Burke & Co. had enough stock by that time.

The third attempt to manipulate Stutz, according to the SEC investigators, began May 9, but was cut short by the commission when it stepped in on June 14. In this instance, testimony showed, the market was supported by L. L. Harr & Co., another of the companies which the SEC is contending was under Sutterman-Mendelson domination.

U. S. Treasury Will Auction 100 Million 2⅞% Bonds

Washington, D. C., July 25.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau announced today he would sell an additional $100,000,000 of 20-25 year 2⅞ per cent bonds to the highest bidder next Monday. The treasury also announced an offering of $50,000,000 of 237 day treasury bills.

New York Banker to Quit Post as Director of NRA

4,200 GHOST HORSES VALUED AT $465,000 IN TRANSIT ASSETS

Philadelphia, Pa., July 25.—[Special.]—S. Davis Wilson, the city controller, told the council today his audit showed that underlying companies in the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company are still carrying on the books as assets horses used in the old horsecar days.

One of the claims made by the underlying companies in the transit reorganization plan filed in the Federal District court, is for $465,000 as the value of horses, Wilson said.

"I believe these horses, 4,200 of them, died and were probably sent to the glue factory in 1874," he continued, "but they still appear on the books of the company as equipment. The car riders for years have been paying for these ghost horses.

PICKS TRUSTEES FOR BIG HARLEY CLARKE UTILITY

Gilruth, McDonald in Temporary Charge.

Federal Judge William H. Holly yesterday appointed Attorney Irwin T. Gilruth and former Judge Charles A. McDonald as temporary trustees for the Public Utility Securities corporation, key holding concern of the Harley L. Clarke utility system, which is undergoing reorganization under section 77-B of the bankruptcy act.

Control of the holding company, commonly known as Pusco, was recently transferred from the Reconstruction Finance corporation to the Atlas corporation, big eastern investment trust. The RFC came into possession of the common stock and certain notes of the utility firm when it took over collateral from the old Central Republic Bank and Trust company [the Dawes bank] as security for the $90,000,000 loan to that institution.

Withdraws Management.

The RFC installed its own management in the firm last March. It disposed of its holdings two weeks ago to the Atlas corporation and withdrew from the management. It was learned yesterday that the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, which also held a block of notes of Pusco, has disposed of its holdings to Atlas. The amount of Continental holdings and the sale price were not disclosed.

Judge Holly announced the appointment of the temporary trustees at the conclusion of a conference in his chambers which was attended by attorneys for the corporation, creditors, bondholders, and stockholders. Bonds for the trustees were placed at $10,000 each. Hearing on the appointment of permanent trustees was set for Aug. 21.

Former Partner of Judge.

Pusco is a superholding company of the type which the pending utility bill is aimed at. It holds control of the Utilities Power and Light company, the chief Clarke unit, which in turn holds direct control of fifty subsidiaries, including the Laclede Gas Light Company of St. Louis.

ILLINOIS BELL TELEPHONE HAS LARGER INCOME

The Illinois Bell Telephone company yesterday reported net income of $4,333,764 for the first six months of 1935 after all charges. This is equivalent to $2.88 a share and compares with $2,476,742, or $1.65 a share, in the corresponding period of last year. During the second quarter of this year the company had net income of $2,494,940, compared with $22,309 in the June quarter of last year.

The sharp increase over a year ago was due to adjustments made in 1934 earnings to provide for refunds to certain coin box subscribers according to a court order. Such refunds will total approximately $19,000,000. Total revenue for the first half year amounted to $37,430,592, against $22,148,956 in 1934, and after providing for dividends there was a deficit of $166,236, against a deficit of $523,258 a year ago.

Urges Publix Fees Be Cut Half Million

New York, July 25.—(AP)—A half million dollar reduction was requested today by Paramount-Publix corporation in some $3,500,000 counsel fees claimed by attorneys in the corporation's recent bankruptcy and reorganization proceedings. Other substantial reductions in claims against the corporation by bond and stockholders' committees, trustees, and in administrative work also were urged in the hearing which started before Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe.

Judge Coxe threw out bids by the Sabath Congressional committee to participate in the action through Meyer Kraushaar, committee counsel. The committee is investigating real estate and other reorganizations under the amended federal bankruptcy law.

"A Private Litigation."

"I have definitly come to the conclusion," Judge Coxe told Kraushaar, "that this is a private litigation, and I see no justification for another arm of the government, legislative or otherwise, entering into this proceeding."

Former Federal Judge Thomas D. Thacher, counsel for the reorganized company, recommended a flat $500,000 cut in legal fees, and in referring to large amounts requested by counsel for trustees and for various committees, brought out the point that interested parties had in most cases been compensated through dealings in corporation stock.

"I believe that the court is thoroughly waranted in considering such profits as allowances for service," Thacher said.

He asserted Frank A. Vanderlip, chairman of a bondholders' committee, "made substantial profits by trading in Paramount securities and subsequently put in a request for $50,000 for his services on the committee."

Similarly, he said a stockholders' committee composed of Barney Balaban, Maurice Newton, and Gerald Brooks had requested $60,000 allowance, although the firm of Brooks & Newton profited substantially through dealing in debentures.

Thacher also recommended disallowance of a claim of $100,000 by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the house of issue of Paramount bonds, on grounds reorganization assistance was a recognized service customarily rendered without compensation.

"The very generous estimate of administrative expenses of $2,500,000 set out in reorganization plan has been enhanced by these petitions to the sum of $4,042,691.92," he said, and went on to list the extreme number of applications for compensation.

STOCKHOLDERS VOTE GOODRICH REFUNDING PLAN

New York, July 25.—(AP)—Preferred and common stockholders of the B. F. Goodrich company of Akron, O., voted approval today of the creation of a mortgage not to exceed $45,000,000.

Otis & Co., Cleveland investment banking firm, which has opposed the mortgage plan, challenged the result and succeeded in effecting an adjournment of the meeting until tomorrow afternoon to enable election inspectors to examine ballots and give the Otis counsel an opportunity to check proxies with the Goodrich list of stockholders.

With approval by stockholders, the Goodrich company proposed issuance under the mortgage of $28,000,000 in 4½ per cent bonds with the proceeds to be used in refunding higher interest rate obligations of its own and of its subsidiary, Hood Rubber company, and for other corporate purposes.

STOCKS DECLINE 1 TO 2 POINTS ON PROFIT TAKING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 25.—The share market ran into a rather formidable selling wave in the last hour today and prices gave way 1 to 2 points throughout the list. It was the sharpest reaction in nearly two weeks, but came after 70 issues had established new highs for the year.

The turnabout appeared to be pretty much of a technical affair, brought on by a growing tendency to caution following the market's protracted uphill labors during the last month or so. Brokers have been warning their clients for some time that some such corrective movement was overdue in spite of the fact that trade news has been growing slightly more bullish from day to day. There was the usual quota of good cheer in today's grist, including a weekly increase of 24.2 per cent in bank clearings, some more favorable earnings statements and further optimistic reports from the heavy industrials.

Motors Statement Near Close.

Just before the close, the General Motors statement showing $1.17 a share earned by that premier corporation in the second quarter became public, but it was too late to have much effect on dealings either in the motors group or generally. Meanwhile the strike clouds receded and even the foreign position appeared to be at least no worse than it was. The length of the advance, however, without an important decline had made even some of the ordinary bulls nervous, and when investment buying began to dry up many stocks developed thin markets.

The resultant price declines were out of proportion to the market's estimate of prospects or to amount of stock offered for sale. Schenley, which recently has advanced a few points, slid down abruptly, and the movement was accompanied by conflicting news ticker gossip of new financing. Lambert turned weak, emulating the recent performance of Lehn & Fink. The shares tumbled two points into new low ground and a yield of approximately 14 per cent based on the current $3 yearly dividend. No meeting is scheduled until the early part of September. Atlas Powder, Corn Products, International Cement were other soft spots, with declines of one to three points.

Metals Join Decline.

Metal stocks thought less of the outlook for inflation and the rails gave away from fractions to two points or so as the June earnings statements showed only a negligible rise in net income in spite of the higher freight schedule and the increased activity in some of the heavy industries. Union Pacific, Atchison, and Delaware and Hudson were among the sufferers.

Among the farm stocks, International Harvester resisted the backwash on investment buying, due, it was said, to the corporation's diversified activities.

Another bright spot was McKeesport Tin, which ran up a point to the highest level since 1928. Buying of this stock was in response to the company's earnings for the first half year, which are 25 per cent higher than those of the corresponding period of 1934.

Still another engaging performer was United States Gypsum, which achieved a new high on a jump of a point as an aftermath to a good earnings report.

With the exception of radio the amusement shares were weak.

WORK AND WAGES LAG FROM USUAL UPTURN IN JUNE

A contra-seasonal decline of 0.7 per cent in employment and a less than seasonal gain of not quite 0.1 per cent in pay rolls in Illinois during June as compared with May were reported yesterday by the Illinois department of labor, based upon reports from 4,329 enterprises in the state.

Both employment and pay rolls, however, were above the level of a year ago. The index of employment for all reporting industries rose from 72.7 in June, 1934, to 73.5 in June, this year, based upon the 1925-'27 average as 100, and the index of pay rolls advanced from 54.6 to 57.1.

For the twelve year period from 1923 to 1934 the records of the department show the average change in employment from May to June is a gain of 0.2 per cent and that pay rolls during the same period usually rise 0.8 per cent. The changes this year, consequently, fall short of the seasonal trend.

Thirty coal mines reported sharp increases in the number employed and the wages paid, the former rising 24.9 per cent over May and the latter 64.7 per cent. The building and contracting group reported increases of 19.6 and 21 per cent, respectively, in employment and wages.

BANK CLEARINGS FOR WEEK SHOW GAIN OF 24.2 PCT.

New York, July 25.—(AP)—Bank clearings for the twenty-two leading cities in the United States for the week ended July 24, as reported by Dun & Bradstreet, totaled $5,313,794,000, against $4,278,154,000 for the same week of last year, an increase of 24.2 per cent.

FURNITURE MART REORGANIZATION PLAN APPROVED

The plan to reorganize the capital structure of the American Furniture mart under provisions of section 77B of the amended bankruptcy act was given final approval yesterday by Judge William H. Holly in the United States District court. He set Aug. 5 as the date for fixing fees.

The $7,400,000 of 6 per cent first mortgage bonds, under the plan, will be exchanged par for par for new bonds which will pay a fixed rate of interest of 3 per cent. An additional contingent rate of 2 per cent is payable if earnings justify. The contingent portion will be increased to 3 per cent when the total issue is reduced to $5,500,000. When the issue is cut down to $3,750,000 the bonds will yield a fixed rate of 6 per cent.

Preferred stock, under the plan, is exchangeable for new preferred and common, and old common stock is exchangeable for new common. Scrip will be issued for past due interest on the bonds. The revised plan sets up a sinking fund of 80 per cent of earnings to retire bonds until the total issue is reduced to $3,750,000. After that the sinking fund will be reduced to 60 per cent of earnings.

PACKING HOUSE OUTPUT IN JUNE AT 12 YEAR LOW

Packing houses in the United States continue to show the severe effects of the cattle shortage brought about by government killing and the 1934 drouth. The Chicago Federal Reserve bank reported yesterday that packing house output in June fell contraseasonally to the lowest level for any month since the bank began compiling records in January, 1923.

At the same time the bank reported employment and pay rolls of 5,502 manufacturing and nonmanufacturing concerns in the Seventh district during June were 2 per cent and 4½ per cent, respectively, below the preceding month, but 4 pr cent and 8 per cent above a year ago.

Production for the month at inspected slaughtering establishments throughout the country dropped 11 per cent under the total for May, fell 37 per cent below a year ago and was 35 per cent smaller than the 1925-'34 average for June.

Tonnage sales dropped more than usual from May and were 27 per cent below last year and the ten year average for the month. The general price level of packing house commodities showed little change in June from the preceding month.

Creamery butter production in the Seventh Federal Reserve district rose 18 per cent in June over the preceding month to a level 10½ per cent above a year ago and 2½ per cent more than the 1925-'34 average for the month.

RISING BUSINESS FAILS TO BOOST LOANS BY BANKS

Although activity is quickening in many lines of business and many pointers indicate a substantial autumn revival there is a continued absence of aggressive demand for bank credit, according to statements of condition of the Chicago and New York banks released last night by the federal reserve system.

The only important outlet for the excess of idle funds which the banks hold was the government bond market. The glut of money in New York was again evidenced by a rise in bank reserves, which already were far in excess of legal requirements. At the same time commercial loans of the type which reflect the business demand for credit showed a further shrinkage.

Reserves Rise, Loans Drop.

The increase in government bond holdings of the New York banks in relation to their total outstanding loans and investments is brought out by comparisons with a year ago. The New York banks have total credit outstanding of 7,785 millions, of which direct government obligations represent 3,330 millions. A year ago total credit was 7,227 millions, of which government bonds accounted for 2,918. The credit expansion in the last twelve months has amounted to 558 millions. All but 146 millions of this went into government bonds.

Half of Funds In U. S. Bonds.

The same situation applies to the Chicago banks. Approximately half of the money invested by Chicago banks is tied up in government securities. Total loans and investments are 1,690 millions of which direct government obligations represent 879 millions. Purchases last week amounted to 14 millions. Commercial loans during the same period fell 7 millions. All of the increase in bank credit in Chicago in the last year is due to increased investment in governments.

The combined statement of twelve central reserve banks showed an increase in reserves of all member banks of 21 millions. Gold imports for the week amounted to 8 millions. Both the total of reserve bank credit and currency circulation were below the level of the preceding week.

CHICAGO PARK BOARD DRAFTS REFUNDING PLAN

Will Seek Test by State Supreme Court.

The Chicago park district yesterday passed tentative refunding and funding ordinances covering issuance of $108,675,827 of new bonds. Robert J. Dunham, president of the district, explained that the two ordinances will be taken before the Illinois Supreme court, probably in about six months, to test their constitutionality.

The legality of both ordinances was based on enabling legislation passed at the last session of the legislature authorizing the park district to assume and refund all debts of the twenty-two superseded park districts.

One ordinance provides for issuance of $103,709,761 of bonds to be used in refunding the outstanding bonds of the superseded districts and for levying taxes sufficient to service the issue.

The bonds which the board is considering issuing will be dated Sept. 1, 1935, and will mature Sept. 1, 1955. The interest rate will be the same as the rate on the bonds for which they are exchanged. Each bond will be callable at par on any interest date after the maturity date of the bond for which it was exchanged, but no bond will be callable prior to one year after issuance.

The other ordinance makes provision for issuance of $4,966,066 of 4 per cent 20 year bonds, which will be callable at par on any interest date after Sept. 1, 1940. The proceeds will be used to retire a floating debt of $2,159,181 and to replenish the bond funds of the former west park and northwest park districts totaling $2,796,915.

Funds Used for Other Purposes.

Former administrators of these two districts, Dunham said, had applied funds of that amount that were allocated to the bond and interest account for corporate purposes.

Dunham, mentioning the fact that there had been considerable speculation in park bonds, stressed the point that these two ordinances are tentative in character. He pointed out, first, the ordinance will have to be approved by the Illinois Supreme court and, second, the park board is watching the fate of the plans of the sanitary district and Cook county. If the experiences of these two bodies shows greater advantage will accrue to the park district by another plan, the park board probably will revise the plan released yesterday.

Dunham said that the successful completion of the refunding would enable the board to proceed with construction of the north end of outer drive bridge.

Cooper-Bessemer Corporation.

Investors' Guide: What is your opinion of Cooper-Bessemer preferred as an investment?—E. R. A.

Answer: Cooper-Bessemer corporation manufactures marine, industrial, and utility Diesel engines at its Mount Vernon, O., and Grove City, Pa., plants. It also manufactures gas engines and compressor units. Output is used principally in the oil industry and for transmission of natural gas through pipe lines.

It is four years since the company operated at a profit, although from the period of 1925 to 1930 the company covered preferred dividends by large margins. Loss in 1934 was $148,000, against losses of $176,000 for 1933, $609,000 for 1932, and $648,000 for 1931. Unfilled orders on the company's books at the close of 1934 were $448,000, about the same as the year before.

There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists of 87,964 shares of $3 dividend cumulative no par preferred and 198,440 shares of no par common. Nothing has been paid on the preferred since July 1, 1931. Both the preferred and common are quite speculative.

Jefferson and Clearfield Coal.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information about Jefferson and Clearfield Coal 5s, due 1950.—W. E. E.

Answer: This half million dollar issue of first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, due 1950, was assumed by Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal company, a subsidiary of Mahoning Investment company. Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal controls properties in Armstrong, Jefferson, Clearfield, and Indiana counties, Pa., with an estimated 539,000,000 tons of recoverable bituminous coal.

After having failed to earn anything before fixed charges for three years, the company covered its fixed charges 1.87 times in 1934, reporting net income of $627,000. This compared with losses of $274,000 for 1933, $397,000 for 1932, and $555,000 for 1931. Charges were earned 3.43 times in 1931.

On Dec. 31, 1934, current assets were $5,256,000 and current liabilities were $790,000. Funded debt was $2,765,000, against $3,031,000 the year before.

Hahn Department Stores.

Investors' Guide: I see Hahn Department Stores stock is not quoted for some time. Why?—S. F. M.

Answer: The reason you do not see any quotations on stock of Hahn Department Stores, Inc., stock is that the company has changed its name. It is now Allied Stores corporation and its stock is listed on the New York Stock exchange under that name.

Most of Early Advance Is Canceled Later.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Confirmation by government and private agencies that the prospect for a bumper wheat crop in the northwestern states has been obliterated, furnished the background for another spasm of strength in prices on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday.

Like the other abortive rallies that have been witnessed during the last week yesterday's upturn did not hold. After rising nearly two cents September wheat, the principal future, fell back again on a wave of speculative profit taking and closed only an eighth of a cent higher at 86¼ cents a bushel.

Any remaining skepticism over the seriousness of the crop situation in the Dakotas, Minnesota, and Montana was dissipated yesterday as reports of damage continued to pour in from the region. In some sections the ravages of black rust have ruined wheat fields that a week ago had good prospects.

Federal Report Shows Damage.

In Washington representatives of the department of agriculture estimated the damage to nonrust resistent wheat in eastern South Dakota and southern Minnesota ranged from 50 to 70 per cent of the crop. The harvest is now underway in South Dakota and another week away in North Dakota. In the latter state weather conditions in the next week will have an important bearing on the outcome of the crop.

In spite of the reports of sensational damage from rust in the states mentioned and from drouth in Montana, the bullish enthusiasm of speculators was tempered. Extensive as the damage may prove to be it is believed the spring wheat crop will still be large enough to assure total production for the country sufficient to meet all domestic requirements.

Professionals Dominate Trading.

Ordinarily a rust scare of such magnitude as is now being experienced might cause a fair sized bull market, but trading activity has been largely professional. For an hour after the opening of trading yesterday business was unusually heavy, but the pace slackened abruptly and the market was comparatively quiet in the last half of the session.

	Yesterday.	Wednesday.	Wk. ago.
Wheat	$0.86¼	$0.86⅛	$0.84¼
Corn	.75⅝	.76⅝	.75¼
Oats	.31⅝	.31½	.31⅛
Rye	.44⅝	.45¼	.45½

Only 2 cents a bushel had been added to market value of wheat during the last week despite all the excitement about the rust situation. The market has followed a highly irregular trend, mounting sharply only to fall back again. September wheat is now selling 7¾ cents a bushel above the low price touched a few weeks ago, when the prospects for the spring wheat crop were at their best.

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—Trading in bonds today offered little of special importance. Domestic corporation bonds maintained a firm undertone, but the recent general advance appeared to be checked, at least temporarily, as prices fluctuated within a narrow range.

Despite the increased trading in the federal issues, most of them declined 1-32 to 3-32 point. Prices throughout the list were a shade easier at the close.

Railroad liens, as a group, were narrow and mixed, with the only noteworthy movement being a sharp break in the issues of Chicago-Terre Haute railroad, which sustained losses ranging from 3½ to 5¼ points.

Several public utility bonds continued to work higher in light trading. Industrial issues were without feature.

Selling pressure against Italian dollar obligations was lifted today and moderate rallies of one to over two points developed in that list. An exception was Italian public credit 7s A of 1937, which dropped 3 points on the only sale made this week.

SANITARY DISTRICT AUTHORIZES ISSUE OF $139,945,890 BONDS

The sanitary district of Chicago yesterday formally authorized the issuance of $139,945,890 of 20 year refunding bonds as authorized by the state legislature. The exchange of these new bonds for outstanding bonds is expected to be started next week.

The bonds come in two series. Series A bonds, totaling $20,718,890, bearing 4 per cent interest, will be exchanged par for par for outstanding defaulted bonds or bonds in good standing that mature on or before Dec. 31, 1935. They are callable only after Jan. 1, 1945, and will mature on Jan. 1, 1955.

The $119,227,000 of series B bonds will be offered in exchange for those outstanding bonds which bear a maturity date later than Dec. 31, 1935. Each bond will bear the same rate of interest as the bond for which it is to be exchanged, varying from 4 to 5 per cent. Each bond will be callable at any time after one year following the maturity date of the bond for which it was exchanged. The issue will mature on Jan. 1, 1955.

COURT MOVES TO SPEED ACTION ON ROSENBAUMS

July 31 Deadline for Filing Plans.

Federal Judge William H. Holly yesterday set noon of July 31 as the deadline for filing plans for the reorganization of the Rosenbaum Grain corporation under section 77-B of the amended bankruptcy act. The deadline was set by the court after a hearing lasting more than two hours yesterday in which the various litigants in the case argued over the merits of a plan submitted on behalf of the stockholders.

Judge Holly, displaying some impatience at the delay in the reorganization proceedings, said that a hearing on all proposals would be held Aug. 5, a week after the deadline for filing. All objections must be presented to court before that date, he said. Unless a satisfactory plan is presented by that time he warned that he would entertain motions for insolvency.

Cannot Operate Elevators.

Luther D. Swanstrom, counsel for the trustees, told the court that it was no longer possible for the trustees to operate the Rosenbaum elevator properties which are owned by a subsidiary, Chicago Elevator Properties, Inc.

The trustees, he declared, are having difficulty in reinsuring the properties. Capital is insufficient for the operation and there is little prospect of issuing additional bonds, he said. He told Judge Holly it was essential that the properties be taken out of the hands of the trustees.

Submits New Plan.

The reorganization plan submitted by Attorney C. S. Macauley on behalf of the stockholders' committee proposed that funds be appropriated from the replacement fund to meet interest and sinking fund requirements on the bonds of the Chicago Elevator Properties, Inc. This proposal brought immediate opposition from representatives of the creditors and trustees. The stockholders plan also proposed that no member of the Rosenbaum family should have any voice in the management of the reorganized company.

AUTUMN ORDERS BOOM CHICAGO GARMENT TRADE

F. H. SCOTT.

Business in the Chicago wholesale market is gaining momentum through greatly increased demand for fall lines of ready to wear goods, according to a survey made by the Chicago wholesale market council, the results of which were announced yesterday. The council reported that orders from retail merchants for fall lines of women's dresses, suits, coats, and sports wear are showing gains of from 25 to 60 per cent over last year, while in some cases the business now being booked is the best since 1929.

A round-up was made by the council of several leading wholesale firms, all which reported quickening demand for such lines.

Scott Tells of Gains.

Frederick H. Scott of Carson Pirie Scott & Co. said that for the last sixty days business for delivery Aug. 1 and later has materially increased over the corresponding period last year.

"Merchants are buying goods more liberally," Mr. Scott said. "The last three weeks in particular have evidenced not only a need for merchandise to be placed on the shelf but a desire on the part of the merchants to have goods the customer wants."

Frank J. Mitchell of Mitchell Brothers reported that the firm's business is running 40 per cent ahead of last year.

"Salesmen," he added, "are bringing back not only more orders but bigger orders. They find merchants throughout the agricultural states the most encouraged in many years as a result of crop prospects."

Others Report Increases.

Reports from other concerns furnished to the council were:

Arthur Weiss, Arthur Weiss & Co.: "For the first time in history we have received reorders of fall merchandise in July. A number of merchants who have already taken delivery on purchases made through salesmen on the road have seen the need for increasing their stock."

"Our orders are 25 per cent ahead of last year and they are for better quality merchandise at higher prices. People seem to have more money, and we are having less trouble placing quality garments."

"Business Best Since 1929."

Sam Eisenberg, Eisenberg & Sons, Inc.: "Business is the best since 1929. This appears to be a year of luxury styles. Where we used to sell $22.50 garments we are now finding a market for higher quality lines selling at $69.50."

Barney Gisnet, B. G. Garment company: "Our business for July is 60 per cent ahead of last year. This is due chiefly to our success in placing Chicago designed garments in Boston, New York, Philadelphia and other eastern stores in addition to our middle western trade."

The style designers of the Chicago wholesale market district will hold three style previews for merchants July 30, Aug. 1 and Aug. 5 at the Stevens hotel. Promoters assert that it will be the most elaborate style promotion that has been held in Chicago.

TWO IN 20 BANKS PAY ON DEPOSITS IN LAST QUARTER

Five Have Paid Nothing Since Receiverships.

Two of the twenty closed banks for which State Auditor Edward J. Barrett issued statements yesterday as of June 30 made further returns to depositors during the preceding three months. Another has made a payment this quarter—the Citizens State of Glencoe. The Cheltenham Trust and Savings and the Commercial bank of Chicago Heights expect to make further distributions before Sept. 30. The banks to repay depositor money last quarter were Commerce Trust and Savings and Cragin State.

Five of this group of twenty have yet to return anything to depositors. One of these, the Cosmopolitan State, is attempting to complete a reorganization which will free 40 per cent at once. No hope for repayments in the near future is held out by the other four banks.

Individual Banks Analyzed.

Individual reports below are based on latest and most authentic information available, as well as figures in the June 30 statements. They indicate the condition of the receiverships and prospects for future payments. Unless otherwise stated, figures on disbursements apply to the entire receivership period.

CHATFIELD TRUST AND SAVINGS—Receipts, $137,000; $6,000 last quarter. Returned 30 per cent, or $76,000, to depositors. Fairly substantial further payment indicated eventually, but none until $11,000 balance is repaid RFC. Has $17,000 cash balance reserved. Paid $14,000 prior claims, $19,000 clerical, $5,500 attorneys, and $3,000 other items.

CHATHAM STATE—Receipts, $319,500; $17,000 last quarter. Paid $120,000 prior claims, $35,000 to protect assets, $47,000 clerical, $41,500 legal, $7,800 receivers. Has $66,400 reserved cash, but owes $73,000 to county treasurer. Little of $1,000,000 owed depositors ever expected to be returned; trying to obtain loan from RFC for initial payment of 5 or 10 per cent.

CHELTENHAM TRUST AND SAVINGS—Receipts, $245,000; $19,500 last quarter. Returned $133,000, or 50 per cent, to depositors. Had cash of $26,000 on June 30, and expects to pay $40,000, or 15 per cent more, on Aug. 1. Eventually there should be substantially more. Costs: $16,000 prior claims, $20,000 to protect assets, $21,500 clerical, $17,400 legal, $8,100 receivers.

Chicago Bank of Commerce.

CHICAGO BANK OF COMMERCE—Receipts, $2,785,500; $375,000 last quarter. Cash balance raised $111,500 after expenses to $351,000 total. The bank still has $900,000 trust liability, $300,000 claims, and $300,000 back taxes to be straightened out before more is returned than the $433,600, or 10 per cent, already paid depositors. This return is expected to be only a small one, and not for some time. Paid $230,000 more last quarter to protect assets [mainly paying back taxes on its real estate] for $790,000 total, against $458,000 receipts from this source. Other disbursements include $735,600 prior claims, $223,400 clerical, $224,000 [$22,500 last quarter] to law firm of Schuyler, Weinfeld & Hennessy, and $22,000 receivers.

CHICAGO LAWN STATE—Receipts, $537,000; $19,000 last quarter. Paid $232,000 prior claims, $135,000 to protect assets [$13,500 last quarter], $74,000 clerical, $41,000 legal, $14,500 receivers. Has $38,000 cash but owes $206,000 to county. Little or nothing expected on $1,700,000 owed depositors; nothing paid to date and RFC has refused a loan application.

CICERO TRUST AND SAVINGS—Receipts, $346,000; $18,000 last quarter. Paid $83,000 prior claims, $46,600 to protect assets, $36,000 clerical, $34,000 legal, $10,000 receivers. Has $32,000 cash but mostly reserved against remodeling building for excellent leases which are expected to enhance its value for sale. Paid 15 per cent, or $104,000, to depositors and should yield more than this much additional, though none of this for several months.

Citizens State of Chicago.

CITIZENS STATE OF CHICAGO—Receipts, $1,826,000; $72,500 last quarter. EGGS AND CHEESE HIGHER; BUTTER, POTATOES STEADY

The movement of eggs into cold storage has practically ceased and the net increase in supplies, as reported yesterday at the four leading markets, was only 400 cases. While this compared with a reduction of 3,000 cases during the corresponding period last year, it induced new buying and also short covering on the Chicago Mercantile exchange, and the October delivery closed ¼ cent higher at 25¼ cents per dozen.

A decrease of 7.15 per cent in butter production as compared with the preceding week was shown by the American association report, and showed 3.03 per cent less than last year.

November butter, however, was little affected, and closed unchanged at 24⅞ cents per pound. Cheese gained ¼ cent per pound. Idaho potatoes for October delivery were unchanged. Sales of butter aggregated 27 cars; eggs, 48 cars; cheese, 2 cars, and potatoes, 1 car. Prices follow:

NEARBY LARD DELIVERIES AT SEASON'S HIGH LEVELS

Short covering and removal of hedges against cash sales lifted the nearby deliveries of lard to new high levels for the season yesterday with the close at the top, net gains amounting to 2½@12½ cents, with July leading the upturn. Continued light receipts of hogs and decreasing stocks were again the bullish influences. Deferred futures were unchanged. Bellies were also unchanged at the close. Deliveries of 50,000 pounds of lard and 30,000 pounds of bellies were made on July contracts. Cash lard closed at $14.47; loose, $14.40; leaf, $14.62, and bellies at $18.05 per 100 pounds. DEMAND FOR HOGS INCREASES WHEN PRICES DECLINE

Demand for hogs increased yesterday when prices fell 10 to 15 cents and a small part of the earlier losses were recovered on the final rounds. Prices have gone down 20 to 25 cents in two days and this break is expected to curtail the movement for the remainder of the week.

An advance estimate of only 6,000 hogs in sight for today's market helped to reverse the trend of prices after midsession and brought in larger buying orders from smaller local interests. Top sales declined to $13.00, processing tax included, showing a decline of 25 cents since Tuesday, the highest spot in the trade since September, 1928. The day's average declined 10 cents to $12.15, including the tax.

Good to choice grades of corn fed steers and hefers were rather scarce again and brought strong to 25 cents higher prices. Light steers and the yearling stock got the preference at the biggest gain in prices. Very few of the weighty steers were offerd, but these met a slow demand as did the grassy steers and the beef cows and plainer classes of hefers.

No strictly prime steers were in the run yesterday. The top of $11.10 is a new 1935 low for a Thursday. Most steers were of the class selling from $8.25 to $10.50, although a fair showing of common to medium grades sold at $6.00 to $8.00.

Native lambs sold quickly at steady prices, all interests paying up to $8.50 for selected ewe and wether lambs, while range lambs showed gains of 10 to 15 cents.

COTTON DECLINES SHARPLY AS JULY HOLDERS SELL

Liquidation by holders of July contracts in New York and New Orleans caused a severe decline in prices yesterday, New Orleans showing a loss of $2.10 and New York $1.60 per bale. Part of the selling was attributed to brokers who frequently act for the government. The distant futures were little affected with Chicago closing unchanged to 5 points lower, and other markets were off 2 to 4 points. Trading in the July future ceased at noon.

Spot cotton closed 5 to 25 points lower, with New Orleans 11.90 cents, Houston 11.75 cents, Galveston 11.80 cents, and New York 12 cents per pound. Prices in cents per pound follow:
